U.S. Begins New Atomic Arms Tests

Fire First Shot In 34 Months At Proving Grounds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States resumed nuclear weapons tests after a 34½ month lapse Friday with a low-power, fallout-free underground shot at the Nevada proving ground.

TEST WEAPONS

Experts said Friday's test was designed to perfect small battlefield weapons against an enemy's troops rather than its cities. Among such weapons is the Army's bazooka-like Davy Crockett, which had never been proof-tested.

It was the first U.S. atomic explosion since Oct. 30, 1958. This country has spent the years since then in a vain attempt to obtain an enforceable international ban against all nuclear weapons tests.

The Nevada explosion, set off in a shot chamber deep in a mesa of volcanic rock, came 14 days after the Russians abruptly resumed fallout - producing atmospheric tests of vastly larger weapons.

It also came just 10 days after President Kennedy announced the Soviet action would force this country to resume development of nuclear arms.

Rep. Chet Holifield, D - Calif., chairman of the House - Senate Atomic Energy Committee, said preliminary instrument readings indicated Friday's Nevada test was "entirely successful."

In his announcement of Friday's test, Kennedy again called on the Russians to negotiate a new test ban agreement.

The President said the shot was designed to "strengthen the defense of the free world."

"The resumption of extensive Soviet testing has made this necessary to fulfill the responsibilities of the United States government to its own citizens and to the security of other free nations," Kennedy said.

The first international reaction came from Great Britain. The foreign office said Britain "fully supports" the U. S. action. Britain, the Foreign Office said, does not plan to resume atomic tests.

Friday's was the 172nd nuclear detonation by the United States. The U.S. total includes two atomic bombs dropped on Japan, 154 military tests, and 16 weapons safety tests.

House Passes Bill To Prohibit Cuba Shipments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ignoring protests by cigar makers and State Department objections, the House passed Friday a bill to prohibit interstate shipment of goods coming from or going to Cuba.

No one spoke against the measure before voice vote passage sent it the the Senate where passage before adjournment of Congress seems somewhat doubtful.

In hearings on the bill, representatives of Tampa, Fla., cigar manufacturers said halting of tobacco imports would force 6,000 workers out of jobs as soon as factories use their current supplies, estimated to be enough for six to eight months.

In addition, the cigar men said, the halting of imports would do no real harm to Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro because he readily can sell the tobacco elsewhere.

State Department witnesses said a total embargo on Cuban trade is under consideration but the Kennedy administration does not want its hands tied by this sort of legislation.

Cuban imports now are a relative trickle with cigar tobacco, of types not grown in the United States, making up most of the volume.

House Rejects 'Gag' Rule Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Friday rejected a leadership move to ban amendments to a $529-million postal rate increase bill and cleared the way for voting on higher increases for newspapers, magazines and "junk mail."

The 222-142 roll-call vote upsetting the leadership's plans followed protests by some members against placing 80 per cent of the increased revenue on the first-class mail users.

However, sponsors of the measure claimed if it is amended in any way it will in effect be killed because they said the Senate would not take it up this session unless it is left unchanged.

MASS DEPORTATIONS

Reds To Clear Berlin Border

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Communist East Germany was reported Friday to be planning to force thousands of East Germans and East Berliners from their homes near the Iron Curtain.

Terming the move ominous, a U.S. official told newsmen Russia was said to be backing "the arrests and mass deportations." He said the action might be launched within a few days.

The official said the deportation would be another example of Russia's efforts to impose an "unwanted and irresponsible dictatorship" on the East Germans.

STUDY REPORTS

The U.S., British, French and West German foreign ministers meeting here on the Berlin crisis are studying the reports.

He also would not speculate on the reasons for the move. But one possibility was that the Communists wanted to clear the area for fortifications.

It also was suggested that it might be designed to choke off the last trickle of refugees into the West. Few have escaped since the Communists clamped down their concrete and barbed wired barricade along the Berlin border.

If East Germany does force its citizens out of the border area, the official said, Russia will be violating human rights as well as international commitments. He said Russia would repudiate its responsibility as a great power to seek world peace and security.

The official said the Communist plans were reported to call for "freezing of all movement of persons in the area concerned during the operation." He said the step was reported to include the temporary closing of the few crossing points still open between East and West Berlin.

Seven men, six from Monroe and West Monroe and one from Bastrop, are big game hunting in Wyoming this week.

Tex Kilpatrick, his brother, K. D. Kilpatrick and DeWitt Hogan departed Tuesday for Les Bowman's ranch at Cody, Wyo. They are expected to return about October 2.

Sam Herrington, of Bastrop, Carl K. White Jr., Larry Bennett and Robert Willis also departed Tuesday. They are expected to be gone only four days and hope to be able to hunt on two of those days.

BOMB IN PACKAGE

Adenauer Escapes Assassination Plot

BONN (UPI)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Friday escaped assassination for the third time this year when his bodyguards intercepted a battery-rigged bomb mailed to him in a package.

The assassination attempt, fourth made against Adenauer since 1952, followed by only a week an attempt to kill French President Charles de Gaulle with a plastic bomb.

A West German government spokesman said the death package had been mailed to Adenauer from Munich, as had two earlier bombs. He said security men spotted and disarmed it when the package was put through a routine X-ray check.

The spokesman said the explosive material was placed around four small batteries, but he did not disclose how the bomb was geared to detonate. Presumably it was a booby trap set to go off when the package was opened. Explosive experts said it was "very dangerous."

Bombs had been sent to Adenauer in the mail twice before, last February and in 1952. Both bombs were intercepted, but the sender has not been found.

The most recent attempt on the 85-year-old Adenauer's life came on March 7. A laborer named Ernst Josef Binek tried to storm Adenauer's home with a knife in his pocket, shouting "I'll get him! I'll get him!" Binek was recommended for mental treatment but was later released.

Friday's attempt came almost on the eve of the voting in West Germany's parliamentary election. The opposition Social Democrats, led by West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, hope to win enough seats in parliament to force Adenauer to bring them into a coalition government.

Senate Wipes Out Cuts In Foreign Aid

Passman Asserts House Conferees To Seek Slashes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Friday overwhelmingly backed President Kennedy's foreign aid fight by rejecting virtually all House slashes and voting $4.2 billion for overseas assistance.

The money bill, approved 62 to 17, now goes back to the House which was expected to send it to Senate-House conferees who will seek a compromise figure. Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., leader of House aid foes, said House conferees would fight to cut the Senate version "plenty."

The Senate voted to restore all but $57 million of the $596 million the House cut from the aid ceiling authorized. The aid money bill, for the 12 months that started July 1, is one of the last major issues holding up congressional adjournment.

In the first major test of Senate sentiment, members rejected 52 to 29 an effort to cut $150 million from the $1.7 billion military aid program. The sponsor of the attempt, Sen. Allen J. Ellender,

Rep. Otto E. Passman of Monroe, in a telephone conversation with the Morning World last night declared he would "stand pat for the taxpayers" on the foreign aid fight in the Senate - House conference.

Saying that his subcommittee had cut $600 million from the aid authorization, Passman said, "I will fight for my version, the one passed in the House. It will be a hard conference but I will be fighting for the taxpayers. If they move everything in Washington to the Fifth District I'm not going to sacrifice my principles. That's what has gotten this country into all this trouble."

Jones May Get Senate Presidency

Sen. Howard Jones of St. Joseph said Friday he had been contacted by a "number" of senators interested in electing Jones president pro-tem of the Louisiana Senate.

"I'm always interested in helping our district in north Louisiana," Jones said. "Certainly I would accept if the Senate decided to elect me."

Sen. Robert Ainsworth, presently the Senate president, is in line for a federal judgeship. Ainsworth is a New Orleans attorney.

Jones, contacted in New Orleans yesterday, said he understood Ainsworth would be confirmed by the U.S. Senate Tuesday. Jones, like Ainsworth, has been closely associated with Gov. Jimmie H. Davis.

In Monroe, Sen. Jamar Adcock said, "I'm a thousand per cent for Howard Jones."

Jones, in his first term as a senator, said he hadn't heard of anybody else being mentioned as a possible successor to Ainsworth.

"I've had a number of the fellows call and ask me if I would take it," he said.

Pigskin Weather Should Prevail

If the prediction for today's weather holds good, Northeast State College football fans will have ideal conditions for the season opener tonight.

The forecaster says that skies will be clear to partly cloudy with cool temperatures through tonight.

Today's high is expected to be between 72 and 82 degrees with the low tonight probably in the 60's.

Yesterday's top reading was 75 and the low was — brrrr — 57.

U.N. Holding Out In Katanga Siege

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The U. N. Command, on the defensive in the battle for Katanga, reported Friday night its Irish force fighting at Jadotville was holding out under siege of fanatical tribal warriors.

Officials discounted one Katangan broadcast report that more than a third of the 150 Irish at Jadotville were wiped out.

There and elsewhere in the three-day-old Katanga fighting heavy casualties were reported on both sides.

ON DEFENSIVE

After two days of offensive moves to win secessionist Katanga back to union with the Congo, the United Nations went on the defensive before scattered counteroffensives mounted by President Moise Tshombe's tribesmen, led by white officers.

Brig. S. J. Raja of India, chief of the U.N. Congo military operations, said the Irish had taken several prisoners including two Belgian officers of the Katanga forces who had disclosed valuable military information to the United Nations.

Raja reported the Irish had been under siege at Jadotville five days, although the open fighting for Katanga did not begin until early Wednesday.

In a message to Leopoldville, Raja said:

"Considerable reinforcements are arriving in Katanga from many parts of the Congo. Elisabethville was quiet Friday and U.N. troops have received orders

Boats Pull Two Pilots From Gulf

NEW ORLEANS (AP) —Coast Guard patrol boats plucked two Louisiana Air National Guard pilots from the Gulf of Mexico Friday a dozen hours after their jets apparently collided on training flights.

A patrol boat picked Capt Joseph X. Trauth of Harahan, La., from the Gulf shortly after noon, a few hours after Capt. Clarence P. Reeves of Algiers had been rescued.

Both men were found off Grand Isle, an area hard hit by winds and water from Hurricane Carla earlier this week. Grand Isle is 50 miles south of New Orleans.

Both men were on life rafts when rescued and were taken to New Orleans for observation and treatment if needed.

The adjutant general's office at New Orleans said the F-102 jet trainers apparently collided while on a routine night interception flight Thursday night. The men lost contact with New Orleans about 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

The jets were assigned to the 159th Fighter Group out of Callender Field at New Orleans.

Soviets Warned Threats Barrier To Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said Friday the United States "is prepared to meet force with force if it is used against us" by the Reds in their squeeze on Berlin.

Kennedy's most forthright statement yet of American fight - if - necessary determination to save West Berlin was followed by a White House announcement of the first U.S. atomic test in three years.

Both came while the Western Big Four foreign ministers held their second day of strategy talks.

IN LETTER

Kennedy's statements were in a letter which he gave to Indonesian President Sukarno and Mali President Modibo Keita last Wednesday. The two had come to the White House from the 25-nation Belgrade conference of neutrals with a plea that Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev meet to solve the mounting crisis before it explodes into nuclear war.

Kennedy said in his reply to the neutrals: "We believe it is incumbent upon all responsible governments to explore all possible avenues, including negotiations at the highest levels, for mutually acceptable solutions of current international problems.

"However, unless such negotiations are carefully prepared beforehand they risk failure and may lead to deterioration of the situation.

"We do not intend to enter into negotiations under ultimata or threats . . . Nevertheless, we believe it possible to find a solution which can accommodate vital interests on both sides of the crisis.

"This crisis has been initiated by Soviet, not by American action. We have absolutely no intention of resorting to force or threats of force to solve the Berlin and

15 Ministers Draw Fines, Jail Terms

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Municipal Judge James Spencer convicted 15 Episcopal clergymen—including New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's son - in - law — on breach of peace charges Friday after their efforts to desegregate a Jackson bus terminal.

Spencer returned his verdict in the case of the 12 white and three Negro clergymen and handed each a $200 fine and four-month jail term.

POST NO BOND

Among those convicted was the Rev. Robert L. Pierson, 35, of New York City and Evanston, Ill., son-in-law of Gov. Rockefeller. Pierson did not testify.

The clergymen made no move to post bond and sources close to them indicated it might be next week before most of them gained their freedom.

Before handing down sentence, Spencer told the courtroom: "I find my duty clear. I believe they violated the laws of Mississippi and the articles of religion of their faith."

Special Prosecutor Robert Nichols charged the clergymen violated an article of religion of the Protestant Episcopal Church when they ignored an order from police Capt. J. L. Ray to move along.

He said one of the articles of religion admonished Episcopalians to obey civil authority.

Ray testified that he arrested the ministers because he felt their desegregation attempt might cause a riot. He said a crowd at the bus station appeared to be in an ugly mood.

On of the ministers testified that after their arrest they prayed and that the by standers were quiet, almost reverent.

Defense attorney Carl Rachlin of New York, chief counsel of the Congress of Racial Equality, contended the state breach of peace law was unconstitutional because it permitted an officer to make an arrest if he felt violence might erupt later. This, he said, made the officer a judge.

Nichols said if the officer "had to wait until violence occurred before the arrest would be constitutional, then there might have been two dead bodies—but they would have been constitutionally dead."

Individual Effort Stressed At Meeting

BASTROP — If you want to be alive after they drop the big bomb, you've got to help yourself, you can't depend on someone else to look out for you.

Capt. James B. Scruggs, Area Four Louisiana Civil Defense Agency representative, struck the tone of the session, attended by 178 civil defense and related officials, when he said, "It'll be just like the Army, — the government will furnish the shovel, but you've got to dig your own foxhole."

Eight speakers, each representing a different coordinating agency of CD spoke.

The State Parks Commission, under the direction of L. A. Talley, hosted the event, and picked up the meal tab.

Much discussion centered around how the park here could be used in the event of mass tragedy.

Officials from 12 northeast Louisiana parishes and state governmental agencies went through the procedures of registering and mass feeding that would be followed in case of disaster conditions.

Scruggs and others pointed out that northeast Louisianans cannot afford to be complacent in the face of the deteriorating world situation.

They said in case of enemy attack, northeast Louisiana could well be ringed in by nuclear strikes at U. S. air bases and industrial points at Shreveport, Baton Rouge, New Orleans, Jackson, Miss., Blythville, Ark., where

State Okays $10,000 For Cattle Feed

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis Friday pushed through the state Board for Liquidation of State Debt a $10,000 allocation for emergency cattle feed.

The state funds will be used to pay for hay sent into southwest Louisiana parishes having low lying pasturelands salted by tides of Hurricane Carla. Salt kills grazing lands and hay crops.

Cattle are stranded in Cameron, Calcasieu and Vermilion parishes. Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce requested the allocation, although he did not appear at the meeting, to meet feeding problems until federal aid grain can be shipped into the area.

The Liquidation Board, made up of the governor and his top administration and legislative leaders, held little discussion of the proposed allocation.

The six board members present voted for the allocation. Only Lt. Gov. C. C. Aycock was absent, due to an appearance set earlier in Lafayette.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is sending 14 carloads of feed grain for cattle in pastures invaded by Gulf of Mexico waters. Pearce said the federal program is expected to provide emergency food to last up to 15 days.

Hunting

Seven men, six from Monroe and West Monroe and one from Bastrop, are big game hunting in Wyoming this week.

Tex Kilpatrick, his brother, K. D. Kilpatrick and DeWitt Hogan departed Tuesday for Les Bowman's ranch at Cody, Wyo. They are expected to return about October 2.

Sam Herrington, of Bastrop, Carl K. White Jr., Larry Bennett and Robert Willis also departed Tuesday. They are expected to be gone only four days and hope to be able to hunt on two of those days.

Jones May Get Senate Presidency

Sen. Howard Jones of St. Joseph said Friday he had been contacted by a "number" of senators interested in electing Jones president pro-tem of the Louisiana Senate.

"I'm always interested in helping our district in north Louisiana," Jones said. "Certainly I would accept if the Senate decided to elect me."

Sen. Robert Ainsworth, presently the Senate president, is in line for a federal judgeship. Ainsworth is a New Orleans attorney.

Jones, contacted in New Orleans yesterday, said he understood Ainsworth would be confirmed by the U.S. Senate Tuesday. Jones, like Ainsworth, has been closely associated with Gov. Jimmie H. Davis.

In Monroe, Sen. Jamar Adcock said, "I'm a thousand per cent for Howard Jones."

Jones, in his first term as a senator, said he hadn't heard of anybody else being mentioned as a possible successor to Ainsworth.

"I've had a number of the fellows call and ask me if I would take it," he said.

U.N. Holding Out In Katanga Siege

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The U. N. Command, on the defensive in the battle for Katanga, reported Friday night its Irish force fighting at Jadotville was holding out under siege of fanatical tribal warriors.

Officials discounted one Katangan broadcast report that more than a third of the 150 Irish at Jadotville were wiped out.

There and elsewhere in the three-day-old Katanga fighting heavy casualties were reported on both sides.

ON DEFENSIVE

After two days of offensive moves to win secessionist Katanga back to union with the Congo, the United Nations went on the defensive before scattered counteroffensives mounted by President Moise Tshombe's tribesmen, led by white officers.

Brig. S. J. Raja of India, chief of the U.N. Congo military operations, said the Irish had taken several prisoners including two Belgian officers of the Katanga forces who had disclosed valuable military information to the United Nations.

Raja reported the Irish had been under siege at Jadotville five days, although the open fighting for Katanga did not begin until early Wednesday.

In a message to Leopoldville, Raja said:

"Considerable reinforcements are arriving in Katanga from many parts of the Congo. Elisabethville was quiet Friday and U.N. troops have received orders

Boats Pull Two Pilots From Gulf

NEW ORLEANS (AP) —Coast Guard patrol boats plucked two Louisiana Air National Guard pilots from the Gulf of Mexico Friday a dozen hours after their jets apparently collided on training flights.

A patrol boat picked Capt Joseph X. Trauth of Harahan, La., from the Gulf shortly after noon, a few hours after Capt. Clarence P. Reeves of Algiers had been rescued.

Both men were found off Grand Isle, an area hard hit by winds and water from Hurricane Carla earlier this week. Grand Isle is 50 miles south of New Orleans.

Both men were on life rafts when rescued and were taken to New Orleans for observation and treatment if needed.

The adjutant general's office at New Orleans said the F-102 jet trainers apparently collided while on a routine night interception flight Thursday night. The men lost contact with New Orleans about 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

The jets were assigned to the 159th Fighter Group out of Callender Field at New Orleans.

House Passes Bill To Prohibit Cuba Shipments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ignoring protests by cigar makers and State Department objections, the House passed Friday a bill to prohibit interstate shipment of goods coming from or going to Cuba.

In hearings on the bill, representatives of Tampa, Fla., cigar manufacturers said halting of tobacco imports would force 6,000 workers out of jobs as soon as factories use their current supplies, estimated to be enough for six to eight months.

In addition, the cigar men said, the halting of imports would do no real harm to Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro because he readily can sell the tobacco elsewhere.

State Department witnesses said a total embargo on Cuban trade is under consideration but the Kennedy administration does not want its hands tied by this sort of legislation.

Cuban imports now are a relative trickle with cigar tobacco, of types not grown in the United States, making up most of the volume.

House Rejects 'Gag' Rule Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Friday rejected a leadership move to ban amendments to a $529-million postal rate increase bill and cleared the way for voting on higher increases for newspapers, magazines and "junk mail."

The 222-142 roll-call vote upsetting the leadership's plans followed protests by some members against placing 80 per cent of the increased revenue on the first-class mail users.

However, sponsors of the measure claimed if it is amended in any way it will in effect be killed because they said the Senate would not take it up this session unless it is left unchanged.

BOMB IN PACKAGE

Adenauer Escapes Assassination Plot

BONN (UPI)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Friday escaped assassination for the third time this year when his bodyguards intercepted a battery-rigged bomb mailed to him in a package.

The assassination attempt, fourth made against Adenauer since 1952, followed by only a week an attempt to kill French President Charles de Gaulle with a plastic bomb.

A West German government spokesman said the death package had been mailed to Adenauer from Munich, as had two earlier bombs. He said security men spotted and disarmed it when the package was put through a routine X-ray check.

The spokesman said the explosive material was placed around four small batteries, but he did not disclose how the bomb was geared to detonate. Presumably it was a booby trap set to go off when the package was opened. Explosive experts said it was "very dangerous."

Bombs had been sent to Adenauer in the mail twice before, last February and in 1952. Both bombs were intercepted, but the sender has not been found.

The most recent attempt on the 85-year-old Adenauer's life came on March 7. A laborer named Ernst Josef Binek tried to storm Adenauer's home with a knife in his pocket, shouting "I'll get him! I'll get him!" Binek was recommended for mental treatment but was later released.

The opposition Social Democrats, led by West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, hope to win enough seats in parliament to force Adenauer to bring them into a coalition government.

Pigskin Weather Should Prevail

Today's high is expected to be between 72 and 82 degrees with the low tonight probably in the 60's.

Yesterday's top reading was 75 and the low was — brrrr — 57.

IN CIVIL DEFENSE

Individual Effort Stressed At Meeting

By JIMMY HATTEN
State Editor

BASTROP — If you want to be alive after they drop the big bomb, you've got to help yourself, you can't depend on someone else to look out for you.

Capt. James B. Scruggs, Area Four Louisiana Civil Defense Agency representative, struck the tone of the session, attended by 178 civil defense and related officials, when he said, "It'll be just like the Army, — the government will furnish the shovel, but you've got to dig your own foxhole."

Eight speakers, each representing a different coordinating agency of CD spoke.

The State Parks Commission, under the direction of L. A. Talley, hosted the event, and picked up the meal tab.

Much discussion centered around how the park here could be used in the event of mass tragedy.

Officials from 12 northeast Louisiana parishes and state governmental agencies went through the procedures of registering and mass feeding that would be followed in case of disaster conditions.

Scruggs and others pointed out that northeast Louisianans cannot afford to be complacent in the face of the deteriorating world situation.

They said in case of enemy attack, northeast Louisiana could well be ringed in by nuclear strikes at U. S. air bases and industrial points at Shreveport, Baton Rouge, New Orleans, Jackson, Miss., Blythville, Ark., where "The curfew imposed Thursday has been lifted. And contrary to broadcast reports there is no shortage of food, water or electricity. Telephone communications have been partly restored."

Michel Tombelain, the U.N. second in command in Katanga, announced in a radio broadcast that President Tshombe will talk soon with the U.N. Congo authorities.

"But the United Nations is determined to stand by its decision to implement the Security Council resolution in order to end Katanga's secession," Tombelain declared. He gave no indication of the whereabouts of Tshombe. Earlier reports said he was in the presidential palace.

Tombelain's broadcast said the United Nations had discovered a plot to kill him.

He confirmed reports that Elisabethville airport had twice been bombed Friday and said there also had been sporadic ground fighting.

In one bombing attack on the airport a DC4 was destroyed.

Tombelain announced that a U.N. armored car was also destroyed in Elisabethville by a bazooka mounted on top of an ambulance.

U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, in Leopoldville on an inspection tour, attended a Congolese reception in his honor Friday night. He spoke to only a few Swedish officers and looked grim-faced and weary.

At Ndola, Northern Rhodesia, near the Katanga border, a Rhodesian air charter pilot, Maurice Pike, reported after flying from Elisabethville that the airport there had been badly damaged by battles.

Pike said the airport was a U.N. island in the Katanga capital.

"I wouldn't fly there again at any price," he added.

Pike said wreckage was strewn over a large area of the airport, the restaurant was shattered, and furniture wrecked.

Pike said a number of roads had been cut by the Katanga forces and no one could enter Elisabethville unless they were in a U.N. armored car.

The Senate bill carried $1.2 billion for the first year of Kennedy's overseas developments loan program. This was $175 million more than the House approved.

Economic aid grants would be set at $334 million in the Senate bill compared to $259 in the House version. The Senate voted $450 million for supporting assistance to back up military aid, $50 million more than the House.

Kennedy won $300 million for his emergency fund from the Senate. The House approved only $175 million.

proximately 80 nuclear explosions, Britain 21 and France four.

Authorities said the Atomic Energy Commission's Los Alamos, N.M., and Livermore (Calif.) weapons laboratories have scores of new devices they want to test.

Some, it was said, would make it possible to double the power of the Polaris and Minuteman missile warheads with increasing their size and weight.

Others might lead to development of the "neutron bomb," a small H-bomb which would kill with radiation at battlefield ranges without destroying buildings or endangering civilians at a distance.

Development of a powerful but compact antimissile missile also is included in the purposes of the new test program which is expected to continue for several weeks or months.

Kennedy's White House statement said Friday's shot was a low-yield "nuclear weapons development test." He said it would not pollute the atmosphere with radioactivity, as the Soviet explosions do.

A short time earlier White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters that the U.S. tests would not be announced in advance, that not all tests would be reported after the fact, and that newsmen would not be permitted to cover any of the shots.

Warrant Issued In Traffic Case

A Grambling Negro charged with failure to dim his headlights for oncoming traffic failed to show up in Fourth District Court for arraignment Friday.

DISCUSSING FALLOUT shelter scale model on bumper of U.S. Army truck mass feeding unit, which can feed 100 people in 30 minutes, are from left, Walter Bentrup, Area Four Emergency Welfare director; Wallace King, Civil Defense coordinator of the Louisiana State Parks and Recreation Commission; Garber Higginbotham, CD agency representative, and Douglas Keller, CD director for Morehouse Parish. an air base is located, and at Columbus, Miss., and Alexandria, where other air bases are centered.

"If a one-megaton bomb were dropped on Shreveport, you would have just about an hour and one-half's warning. What plans could you make in that time? The time to prepare is now," said Scruggs, who was in the Phillipines when the Japanese launched their Dec., 1941, sneak attack.

He spent three and one-half years in a Japanese prison camp and said he saw "thousands dying daily."

It's plan for protection now or face the stark reality that you'll surely die when the fallout comes, Civil Defense officials said.

Col. Frank G. Spiess, Civil Defense deputy state director put it this way:

"Where it's feasable, family shelters should be built. In cities, sometimes its not possible due to lack of space. Then, group shelters which could house 1,000 could be constructed."

Pointing out that in the event of attack, it would be a matter of self-reliance to prevent death, Spiess said, "When it comes down to you and me, you know who it will be."

"I know that sounds harsh, but I think we are all practical enough to know the score," he said.

He called for a dedicated tax to construct shelters on a mass scale, with the tax to expire when the shelters are constructed.

To get protection, he said, "You're going to have to pay for it one way or another."

He said the shelters could be used for recreation, civic meetings, and rented to organizations to help defray maintenance expenses.

"You need to construct them where you can get to them in a matter of minutes," he said. He said permanent shelter leaders would have to be trained so that in the event of emergency they could keep the situation under control.

An East Carroll representative demanded to know why the government could not build the shelters and make sure the population was taken care of in the event of an attack.

Officials told him that the government agencies are coordinated into civil defense in the event of disaster and that some public buildings will be suitable for protection.

Beyond that, the undertaking is so monumental that the government alone, without the help of the people, could not take care of the job, officials said.

W. Garber Higginbotham, CD agency representative of Baton Rouge, the moderator for the discussion, said, "The government has to be supplemented by the individual."

"We must return to the old American concept of self-reliance. The individual must be prepared to protect himself," he said.

Higginbotham reported that the U. S. Corps of Army Engineers is conducting a survey in north Louisiana to determine which buildings, private and public, could be used for protection in the case of attack.

Nuclear attack and fallout is only one catastrophe to be prepared for, CD officials stated.

"What preparations have we made for disasters such as the Hodge tornado or the one at Newellton", Scruggs asked.

He said knowing what to do in such instances can save countless lives.

Chemin-A-Haut State Park, located 10 miles north of Bastrop on La. Hwy. 139, will be invaluable in the event of natural or man-caused disaster, it was pointed out.

And additions to the park are planned, according to Wallace King, of the State Parks and Recreation Commission.

He said planning for more buildings, more showers and more comfort stations at the park are being drawn up.

About 300 persons could be cared for at the park in the event of a disaster in adverse weather conditions, estimated Walter Bentrup, field representative of the Emergency Welfare Service.

He said 100 persons could sleep at present facilities at one time, and more on a "shift" basis.

But, "if fallout were to start rolling in," we would have to evacuate," he said. "It would be somewhat hazardous for fallout," he admitted.

It was pointed out by James F. Coerver, of the division of public health, that drinking water for from 7,000 to 10,000 could be provided with "a little scrounging" for additional materials.

Numerous officials commented that S. E. Harrison, superintendent of the park, has accomplished a good job in keeping the park in good condition.

Other speakers included Douglas Keller, director, Civil Defense, Morehouse Parish; Mrs. Taunton Veazey, executive director of the Ouachita Parish chapter of the Red Cross; Mrs. Helen Agnew, assistant director of Civil Defense in Area Four.

The Home Demonstration Council of Morehouse Parish was in charge of this event.

Spiess said that if fallout were to hit "you would have an even chance by evacuating to the park here."

The park would be "just the place to have evacuations from other parts of the state, he said.

There are 16 other state park in Louisiana that could serve a similar use, he said.

He said that mass evacuations on the Louisiana coast as Hurricane Carla moved in proved that countless lives can be saved by leaving disaster ares in time.

"There were no lives in Louisiana lost directly to the hurricane," he said.

"It can be done, if you have the information in time," he said. Officials pointed out that communications will play a vital role in the civil defense effort.

"You have to do what you can," and after that "all you can do is say a little prayer," Spiess said.

Contrary to the opinion by many, officials said, fallout will not remain in the air for very long.

It would last about two weeks at the maximum.

A survey is currently underway to house state officials in a sub basement at the Capitol in Baton Rouge should an attack occur.

Mrs. Agnew said, "People in our parishes are beginning to face up to the problem," of civil defense.

"There is no excuse for those of us who could take care of ourselves," yet make no effort, she said.

"Poor shelters are better than no shelters at all," she added.

"We cannot wait until it hits," Bentrup said, "We've got to have this training today."

Officials from these parishes attended the meeting: Morehouse, Ouachita, Union, Lincoln, Jackson, West Carroll, East Carroll, Franklin, Madison, Tensas, Caldwell and Richland.

Ousted Director Spurns New Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Karl S. Betts, recently ousted as executive director of the Civil War Centennial Commission, formally resigned his $17,600 post Friday rather than accept a lesser job as commission consultant.

The commision had given Betts until Saturday to decide whether to accept a position as consultant.

Betts said in a statement he was puzzled by his dismissal Aug. 30 by a 10-3 vote of the commission. He upheld the scholarly aspects of the commission's work and said if there had been "too much Hollywood" in battle re-enactments the commission was not at fault because it had no control over them.

Record Cold Follows In Carla's Wake

By United Press International

Record-breaking low temperatures chilled the Middle West Friday, and cooler weather spread all the way to the Atlantic seaboard.

In the wake of violent storm Carla's last thrashings, the mercury dipped to new lows for September 15 in Illinois, Missouri and Kansas. Readings in the low and middle 40's were common in the three states.

The death toll from the vicious storm climbed as Carla swept into Canada after dumping 10 inches of rain on the Traverse Bay section of Michigan.

A youth was washed from a pier and drowned in Lake Michigan's 20-foot waves at Grand Haven, Mich. A mechanic died in Chicago of injuries suffered when wind gusts blew a helicopter tail into him at Midway Airport. A 13-year-old boy was found dead in the flooded basement of his Elmhurst, Ill., home where he was apparently electrocuted by a short-circuited freezer.

The deaths brought to 47 the overall probable death toll of Carla and the tornadoes and floods the gulf hurricane spawned. Thirty eight persons were dead or missing along the Texas and Louisiana coasts. Five died Wednesday in Kansas floods and the body of another flood victim was found Thursday in Kansas City, Mo., when high waters receded.

Kansas City Mayor H. Roe Bartle appealed to Gov. John M. Dalton to have the stricken Blue River Valley industrial district declared a disaster area. The Missouri chief executive relayed the appeal for federal aid to President Kennedy.

The East Coast cooled off from a prolonged hot spell. The Weather Bureau said temperatures would drop into the low 50's in New York City Friday night and give the city its coolest weather in about a month.

Soviets Warned Threats Barrier To Negotiations

German problems, but we are determined to honor our commitments and are prepared to meet force with force if it is used against us."

At a two-hour morning session, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano concentrated on measures to counter Communist acts against West Berlin.

Among other items, a spokesman said, the Western policymakers viewed seriously Thursday's buzzing by Soviet jet MIGs of two American airliners in the Berlin air corridor. Among countermeasures under consideration is stationing of Western fighter craft in West Germany close to the airlanes linking Red-encircled Berlin with the West.

Kennedy kept abreast of the Allied discussions at a White House luncheon for the visiting foreign ministers. The four met again in the afternoon.

Rusk plans to leave Sunday for New York where he intends to sound out Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on what the Soviet Union will negotiate about. Gromyko is to attend the U.N. General Assembly session starting Tuesday.

Rusk said that at a brief meeting Thursday night, he and Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov talked about arrangements for meeting Gromyko but a firm date was not set.

In his letter to Sukarno and Keita, Kennedy also defended U.S. resumption of nuclear tests, telling the neutrals the United States ended its long moratorium on atomic blasts only "after the utmost provocation," including the Soviet Union breaking the moratorium first.

In announcing the U.S. explosion, the White House emphasized it was set off underground in contrast to all 10 of the Soviet September blasts which have been aerial shots which contaminated the air with radioactive fallout.

The President said the United States still seeks an international ban on atomic testing, wants general disarmament under effective controls and expects the United Nations will take up these questions at its fall session.

Kennedy said that as for negotiations, the Soviet Union has not yet shown any willingness to talk about anything except "conditions which involve the surrender of Western rights" in Berlin.

A main aim of Rusk's mission will be to find out whether Gromyko has anything else to offer.

Economic aid grants would be set at $334 million in the Senate bill, compared to $259 in the House version. The Senate voted $450 million for supporting assistance to back up military aid, $50 million more than the House.

Kennedy won $300 million for his emergency fund from the Senate. The House approved only $175 million.

U.S. Begins New Atomic Arms Tests

proximately 80 nuclear explosions, Britain 21, and France four.

Authorities said the Atomic Energy Commission's Los Alamos (N.M.) and Livermore (Calif.) weapons laboratories have scores of new devices they want to test.

Some, it was said, would make it possible to double the power of the Polaris and Minuteman missile warheads with increasing their size and weight.

Others might lead to development of the "neutron bomb," a small H-bomb which would kill with radiation at battlefield ranges without destroying buildings or endangering civilians at a distance.

Development of a powerful but compact anti-missile missile also is included in the purposes of the new test program which is expected to continue for several weeks or months.

Kennedy's White House statement said Friday's shot was a low-yield "nuclear weapons development test." He said it would not pollute the atmosphere with radioactivity, as the Soviet explosions do.

A short time earlier White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters that the U.S. tests would not be announced in advance, that not all tests would be reported after the fact, and that newsmen would not be permitted to cover any of the shots.

Warrant Issued In Traffic Case

A Grambling Negro charged with failure to dim his headlights for on-coming traffic failed to show up in Fourth District Court for arraignment Friday.

Individual Effort Stressed At Meeting

an air base is located, and at Columbus, Miss., and Alexandria, where other air bases are centered.

"If a one - megaton bomb were dropped on Shreveport, you would have just about an hour and one-half's warning. What plans could you make in that time? The time to prepare is now," said Scruggs, who was in the Phillipines when the Japanese launched their Dec., 1941, sneak attack.

He spent three and one - half years in a Japanese prison camp and said he saw "thousands dying daily."

It's plan for protection now or face the stark reality that you'll surely die when the fallout comes, Civil Defense officials said.

Col. Frank G. Spiess, Civil Defense deputy state director put it this way:

"Where it's feasable, family shelters should be built. In cities, sometimes its not possible due to lack of space. Then, group shelters which could house 1,000 could be constructed."

Pointing out that in the event of attack, it would be a matter of self - reliance to prevent death, Spiess said, "When it comes down to you and me, you know who it will be,"

"I know that sounds harsh, but I think we are all practical enough to know the score," he said.

He called for a dedicated tax to construct shelters on a mass scale, with the tax to expire when the shelters are constructed.

To get protection, he said, "You're going to have to pay for it one way or another."

He said the shelters could be used for recreation, civic meetings, and rented to organizations to help defray maintenance expenses.

"You need to construct them where you can get to them in a matter of minutes," he said. He said permanent shelter leaders would have to be trained so that in the event of emergency they could keep the situation under control.

An East Carroll representative demanded to know why the government could not build the shelters and make sure the population was taken care of in the event of an attack.

Officials told him that the government agencies are coordinated into civil defense in the event of disaster and that some public buildings will be suitable for protection.

Beyond that, the undertaking is so monumental that the government alone, without the help of the people, could not take care of the job, officials said.

W. Garber Higginbotham, CD agency representative of Baton Rouge, the moderator for the discussion, said, "The government has to be supplemented by the individual."

"We must return to the old American concept of self - reliance. The individual must be prepared to protect himself," he said.

Higginbotham reported that the U. S. Corps of Army Engineers is conducting a survey in north Louisiana to determine which buildings, private and public, could be used for protection in the case of attack.

Nuclear attack and fallout is only one catastrophe to be prepared for, CD officials stated.

"What preparations have we made for disasters such as the Hodge tornado or the one at Newellton", Scruggs asked.

He said knowing what to do in such instances can save countless lives.

Chemin-A-Haut State Park, located 10 miles north of Bastrop on La. Hwy. 139, will be invaluable in the event of natural or man-caused disaster, it was pointed out.

And additions to the park are planned, according to Wallace King, of the State Parks and Recreation Commission.

He said planning for more buildings, more showers and more comfort stations at the park are being drawn up.

About 300 persons could be cared for at the park in the event of a disaster in adverse weather conditions, estimated Walter Bentrup, field representative of the Emergency Welfare Service.

He said 100 persons could sleep at present facilities at one time, and more on a "shift" basis.

But, "if fallout were to start rolling in," we would have to evacuate," he said. "It would be somewhat hazardous for fallout," he admitted.

It was pointed out by James F. Coerver, of the division of public health, that drinking water for from 7,000 to 10,000 could be provided with "a little scrounging" for additional materials.

Numerous officials commented that S. E. Harrison, superintendent of the park, has accomplished a good job in keeping the park in good condition.

Other speakers included Douglas Keller, director, Civil Defense, Morehouse Parish; Mrs. Taunton Veazey, executive director of the Ouachita Parish chapter of the Red Cross; Mrs. Helen Agnew, assistant director of Civil Defense in Area Four.

The Home Demonstration Council of Morehouse Parish was in charge of this event.

Spiess said that if fallout were to hit, "you would have an even chance by evacuating to the park here."

The park would be "just the place to have evacuations from other parts of the state, he said.

There are 16 other state parks in Louisiana that could serve a similar use, he said.

He said that mass evacuations on the Louisiana coast as Hurricane Carla moved in proved that countless lives can be saved by leaving disaster ares in time.

"There were no lives in Louisiana lost directly to the hurricane," he said.

"It can be done, if you have the information in time," he said. Officials pointed out that communications will play a vital role in the civil defense effort.

"You have to do what you can," and after that "all you can do is say a little prayer," Spiess said.

Contrary to the opinion by many, officials said, fallout will not remain in the air for very long.

It would last about two weeks at the maximum.

A survey is currently underway to house state officials in a subbasement at the Capitol in Baton Rouge should an attack occur.

Mrs. Agnew said, "People in our parishes are beginning to face up to the problem," of civil defense.

"There is no excuse for those of us who could take care of ourselves," yet make no effort, she said.

"Poor shelters are better than no shelters at all," she added.

"We cannot wait until it hits," Bentrup said, "We've got to have this training today."

Officials from these parishes attended the meeting: Morehouse, Ouachita, Union, Lincoln, Jackson, West Carroll, East Carroll, Franklin, Madison, Tensas, Caldwell and Richland.

Ousted Director Spurns New Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Karl S. Betts, recently ousted as executive director of the Civil War Centennial Commission, formally resigned his $17,600 post Friday rather than accept a lesser job as commission consultant.

The commision had given Betts until Saturday to decide whether to accept a position as consultant.

Betts said in a statement he was puzzled by his dismissal Aug. 30 by a 10-3 vote of the commission. He upheld the scholarly aspects of the commission's work and said if there had been "too much Hollywood" in battle re-enactments the commission was not at fault because it had no control over them.

Record Cold Follows In Carla's Wake

By United Press International

Record-breaking low temperatures chilled the Middle West Friday, and cooler weather spread all the way to the Atlantic seaboard.

In the wake of violent storm Carla's last thrashings, the mercury dipped to new lows for September 15 in Illinois, Missouri and Kansas. Readings in the low and middle 40's were common in the three states.

The death toll from the vicious storm climbed as Carla swept into Canada after dumping 10 inches of rain on the Traverse Bay section of Michigan.

A youth was washed from a pier and drowned in Lake Michigan's 20-foot waves at Grand Haven, Mich. A mechanic died in Chicago of injuries suffered when wind gusts blew a helicopter tail into him at Midway Airport. A 13-year-old boy was found dead in the flooded basement of his Elmhurst, Ill., home where he was apparently electrocuted by a short-circuited freezer.

The deaths brought to 47 the overall probable death toll of Carla and the tornadoes and floods the gulf hurricane spawned. Thirty eight persons were dead or missing along the Texas and Louisiana coasts. Five died Wednesday in Kansas floods and the body of another flood victim was found Thursday in Kansas City, Mo., when high waters receded.

Kansas City Mayor H. Roe Bartle appealed to Gov. John M. Dalton to have the stricken Blue River Valley industrial district declared a disaster area. The Missouri chief executive relayed the appeal for federal aid to President Kennedy.

Bartle estimated flood damage in the big industrial district at almost $9.5 million.

The East Coast cooled off from a prolonged hot spell. The Weather Bureau said temperatures would drop into the low 50's in New York City Friday night and give the city its coolest weather in about a month.

Soviets Warned Threats Barrier To Negotiations

At a two-hour morning session, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano concentrated on measures to counter Communist acts against West Berlin.

Among other items, a spokesman said, the Western policymakers viewed seriously Thursday's buzzing by Soviet jet MIGs of two American airliners in the Berlin air corridor. Among countermeasures under consideration is stationing of Western fighter craft in West Germany close to the airlanes linking Red-encircled Berlin with the West.

Kennedy kept abreast of the Allied discussions at a White House luncheon for the visiting foreign ministers. The four met again in the afternoon.

Rusk plans to leave Sunday for New York where he intends to sound out Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on what the Soviet Union will negotiate about. Gromyko is to attend the U.N. General Assembly session starting Tuesday.

Rusk said that at a brief meeting Thursday night, he and Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov talked about arrangements for meeting Gromyko but a firm date was not set.

In his letter to Sukarno and Keita, Kennedy also defended U.S. resumption of nuclear tests, telling the neutrals the United States ended its long moratorium on atomic blasts only "after the utmost provocation," including the Soviet Union breaking the moratorium first.

In announcing the U.S. explosion, the White House emphasized it was set off underground in contrast to all 10 of the Soviet September blasts which have been aerial shots which contaminated the air with radioactive fallout.

The President said the United States still seeks an international ban on atomic testing, wants general disarmament under effective controls and expects the United Nations will take up these questions at its fall session.

Kennedy said that as for negotiations, the Soviet Union has not yet shown any willingness to talk about anything except "conditions which involve the surrender of Western rights" in Berlin.

A main aim of Rusk's mission will be to find out whether Gromyko has anything else to offer.

THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International

While President Jefferson Davis of the Confederacy was shaking an incompetent secretary of war out of his cabinet and Maj. Gen. George B. McClellan was reorganizing the Union army around Washington after its disastrous defeat at Manassas, a small detachment of Federals suddenly found itself besieged in Lexington, Mo.

The siege of Lexington was a small affair but it speeded the removal of Union Maj. Gen. John C. Fremont as commander of the Western Department and gave the half-equipped Confederate army in Missouri a much needed supply of arms and a lift in morale.

The Confederates who converged on Lexington, a small Missouri River town about 50 miles east of Kansas City, were led by Gen. Sterling Price, fresh from his victory at Wilson's Creek, near Springfield in Southwest Missouri.

Price had marched leisurely from Springfield toward Lexington with recruits flocking to his army and the inhabitants spreading a welcome. By the time he reached Lexington he had about 10,000 men.

STOP PRICE

Col. James A. Mulligan and his 23rd Illinois Volunteers, called the "Irish Brigade," were sent from Jefferson City, Mo., the capital, to stop Price and hold Lexington at any hazard. Two other bodies of Union troops were ordered to help him.

On Sept. 11, 1861, Mulligan, now joined by the 1st Illinois Cavalry, some Missouri cavalary and Home Guards — 2,780 men all told — began to fortify Masonic College bluffs, which rose about 300 feet above the river on the north side of the town. As he started, the first of Price's troops appeared.

The two little armies skirmished until the 17th, Mulligan meanwhile completing his fortifications, about 17 acres around the main college building.

By that time Price had drawn a tight ring around Mulligan's troops, cutting off all outside food and their water supply except for the cisterns on the college grounds. On the 18th Price opened fire with his 16 guns.

Mulligan replied as best he could with his seven guns. The sharpshooters on both sides had a feld day plinking at every head that bobbed up. About midmorning, the Confederates captured a building just outside the Federal lines which was being used as a hospital. They claimed Union sharpshooters were using it for cover. From the hospital building the Confederate sharpshooters poured a deadly fire into the Union lines from the windows and the roof. Mulligan saw the necessity of recapturing the building. He ordered first one Missouri company and then another to charge the building. Both companies refused. But a company of his own Irish Brigade was equal to the task and stormed the building. They held it about an hour before they had to retire.

All through the 19th — a hot day — they fought across the newly dug trenches without either side making much progress. The Federals were growing thirstier and hungrier by the minute. The only water the Federals had that day came when a sudden shower drenched their blankets and they wrung the water into their canteens. The water in the cisterns was gone. Cavalry men had sneaked it away for their thirsty horses. The detachment's ammunition was nearly gone.

BARRIER MOVES

On the morning of the 20th the Federals could hardly believe their eyes when they peered over the trenches toward the Southern lines. There below them the startled Union troopers saw a black V-shaped barrier which had not been there the night before. Furthermore, the thing was moving up the hill toward them.

They fired at the ever-advancing line but with no effect. They called for the artillery, but the shells merely rocked the segments of the line. Hot shots bounced off, too.

This moving barrier, like a snake crawling sideways, was a line of hemp bales, previously dunked in the Missouri River and propelled by crowbars in the hands of enterprising Confederates, perspiring in safety behind their impromptu breastworks.

The Federals were nearly whipped anyway and about the time the hemp bales appeared white flags began to flutter on the perimeter of the Union lines against Mulligan's orders.

But the Federal cause was lost and Mulligan gave in.

Mulligan did not know it at the time, but Brig. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis, the man who conducted the retreat from Wilson's Creek with what was left of Brig. Gen. Nathaniel Lyon's army, was only 15 miles away. Another 3,300 Union troops were within striking distance of Lexington, but communications were so bad they never got together.

The Confederates demanded an unconditional surrender. Mulligan agreed — reluctantly. After he and his men marched out of their improvised fort. Price served a champagne dinner for Mulligan and his officers.

The loot falling to the Confederates was considerable — the army, 1,000 horses (hungry and thirsty), five pieces of artillery, 100 wagons and 3,000 muskets.

Not the least of the spoils was a large sum of money Mulligan had taken from the State Bank of Lexington under orders to transport it to St. Louis for safe keeping. He buried it under his tent — $960,159.60, $165,659.60 of it in gold the rest in notes of the bank. Price recovered all the gold, but $15,000 of the bank notes were missing.

PRISONERS PAROLED

All the Union prisoners were paroled except Mulligan. He and his 19-year-old bride, who had witnessed the fight from the town, were taken South in Price's private carriage and treated, Mrs. Mulligan reported later, with utmost courtesy. Mulligan, a Chicago politician, was exchanged October 30 and became something of a hero in the North despite his surrender.

His misfortune and that of Lyon at Wilson's Creek were laid to the military incompetency of Gen. Fremont, who at the time was feuding with the administration. Fremont's enemies made the most of it.

Mulligan went to a command in West Virginia and was killed in the battle of Winchester in 1864.

The Winans steam gun, conceived during the Civil War, was a crude forerunner of the self-propelled gun of modern times.

John Wilkes Booth, as assassin of President Lincoln, first saw his quarry in Albany, N.Y., Feb. 18, 1861. Booth, then 22, was playing a role at the Green St. Gayety Theater in Albany during a visit Lincoln made to the city on his way to the inauguration in Washington.

The first Union gun in the Civil War was fired at Ft. Barrancas at Pensacola, Fla., the night of Jan. 8, 1861.

When Varina Anne Howell, 17 and pretty, first met Jefferson Davis, she wrote home to her mother: "Would you believe it, he is refined and cultivated and yet he is a Democrat."

The Sat of the West, the ill-fated ship which tried to supply Ft. Sumter, was seized by the Confederates at Indianola, Tex., three months after the Sumter episode and turned into a receiving ship at New Orleans.

4500 Invitations To Join SAMO Mailed In Monroe

Some 4500 invitations to join the Southwide Association of Municipal Officials were mailed to Southern municipalities from City Hall here yesterday.

Mayor W. L. Howard, president of SAMO, said the mailing was the first official move the association has made to get members since the Memphis organizational meeting in August.

Thirty municipalities have sent in their dues without being solicited.

"In my opinion it'll be five or six months before we have enough money on hand to set up an office and employ a full-time director," Howard said.

The board will decide where the office will be located, but Howard said more than likely it will be established in Washington where a staff can keep tabs on legislation.

"We're going to need about $25,000 before we can really be in business," he said. "It'll take that much to staff an office with a director."

Even after that he said the organization would need about a year before the "strength of the association" can be built.

"Once the strength of the organization is built, then we can adopt a definite program of action, which will represent the thinking of the Southern conservative," Howard said.

Georgia, Virginia and North Carolina are the only Southern states that aren't represented in SAMO at present.

BARRIER MOVES

On the morning of the 20th the Federals could hardly believe their eyes when they peered over the trenches toward the Southern lines. There below them the startled Union troopers saw a black V-shaped barrier which had not been there the night before. Furthermore, the thing was moving up the hill toward them.

They fired at the ever-advancing line but with no effect. They called for the artillery, but the shells merely rocked the segments of the line. Hot shots bounced off, too.

This moving barrier, like a snake crawling sideways, was a line of hemp bales, previously dunked in the Missouri River and propelled by crowbars in the hands of enterprising Confederates, perspiring in safety behind their impromptu breastworks.

The Federals were nearly whipped anyway and about the time the hemp bales appeared white flags began to flutter on the perimeter of the Union lines against Mulligan's orders.

But the Federal cause was lost and Mulligan gave in.

Mulligan did not know it at the time, but Brig. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis, the man who conducted the retreat from Wilson's Creek with what was left of Brig. Gen. Nathaniel Lyon's army, was only 15 miles away. Another 3,300 Union troops were within striking distance of Lexington, but communications were so bad they never got together.

The Confederates demanded an unconditional surrender. Mulligan agreed — reluctantly. After he and his men marched out of their improvised fort. Price served a champagne dinner for Mulligan and his officers.

The loot falling to the Confederates was considerable — the army, 1,000 horses (hungry and thirsty), five pieces of artillery, 100 wagons and 3,000 muskets.

Not the least of the spoils was a large sum of money Mulligan had taken from the State Bank of Lexington under orders to transport it to St. Louis for safe keeping. He buried it under his tent — $960,159.60, $165,659.60 of it in gold the rest in notes of the bank. Price recovered all the gold, but $15,000 of the bank notes were missing.

PRISONERS PAROLED

All the Union prisoners were paroled except Mulligan. He and his 19-year-old bride, who had witnessed the fight from the town, were taken South in Price's private carriage and treated, Mrs. Mulligan reported later, with utmost courtesy. Mulligan, a Chicago politician, was exchanged October 30 and became something of a hero in the North despite his surrender.

His misfortune and that of Lyon at Wilson's Creek were laid to the military incompetency of Gen. Fremont, who at the time was feuding with the administration. Fremont's enemies made the most of it.

Mulligan went to a command in West Virginia and was killed in the battle of Winchester in 1864.

The Winans steam gun, conceived during the Civil War, was a crude forerunner of the self-propelled gun of modern times.

John Wilkes Booth, as assassin of President Lincoln, first saw his quarry in Albany, N.Y., Feb. 18, 1861. Booth, then 22, was playing a role at the Green St. Gayety Theater in Albany during a visit Lincoln made to the city on his way to the inauguration in Washington.

The first Union gun in the Civil War was fired at Ft. Barrancas at Pensacola, Fla., the night of Jan. 8, 1861.

When Varina Anne Howell, 17 and pretty, first met Jefferson Davis, she wrote home to her mother: "Would you believe it, he is refined and cultivated and yet he is a Democrat."

4500 Invitations To Join SAMO Mailed In Monroe

Some 4500 invitations to join the Southwide Association of Municipal Officials were mailed to Southern municipalities from City Hall here yesterday.

Mayor W. L. Howard, president of SAMO, said the mailing was the first official move the association has made to get members since the Memphis organizational meeting in August.

Thirty municipalities have sent in their dues without being solicited.

"In my opinion it'll be five or six months before we have enough money on hand to set up an office and employ a full-time director," Howard said.

The board will decide where the office will be located, but Howard said more than likely it will be established in Washington where a staff can keep tabs on legislation.

"We're going to need about $25,000 before we can really be in business," he said. "It'll take that much to staff an office with a director."

Even after that he said the organization would need about a year before the "strength of the association" can be built.

"Once the strength of the organization is built, then we can adopt a definite program of action, which will represent the thinking of the Southern conservative," Howard said.

Georgia, Virginia and North Carolina are the only Southern states that aren't represented in SAMO at present.

Leesville Prosperity

Residents of the Leesville and Fort Polk, La., area are probably thinking with some satisfaction of the truth of a couple of old maxims, which state "every cloud has a silver lining" and "it's an ill wind that blows nobody good." Because of the war scare deliberately promoted by Russia, prosperity soon will return to an area which is said to have been suffering from one of the worst employment situations in the nation.

Leesville and Fort Polk have had some extreme ups and downs, brought about by military activity or the lack of it. Right now they seem to be headed for an "up" that may carry them to a new peak of prosperity.

This will all come about because of the reactivation of Fort Polk. Reactivation was declared as of August 14 but the really beneficial effects won't get into full swing until October.

According to an announcement by Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr, Jr., the post will begin receiving trainees for basic combat and advanced individual training in October.

Fort Polk will be the second army training center to be established following the decision of President Kennedy to increase the size and combat capability of the army. Earlier, it was announced that an army training center at Fort Carson, Colo., would become operational in September.

Polk was selected because of its excellent range facilities for a wide variety of weapons, an excellent tank and armored vehicle training area, a large maneuver area adjacent to the post and excellent barracks facilities.

Some idea of how greatly business in the Leesville-Fort Polk area will be stimulated can be obtained from the announcement that the maximum training load at Fort Polk will be 14,000 soldiers. They will be trained and supported by a 5,000-man military and civilian force. It will be recalled that many mercantile and service establishments in Monroe and West Monroe did rushing businesses during World War II when some 6,000 air force men were stationed at Selman Field. It can be imagined what an almost 20,000 man training, military and civilian force will do for the suffering Leesville-Fort Polk area.

Fort Polk was established as an armored division training center in 1941 and was inactivated in 1946. It was reactivated to support the Korean War buildup in 1950 and was inactivated on June 30, 1959. It has been used as a maneuver area for active army forces and for summer training for national guard and reserve units. Before the announced reactivation, there were small detachments of active army personnel who assisted in summer training and a small maintenance staff at Fort Polk.

When the one-time giant military installation in the western central part of the state was shut down in 1959, the area suffered an economic depression. This had been anticipated and many Louisiana officials used all their efforts to prevent deactivation, arguing that the fort could be used to good advantage for training even at a time when there was no threat of war.

The present situation seems to indicate that those arguments may have been at least partly correct. Whether the two or three-year shutdown justified the situation that followed, in view of the fact that Russia never ceased to conduct a cold war, is debatable.

Regardless of how that may be, the outlook in the Leesville-Fort Polk area is shining brightly again as the people look forward to the return of prosperity.

During the time of their coming prosperity, it might be wise for the leaders of that area to take steps toward obtaining permanent industries, so that if the fort is deactivated again the residents will not be deprived entirely of economic resources.

Trying Hitler Theory

Officials of the Kennedy administration are trying a theory advocated by the late dictator Adolf Hitler of Germany. Hitler said a statement, repeated often enough and loud enough, would be believed even though untrue. The administration is using what Sylvia Porter, noted economics columnist, calls the "open mouth" policy. It is trying to talk industry into believing it can keep on boosting wages indefinitely without increasing prices.

Of course, all this propaganda is completely untrue. Furthermore, the administration won't be able to convince industry that it is true, at least not for long, because all industries of any importance keep a set of books and when these books show they are spending more than they are taking in they know they can't stay in business long.

The federal government is the only institution or organization that can keep on throwing away more and more money and still stay in business. The reason it can do that is that it keeps hitting the people for more and more taxes. If business and industry could go out and levy a tax on the people every time wages and other expenses exceed income they would be able to stay in business in the same way the federal government does.

What the government is trying to do right now is to scare business and industry out of raising prices because of government sponsored increases in wages. It becomes a question of whether these businesses are more afraid of having the government put thumbscrews on them or of going broke. Either way, the outlook is not good for industry and not good for the people as a whole.

For weeks, as Miss Porter points out, there has been a rising crescendo of government warnings, addressed mainly to the steel industry, but meant for all major industries, against raising prices and starting a new price spiral.

The steel companies are the key target because, as of October 1, they must grant a pay hike automatically provided for under the present wage contract. Then companies have long made it clear that this may well trigger their first price boost since 1958. Capitol Hill's campaign against this suggested price boost has been unprecedented in many ways, both in form and scope.

What the government wants is price control. It is sponsoring a bill to compel public hearings before price increases become effective in strategic industries.

Behind all of this pressure is a desire to make industry capitulate so that the government can seize all major industries and turn this nation into a fully socialized country. It figures it can assure industrial collapse by forcing wage increases and refusing price increases.

People everywhere should rise up against this un-American attempt to kill private industry and to surrender our country to socialism.

Nuclear Warhead On Moon

This Sensational Blast Will Be Next Stage In Kremlin's Program To Put Man On Moon By 1965

Russia's test firings of more powerful and improved rockets into the central Pacific are only a preview of things to come.

The Soviets will try to hit the moon with a nuclear warhead in the near future.

This sensational blast will be the next stage in the Kremlin's program to put a man on the moon by 1965 — or from two to five years ahead of the U.S.

Stages III and IV, which are next on the Soviet moon schedule according to information in the hands of Representative Chet Holifield D., Calif., chairman of the Joint Senate-House Atomic Committee, are probes to study the moon's surface structure.

Stage III forecasts a rocket hitting the moon with a nuclear warhead during 1961. The purpose is to make possible a spectroscopic analysis of the elements which compose the moon's surface.

In Stage IV (1961-1962) it is proposed to hit the moon again with a nuclear warhead and bring the lunar substance ejected by the explosion back to earth by means of a space vehicle.

Stage V (1962-1963) contemplates the landing on the moon, by means of rockets directed from the earth, an automatic laboratory.

Stage VI (1963-1965) is to provide the grand climax of the Soviet program, as man is to oribt the moon and finally land on its surface.

ON SCHEDULE — Representative Holifield, who is circulating this timetable, is telling committee members that he believes the Soviets are keeping close to their schedule.

For instance, he points out that stages I and II of the program, as outlined in the timetable, were completed as originally planned. Stage I (1959) called for a solar or cosmic rocket probe. This was accomplished on January 2, 1959.

In Stage II (1959-1960) the Soviets were to launch satellites which would orbit both the moon and earth. Finally, such a satellite would photograph the far side of the moon. Another operation called for hitting the moon with a rocket containing special luminous dye.

On September 12, 1959, the Soviets hit the moon with a rocket, and on October 4, 1959, they sent a satellite into orbit around the moon and photographed the far side.

Data received by Holifield establishes conclusively that Soviet scientists have the technical capacity to send a hydrogen bomb to the moon and fire it there.

The Atomic Energy Commission is taking the likelihood of Soviet nuclear testing on the moon so seriously that it is studying counter - measures. Working with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the AEC is making a study of the feasibility of a satellite - based system for detection of nuclear - explosions outside the atmosphere.

Note: Soviet scientists, attending the Seventh annual conference on Science and World Affairs in Vermont, vetoed feelers by a group of U. S. scientists for a joint U. S.-USSR moon program. The reason: The Soviets are too far ahead.

BEHIND BAMBOO CURTAIN— Here are some additional details on the secret Chinese - Soviet atomic testing grounds being built on the great Plateau of Tibet, that was revealed in this column on September 7.

Test installations, including more than 30 steel towers, are located in the Chang Tang district (or province) at:

And, 68.5 milometers West of Mam, lat. 35 degrees 50 minutes N and long. 89 degrees 12 minutes E.

All persons, except for the army of Chinese Communist workers employed on the project, have been cleared from the area in preparation for a series of atomic tests to be held later this year.

These details of nuclear test preparations by the Chinese Reds are now being studied by the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The information came from reliable Japanese sources with contacts on the China mainland.

CAPITOL HILL — Acting - Speaker John McCormack, D., Mass., is shooting for adjournment of Congress by September 23 unless the Berlin crisis grows worse. Before quitting, McCormack plans to push through the House the President's foreign aid budget; new disarmament agency; a postal rate increase; and legislation that will permit the U. S. to train French forces in the use of atomic weapons. Representative Howard Smith, D., Va., chairman of the powerful House Rules Committee, has promised to clear all of these measures to the House floor . . . Still in doubt is a bill to increase the House membership. Congressional sources report that Paul Corbin, wisecracking buddy of Attorney General Robert Kennedy, will be eased out as special Assistant to Chairman John Bailey at the Democratic National Committee. This promise came from Bailey after a Midwest congressman, a Democrat, threatened to take the House floor to fire a new blast at Corbin.

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Psychiatric Help

Woman Takes Doctor To Task For Not Advising Treatment

Today's letter should be of interest to doctors and patients. Apparently this reader has been helped by psychiatric treatment and pulls no punches in trying to drive home her point. See if you agree.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Your reply to "Mrs. X." who suffers from chronic anxiety is really disappointing to me — and I am hale and hearty.

You wrote in part: "All I can suggest is she hold on. Even though the pills don't seem to help, at least she has a friend in her family doctor." Egad! This is 1961 — not 1861, Dr. Peter. Is this family doctor her friend? With friends like these, who needs enemies?

Surely, Dr. Steincrohn, you know that psychiatry is her best hope. You must have seen patients helped by psychiatry who could not be helped by regular practitioners of medicine. You can't, I'm sure, number yourself among those who believe it shameful and an admission of weakness to seek psychiatric help. Then why, pray, did you fail to mention the help of psychiatry to Mrs. X.?

Dr. S., I have long been an admirer of yours, but here we part company. Simply because you did not underline the importance of psychiatry. In Mrs. X.'s letter I recognized a desperate cry for help.

Too many sufferers wait for their medical doctors to recommend psychiatric therapy — while the family doctor is actually standing in the way of getting help they need by his failure to refer them to a psychiatrist. He procrastinates, I suppose, because he doesn't want the patient to think he thinks the patient is "crazy." The patient waits and waits for help. None comes. In this pitiful stalemate the patient suffers, his spouse suffers, his children suffer, homes are broken, and suicide statistics increase.

Severe emotional disturbances and those not so severe are not properly the concern of medical doctors. There is hope for such sufferers through psychiatry. Please, Dr. P. J. S., let your column be a channel to this hope. Sincerely, Mrs. B.

Comment: I agree, Mrs. B., that the doctor should ask for psychiatric help early if needed. Often, however, the problem is one intensified by the patient or his family. It is usually the family doctor who suggests psychiatry only to find stubborn resistance by the family.

I think there's one point each of us agrees on: when emotional storms begin to engulf the patient and his family, we should look for psychiatric help early to forestall tragedy.

CORONARY PATIENTS AND WORK

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My husband is 44 and had an attack of coronary thrombosis over three months ago. Although he has no symptoms, he is afraid to return to his work as office manager in a small company that doesn't require much physical work. Neither the doctor nor I can seem to persuade him. May I have your opinion? Mrs. D.

Comment: Some patients do not recover completely after an attack. Either they have angina or some other form of heart failure. Such people should not be forced back into work they can't handle.

However, so many (like your husband) develop undue anxiety after an attack of coronary thrombosis, even after complete recovery. They resign themselves to inactivity for the rest of their lives. It's the doctors job to treat this apprehension with sympathy and understanding. It takes time to straighten it out.

Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Saturday, Sept. 16, the 259th day of the year with 106 to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1940, President Franklin Roosevelt signed the Burke-Wadsworth Selective Training and Service Act into law. It provided for the registration and eventual conscription of all able-bodied men between the ages of 21 and 35.

In 1945, British warships fired a 21-gun salute as the Japanese surrendered the crown colony of Hong Kong.

A thought for today: French playwright Jean Moliere said: "Doubts are more cruel than the worst of truths."

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Crime Increases

Offenses Among Young People Mount Despite More Advantages

It is difficult to explain why crime increases in the United States. Year after year, J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, reports the increase, particularly among young people. The first six months of 1961 showed an increase of seven per cent over the same period in 1960. Although there is a reduction in rape cases, there has been an increase in all other crimes.

It hardly matters if the rate of increase is not as great in one year as it is in another. The fact that there has been an increase at all is indicative of a failure of preventive police work.

Does increased crime have any relationship to increased poverty? There is no evidence that crime increases in bad years. As a matter of fact, crime has been steadily increasing in the United States, regardless of booms. New York City is an example of increased crime despite the fact that there are no depressed conditions in this city. For instance during the first six months of 1960, there were 18,147 burglaries in New York; during the same period in 1961, the same crimes numbered 18,726. Similarly, larcenies $50 and over amounted to 25,443 in the 1960 period but increased to 27,526 in 1961. Other cities, particularly such large ones as Los Angeles, showed a marked increase.

The question arises as to why these increases occur. Today, young people have more opportunities for decent organized communal relationships than they had, for instance, in my youth. Boys Clubs, Boy Scout groups, social settlements are available for them now. In many cities, the police have organized PAL groups which give boys an adequate outlet for their activities. Churches have all sorts of youth groups and youth activities; play areas are attached to schools.

What is the essential problem? Is it perhaps that we keep certain children in schools beyond their capacity for organized learning? Does boredom force them to break out into adventures which have criminal activities? Unless a young person is interested in French irregular verbs and biological drawings, what is he doing in such classes?

The theory is that a set curriculum disciplines the mind and the character. But is not such a discipline offset by the frightful boredom of doing what has no interest and no purpose for them? Parents say that all children must go to high school or even to college. Personnel managers will not even look at an applicant unless he can produce some kind of diploma. So what becomes of the bright fast-minded young fellow who cannot discover the difference between X and Y and who wonders who cares?

He has no intention of building an atom bomb or discovering the shortest route to the moon. All he wants out of life is a decent job, a nice wife, a couple of pretty kids and a glass of beer to go with the hamburgers. He does not want to be a politician of any kind; he does not even want to be president of the United States. There are such people—millions of them. They ask little of life and they wonder why anybody wants to force them to know the difference between Aristotle and Plato.

In fact, I received a letter recently from a university graduate who takes me to task for using words which he does not understand (dictionaries are inexpensive) and who complains about references to persons about whom he never hears, such as Isidore of Seville whom he suspects of being a Jew (an encyclopedia is not too expensive). He would prefer me to be as ignorant as he is, although we both, he says, studied at the same university.

Ignorance may be a virtue in what is called a democracy but it is not essential. It used to be that a man whose trousers were properly creased could not be elected to public office because he was a dude. To be a real man, a politician had to stink of foul tobacco, rotting whiskey, unwashed teeth—he smelled like a man. Then along came Listerine, Lavoris and similar institutions which made the stink unpopular. Even his best friend would not tell him, but his wife did and he changed his ways.

So ignorance is no longer necessary or desirable. On the other hand, there is no social advantage in forcing young people to be bored by intellectual work beyond their capacity. Perhaps they would do better reading Sokolsky than Shakespeare.

SYLVIA PORTER

Big Talk Spree

Government Trying To Scare Industry Out Of Price Raises

Washington's policy - makers are on the offensive — trying to talk (translation: scare) critically important industries out of raising prices during these months of quickening economic activity.

Industrial leaders in fields ranging from steel to bread, from autos to cement, are on the defensive — trying to protect or enhance their profit margins by raising prices where they think raises are needed and will stick and to make it clear to America's consumers and lawmakers that the increases are necessary.

You and I are on the outside looking in — but what's at stake here is of the most profound meaning to all of us. For the results of this "game" in this period will help determine how much our dollar's buying power shrinks, how tough and expensive it becomes to borrow money, how the price - wage rules under which we operate are altered.

For weeks, there has been a rising crescendo of warnings, addressed mainly to the steel industry but meant for all major industries against raising prices and starting a new price spiral. The steel companies are the key target because as of Oct. 1 they must grant a pay hike automatically provided for under the present wage contract, and the companies have long made it clear that this well may trigger their first price boost since 1958. Washington's campaign against this price boost — if and when — has been in many ways unprecedented in scope and form.

A group of Democratic senators led off in mid - August with a plain threat to the steel companies that if they do hike prices next month, they may invite charges under the anti - trust laws or regulations that exist in "other fields characterized by monopoly" and-or strong support for a bill to compel public hearings before price increases become effective in strategic industries. The president's Council of Economic Advisers moved into the picture to supply statistics to the senators and others to indicate the steel companies could absorb the higher wages without hiking prices and still earn comfortable profits.

President Kennedy came in next with a careful answer to a question planted at his press conference in which he urged the steelmakers to consider "public interests" and he followed this with a direct appeal by letter to the heads of 12 top steel companies saying that price increases now not only could have the most "grave consequences" but also hinting that if the steelmakers forego price hikes, the administration will put pressure on the steelworkers next year to forego inflationary wage demands. The Federal Reserve has joined the act too with comments from "informed sources" to the effect that higher steel prices might set off a chain of developments leading to higher interest rates and restrictions on credit.

Wow! How have the steelmakers and other industrialists reacted to this "Open Mouth" attack? By keeping their mouths shut more tightly than in the past. Answers by the steel companies to the president's letter have been noncommittal. Other industrialists have in private indicated deep resentment at the campaign but in public they're being more discreet about when and how they'll boost prices.

What, then, is the probable outcome of this approach? One answer is that "Open Mouth" — or "moral suasion" — hasn't been spectacularly successful in the past and it's not likely to be in the present, barring a great emergency.

The campaign may moderate the price hikes and businessmen will unquestionably do their utmost to hide the increases — which they can do in a lot of ways. But a rising price trend is the outlook nonetheless.

Leesville Prosperity

Residents of the Leesville and Fort Polk, La., area are probably thinking with some satisfaction of the truth of a couple of old maxims. which state "every cloud has a silver lining" and "it's an ill wind that blows nobody good." Because of the war scare deliberately promoted by Russia, prosperity soon will return to an area which is said to have been suffering from one of the worst employment situations in the nation.

Leesville and Fort Polk have had some extreme ups and downs, brought about by military activity or the lack of it. Right now they seem to be headed for an "up" that may carry them to a new peak of prosperity.

This will all come about because of the reactivation of Fort Polk. Reactivation was declared as of August 14 but the really beneficial effects won't get into full swing until October.

According to an announcement by Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr, Jr., the post will begin receiving trainees for basic combat and advanced individual training in October.

Fort Polk will be the second army training center to be established following the decision of President Kennedy to increase the size and combat capability of the army. Earlier, it was announced that an army training center at Fort Caron, Colo., would become operational in September.

Polk was selected because of its excellent range facilities for a wide variety of weapons, an excellent tank and armored vehicle training area, a large maneuver area adjacent to the post and excellent barracks facilities.

Some idea of how greatly business in the Leesville-Fort Polk area will be stimulated can be obtained from the announcement that the maximum training load at Fort Polk will be 14,000 soldiers. They will be trained and supported by a 5,000-man military and civilian force. It will be recalled that many mercantile and service establishments in Monroe and West Monroe did rushing businesses during World War II when some 6,000 air force men were stationed at Selman Field. It can be imagined what an almost 20,000 man training, military and civilian force will do for the suffering Leesville-Fort Polk area.

Fort Polk was established as an armored division training center in 1941 and was inactivated in 1946. It was reactivated to support the Korean War buildup in 1950 and was inactivated on June 30, 1959. It has been used as a maneuver area for active army forces and for summer training for national guard and reserve units. Before the announced reactivation, there were small detachments of active army personnel who assisted in summer training and a small maintenance staff at Fort Polk.

When the one-time giant military installation in the western central part of the state was shut down in 1959, the area suffered an economic depression. This had been anticipated and many Louisiana officials used all their efforts to prevent deactivation, arguing that the fort could be used to good advantage for training even at a time when there was no threat of war.

The present situation seems to indicate that those arguments may have been at least partly correct. Whether the two or three-year shutdown justified the situation that followed, in view of the fact that Russia never ceased to conduct a cold war, is debatable.

Regardless of how that may be, the outlook in the Leesville-Fort Polk area is shining brightly again as the people look forward to the return of prosperity.

During the time of their coming prosperity, it might be wise for the leaders of that area to take steps toward obtaining permanent industries, so that if the fort is deactivated again the residents will not be deprived entirely of economic resources.

Trying Hitler Theory

Officials of the Kennedy administration are trying a theory advocated by the late dictator Adolf Hitler of Germany. Hitler said a statement, repeated often enough and loud enough, would be believed even though untrue. The administration is using what Sylvia Porter, noted economics columnist, calls the "open mouth" policy. It is trying to talk industry into believing it can keep on boosting wages indefinitely without increasing prices.

Of course, all this propaganda is completely untrue. Furthermore, the administration won't be able to convince industry that it is true, at least not for long, because all industries of any importance keep a set of books and when these books show they are spending more than they are taking in they know they can't stay in business long.

The federal government is the only institution or organization that can keep on throwing away more and more money and still stay in business. The reason it can do that is that it keeps hitting the people for more and more taxes. If business and industry could go out and levy a tax on the people every time wages and other expenses exceed income they would be able to stay in business in the same way the federal government does.

What the government is trying to do right now is to scare business and industry out of raising prices because of government sponsored increases in wages. It becomes a question of whether these businesses are more afraid of having the government put thumbscrews on them or of going broke. Either way, the outlook is not good for industry and not good for the people as a whole.

For weeks, as Miss Porter points out, there has been a rising crescendo of government warnings, addressed mainly to the steel industry, but meant for all major industries, against raising prices and starting a new price spiral.

The steel companies are the key target because, as of October 1, they must grant a pay hike automatically provided for under the present wage contract. Then companies have long made it clear that this may well trigger their first price boost since 1958. Capitol Hill's campaign against this suggested price boost has been unprecedented in many ways, both in form and scope.

What the government wants is price control. It is sponsoring a bill to compel public hearings before price increases become effective in strategic industries.

Behind all of this pressure is a desire to make industry capitulate so that the government can seize all major industries and turn this nation into a fully socialized country. It figures it can assure industrial collapse by forcing wage increases and refusing price increases.

People everywhere should rise up against this un-American attempt to kill private industry and to surrender our country to socialism.

Nuclear Warhead On Moon

This Sensational Blast Will Be Next Stage In Kremlin's Program To Put Man On Moon By 1965

Russia's test firings of more powerful and improved rockets into the central Pacific are only a preview of things to come.

The Soviets will try to hit the moon with a nuclear warhead in the near future.

This sensational blast will be the next stage in the Kremlin's program to put a man on the moon by 1965 — or from two to five years ahead of the U.S.

Stages III and IV, which are next on the Soviet moon schedule according to information in the hands of Representative Chet Holifield D., Calif., chairman of the Joint Senate-House Atomic Committee, are probes to study the moon's surface structure.

Stage III forecasts a rocket hitting the moon with a nuclear warhead during 1961. The purpose is to make possible a spectroscopic analysis of the elements which compose the moon's surface.

In Stage IV (1961-1962) it is proposed to hit the moon again with a nuclear warhead and bring the lunar substance ejected by the explosion back to earth by means of a space vehicle.

Stage V (1962-1963) contemplates the landing on the moon, by means of rockets directed from the earth, an automatic laboratory.

Stage VI (1963-1965) is to provide the grand climax of the Soviet program, as man is to oribt the moon and finally land on its surface.

ON SCHEDULE — Representative Holifield, who is circulating this timetable, is telling committee members that he believes the Soviets are keeping close to their schedule.

For instance, he points out that stages I and II of the program, as outlined in the timetable, were completed as originally planned. Stage I (1959) called for a solar or cosmic rocket probe. This was accomplished on January 2, 1959.

In Stage II (1959-1960) the Soviets were to launch satellites which would orbit both the moon and earth. Finally, such a satellite would photograph the far side of the moon. Another operation called for hitting the moon with a rocket containing special luminous dye.

On September 12, 1959, the Soviets hit the moon with a rocket, and on October 4, 1959, they sent a satellite into orbit around the moon and photographed the far side.

Data received by Holifield establishes conclusively that Soviet scientists have the technical capacity to send a hydrogen bomb to the moon and fire it there.

The Atomic Energy Commission is taking the likelihood of Soviet nuclear testing on the moon so seriously that it is studying counter-measures. Working with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the AEC is making a study of the feasibility of a satellite-based system for detection of nuclear-explosions outside the atmosphere.

Note: Soviet scientists, attending the Seventh annual conference on Science and World Affairs in Vermont, vetoed feelers by a group of U. S. scientists for a joint U. S.-USSR moon program. The reason. The Soviets are too far ahead.

BEHIND BAMBOO CURTAIN— Here are some additional details on the secret Chinese-Soviet atomic testing grounds being built on the great Plateau of Tibet, that was revealed in this column on September 7.

Test installations, including more than 30 steel towers, are located in the Chang Tang district (or province) at:

And, 68.5 milometers West of Mani, lat. 35 degrees 50 minutes N and long. 89 degrees 12 minutes E.

All persons, except for the army of Chinese Communist workers employed on the project, have been cleared from the area in preparation for a series of atomic tests to be held later this year.

These details of nuclear test preparations by the Chinese Reds are now being studied by the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The information came from reliable Japanese sources with contacts on the China mainland.

CAPITOL HILL — Acting-Speaker John McCormack, D., Mass., is shooting for adjournment of Congress by September 23 unless the Berlin crisis grows worse. Before quitting, McCormack plans to push through the House the President's foreign aid budget; new disarmament agency; a postal rate increase; and legislation that will permit the U. S. to train French forces in the use of atomic weapons. Representative Howard Smith, D., Va., chairman of the powerful House Rules Committee, has promised to clear all of these measures to the House floor . . . Still in doubt is a bill to increase the House membership. Congressional sources report that Paul Corbin, wisecracking buddy of Attorney General Robert Kennedy, will be eased out as special Assistant to Chairman John Bailey at the Democratic National Committee. This promise came from Bailey after a Midwest congressman, a Democrat, threatened to take the House floor to fire a new blast at Corbin.

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Psychiatric Help

Woman Takes Doctor To Task For Not Advising Treatment

Today's letter should be of interest to doctors and patients. Apparently this reader has been helped by psychiatric treatment and pulls no punches in trying to drive home her point. See if you agree.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Your reply to "Mrs. X." who suffers from chronic anxiety is really disappointing to me — and I am hale and hearty.

You wrote in part: "All I can suggest is she hold on. Even though the pills don't seem to help, at least she has a friend in her family doctor." Egad! This is 1961 — not 1861, Dr. Peter Is this family doctor her friend? With friends like these, who needs enemies?

Surely, Dr. Steincrohn, you know that psychiatry is her best hope. You must have seen patients helped by psychiatry who could not be helped by regular practitioners of medicine. You can't, I'm sure, number yourself among those who believe it shameful and an admission of weakness to seek psychiatric help. Then why, pray, did you fail to mention the help of psychiatry to Mrs. X.?

Dr. S., I have long been an admirer of yours, but here we part company. Simply because you did not underline the importance of psychiatry. In Mrs. X.'s letter I recognized a desperate cry for help.

Too many sufferers wait for their medical doctors to recommend psychiatric therapy — while the family doctor is actually standing in the way of getting help they need by his failure to refer them to a psychiatrist. He procrastinates, I suppose, because he doesn't want the patient to think he thinks the patient is "crazy." The patient waits and waits for help. None comes. In this pitiful stalemate the patient suffers, his spouse suffers, his children suffer, homes are broken, and suicide statistics increase.

Severe emotional disturbances and those not so severe are not properly the concern of medical doctors. There is hope for such sufferers through psychiatry. Please, Dr. P. J. S., let your column be a channel to this hope. Sincerely, Mrs. B.

Comment: I agree, Mrs. B., that the doctor should ask for psychiatric help early if needed. Often, however, the problem is one intensified by the patient or his family. It is usually the family doctor who suggests psychiatry only to find stubborn resistance by the family.

I think there's one point each of us agrees on: when emotional storms begin to engulf the patient and his family, we should look for psychiatric help early to forestall tragedy.

CORONARY PATIENTS AND WORK

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My husband is 44 and had an attack of coronary thrombosis over three months ago. Although he has no symptoms, he is afraid to return to his work as office manager in a small company that doesn't require much physical work. Neither the doctor nor I can seem to persuade him. May I have your opinion? Mrs. D.

Comment: Some patients do not recover completely after an attack. Either they have angina or some other form of heart failure. Such people should not be forced back into work they can't handle.

However, so many (like your husband) develop undue anxiety after an attack of coronary thrombosis, even after complete recovery. They resign themselves to inactivity for the rest of their lives. It's the doctors job to treat this apprehension with sympathy and understanding. It takes time to straighten it out.

Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Saturday, Sept. 16, the 259th day of the year with 106 to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1940, President Franklin Roosevelt signed the Burke-Wadsworth Selective Training and Service Act into law. It provided for the registration and eventual conscription of all able-bodied men between the ages of 21 and 35.

In 1945, British warships fired a 21-gun salute as the Japanese surrendered the crown colony of Hong Kong.

A thought for today: French playwright Jean Moliere said: "Doubts are more cruel than the worst of truths."

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Crime Increases

Offenses Among Young People Mount Despite More Advantages

It is difficult to explain why crime increases in the United States. Year after year, J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, reports the increase, particularly among young people. The first six months of 1961 showed an increase of seven per cent over the same period in 1960. Although there is a reduction in rape cases, there has been an increase in all other crimes.

It hardly matters if the rate of increase is not as great in one year as it is in another. The fact that there has been an increase at all is indicative of a failure of preventive police work.

Does increased crime have any relationship to increased poverty? There is no evidence that crime increases in bad years. As a matter of fact, crime has been steadily increasing in the United States, regardless of booms. New York City is an example of increased crime despite the fact that there are no depressed conditions in this city. For instance during the first six months of 1960, there were 18,147 burglaries in New York; during the same period in 1961, the same crimes numbered 18,726. Similarly, larcenies $50 and over amounted to 25,443 in the 1960 period but increased to 27,526 in 1961. Other cities, particularly such large ones as Los Angeles, showed a marked increase.

The question arises as to why these increases occur. Today, young people have more opportunities for decent organized communal relationships than they had, for instance, in my youth. Boys Clubs, Boy Scout groups, social settlements are available for them now. In many cities, the police have organized PAL groups which give boys an adequate outlet for their activities. Churches have all sorts of youth groups and youth activities; play areas are attached to schools.

What is the essential problem? Is it perhaps that we keep certain children in schools beyond their capacity for organized learning? Does boredom force them to break out into adventures which have criminal activities? Unless a young person is interested in French irregular verbs and biological drawings, what is he doing in such classes?

The theory is that a set curriculum disciplines the mind and the character. But is not such a discipline offset by the frightful boredom of doing what has no interest and no purpose for them? Parents say that all children must go to high school or even to college. Personnel managers will not even look at an applicant unless he can produce some kind of diploma. So what becomes of the bright fast-minded young fellow who cannot discover the difference between X and Y and who wonders who cares?

He has no intention of building an atom bomb or discovering the shortest route to the moon. All he wants out of life is a decent job, a nice wife, a couple of pretty kids and a glass of beer to go with the hamburgers. He does not want to be a politician of any kind; he does not even want to be president of the United States. There are such people—millions of them. They ask little of life and they wonder why anybody wants to force them to know the difference between Aristotle and Plato.

In fact, I received a letter recently from a university graduate who takes me to task for using words which he does not understand (dictionaries are inexpensive) and who complains about references to persons about whom he never hears, such as Isidore of Seville whom he suspects of being a Jew (an encyclopedia is not too expensive). He would prefer me to be as ignorant as he is, although we both, he says, studied at the same university.

Ignorance may be a virtue in what is called a democracy but it is not essential. It used to be that a man whose trousers were properly creased could not be elected to public office because he was a dude. To be a real man, a politician had to stink of foul tobacco, rotting whiskey, unwashed teeth—he smelled like a man. Then along came Listerine, Lavoris and similar institutions which made the stink unpopular. Even his best friend would not tell him, but his wife did and he changed his ways.

So ignorance is no longer necessary or desirable. On the other hand, there is no social advantage in forcing young people to be bored by intellectual work beyond their capacity. Perhaps they would do better reading Sokolsky than Shakespeare.

SYLVIA PORTER

Big Talk Spree

Government Trying To Scare Industry Out Of Price Raises

Washington's policy-makers are on the offensive — trying to talk (translation: scare) critically important industries out of raising prices during these months of quickening economic activity.

Industrial leaders in fields ranging from steel to bread, from autos to cement, are on the defensive — trying to protect or enhance their profit margins by raising prices where they think raises are needed and will stick and to make it clear to America's consumers and lawmakers that the increases are necessary.

You and I are on the outside looking in — but what's at stake here is of the most profound meaning to all of us. For the results of this "game" in this period will help determine how much our dollar's buying power shrinks, how tough and expensive it becomes to borrow money, how the price-wage rules under which we operate are altered.

For weeks, there has been a rising crescendo of warnings, addressed mainly to the steel industry but meant for all major industries against raising prices and starting a new price spiral. The steel companies are the key target because as of Oct. 1 they must grant a pay hike automatically provided for under the present wage contract, and the companies have long made it clear that this well may trigger their first price boost since 1958. Washington's campaign against this price boost — if and when — has been in many ways unprecedented in scope and form.

A group of Democratic senators led off in mid-August with a plain threat to the steel companies that if they do hike prices next month, they may invite charges under the anti-trust laws or regulations that exist in "other fields characterized by monopoly" and-or strong support for a bill to compel public hearings before price increases become effective in strategic industries. The president's Council of Economic Advisers moved into the picture to supply statistics to the senators and others to indicate the steel companies could absorb the higher wages without hiking prices and still earn comfortable profits.

President Kennedy came in next with a careful answer to a question planted at his press conference in which he urged the steelmakers to consider "public interests" and he followed this with a direct appeal by letter to the heads of 12 top steel companies saying that price increases now not only could have the most "grave consequences" but also hinting that if the steelmakers forego price hikes, the administration will put pressure on the steelworkers next year to forego inflationary wage demands. The Federal Reserve has joined the act too with comments from "informed sources" to the effect that higher steel prices might set off a chain of developments leading to higher interest rates and restrictions on credit.

Wow! How have the steelmakers and other industrialists reacted to this "Open Mouth" attack? By keeping their mouths shut more tightly than in the past. Answers by the steel companies to the president's letter have been noncommittal. Other industrialists have in private indicated deep resentment at the campaign but in public they're being more discreet about when and how they'll boost prices.

What, then, is the probable outcome of this approach? One answer is that "Open Mouth" — or "moral suasion" — hasn't been spectacularly successful in the past and it's not likely to be in the present, barring a great emergency.

The campaign may moderate the price hikes and businessmen will unquestionably do their utmost to hide the increases — which they can do in a lot of ways. But a rising price trend is the outlook nonetheless.

MAY HURT AT POLLS

Adenauer Makes Error On Crisis

BERLIN (UPI)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer guessed wrong on the Berlin crisis and the mistake may hurt him badly in Sunday's polling, his friends say.

For the first time, voters seem aware that the chancellor is 85 years old.

Adenauer's Christian Democrats say the main issue is whether they can hold their absolute majority in the federal parliament, and the chances of doing that are growing thinner with each day of the Berlin crisis.

The Christian Democrats believe they still will be the largest party in parliament, as they have been since 1949. But they may have less than the majority necessary to form a government on their own. This was also the case in 1949 and 1953.

Adenauer's supporters blame this situation primarily on what they feel was the chancellor's faulty reaction to the Communist sealing of the East-West Berlin border the morning of Aug. 13, and his bitter personal attacks on West Berlin Lord Mayor Willy Brandt since then.

Since the mid-1930's at least, when the Nazis banned him from public office and he had to haggle with Berlin buyers of the paintings he sold to support his family, Adenauer has disliked this city.

Adenauer stubbornly refused to come to Berlin to reassure the population after the border clampdown. Only on Aug. 15 did he call a cabinet meeting to discuss the Berlin situation. He preached calmness, saying there was no reason for panic.

Above all, he let Brandt — his Socialsit opponent in the federal elections—become the hero of the hour by writing President Kennedy to suggest the immediate dispatch of additional American troops to West Berlin, an action ordered a few hours later.

When Adenauer finally came to Berlin, it was two days after American Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. Even then, the chancellor remained for eight hours only.

Adenauer's friends say the chancellor's reaction to the Berlin crisis has convinced many voters he is too old to cope efficiently with the great problems of the day.

Carla Messy Compared To Audrey In '57

HOLLY BEACH, La. (AP) — Residents of Holly Beach were mopping up Friday with the almost unanimous opinion that Audrey was at least a neat and tidy hurricane.

In 1957, Hurricane Audrey made a clean sweep of this resort community 30 miles north of Lake Charles. Nothing was left—not a cabin, no road. There was only part of a gasoline pump sticking starkly in the sand to show where Holly Beach had been.

Hurricane Carla left an unsightly mess. Cabins were smashed, strewn by tornadic winds against each other. One cabin was left standing but with another cabin beneath. One cabin was found smashed but another alongside was untouched. An estimated 80 per cent of the 620 cabins were demolished or damaged.

The owners, who came from center, southern, and southwestern Louisiana to inspect the damage, decided that the destruction came from tornadoes spawned in the outer fringe of the storm, and was not caused by the hurricane itself.

Holly Beach has a permanent population of about 300, increasing during the summer to about 2,500.

The loss included a 1,000-foot fishing pier. A three-year-old blacktop road disappeared, leaving only sand and no hint there had ever been a road.

BOLIVIA ORDERS PROTEST

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Bolivia has ordered a protest to Argentina about the charges of cocaine-smuggling that led to the resignation Thursday of Vice Prseident Juan Lechin, the Foreign Office announced Friday.

The announcement said Bolivia's ambassador to Buenos Aires has been instructed to present a formal protest against the charges leveled at Lechin by Lt. Gov. Luis Guzman of Argentina's Salta Province.

OAS Probers Fly To Interior Of Dominican

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, D.R. (UPI)—A committee of the Organization of American States flew into the interior Friday to find out to what extent the Dominican peoples are throwing off the bonds of 32 years of dictatorship.

The OAS group led by deLesseps Morrison of the United States made the inspection trip in a U.S. Air Force DC3 sent here for its use from Ramey Air Force Base in Puerto Rico. The day's tour included Santiago, Moca, La Vega and Puerto Plata. Interviews were scheduled with government representatives and members of the opposition as well as some Roman Catholic church officials.

The acting OAS committee chairman, Eduardo Zuleta Angel of Colombia, remained here with Guillermo Escudero of Ecuador to continue the group's probe locally into what progress democracy has made in the Dominican Republic since the May assassination of the late strong man, Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo. The committee chairman, Augusto Arango of Panama returned to Washington Thursday for a few days.

Investigators Study Deaths Of 3 Infants

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Investigators Friday studied the deaths of three infants who were cared for by a 22-year-old baby sitter and said the case would be presented to a grand jury Tuesday.

They also checked into a report that another child left in the woman's care became seriously ill but recovered from what the sitter reported was an apparent gas leak.

Prosecutor Phillip L. Bayt and Dr. Dennis Nicholas, Marion County coroner, said the baby sitter told them she put her hand over the mouth of one 3-month-old infant "to keep it from crying" but denied that she was responsible for its death or that of the two other babies.

"The deaths of three babies in her care is getting a little too coincidental," Nicholas said.

The coroner pointed out, however, that the sitter's act of putting her hand over the baby's mouth was "not necessarily a malicious act — she may only have wanted not to awaken the parents."

Authorities did not reveal the identity of the baby sitter. They said, however, that she is white and lives with her mother and father.

One of the three dead Indianapolis children was Patrick Vincent, 3-month-old son of a policeman and his wife. The baby was found dead in his crib Monday and the father, Walter Vincent, called the coroner after questioning the sitter at length.

Coroner's investigator Leighton George said the child probably died of suffocation. A study of the baby's body, George said, showed fluid in the lungs which could have been caused by either pneumonia or suffocation.

Investigation disclosed that two other babies left in the woman's care died under similar circumstances, with pneumonia the apparent cause of death.

They were John Arthur Lowe Jr., 3-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lowe, and David Terhune, 9 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Terhune.

Robert Michael Kelly, 11-month-old son of Joseph E. Kelly, a former high school football coach, became ill several months ago while in the woman's care. Authorities said the baby sitter reported a gas leak but utility company workers found no leak when they checked the home.

First Lawsuits Of Term Filed In Court Here

In the first lawsuit, filed with the Ouachita Court Clerk Friday, James Andrew Strange, 21, of Caldwell Parish says he was permanently and totally disabled and disfigured when a car in which he was riding was hit by an IC train on January 21.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Whitlock of West Monroe ask $100,360 from Louisiana Power and Light, for the death of their son, Billy, 13, on April 18.

In a related suit also filed Friday Norman Myers is suing Louisiana Power and Light for $226 for himself and $12,500 for his son, Donald, 16, who was burned at the time Billy Whitlock was electrocuted.

Two States Up In Arms Over Movie

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—If there's another Civil War in this country it will be fought up around the Great Lakes.

Thanks to Hollywood the states involved in all probability will be Wisconsin and Michigan, normally peaceful neighbors who are up in arms over a new movie.

Like the man who fired the first shot at Ft. Sumter, director Martin Ritt touched off the fireworks by selecting location sites for Ernest Hemingway's "Young Man" in Wisconsin, when Hemingway definitely was writing about Michigan.

Michiganders, especially those in the vicinity of Hortons Bay, were outraged by Ritt's judgment and wrote him unhappy letters.

"What could I do?" the harried director asked. "We were looking for a town and area that could pass for the 1915 era. We couldn't find any in Michigan, so we had to settle for Wisconsin."

If you ask me, Ritt is asking for a blast from Wisconsinites, too.

His selection of Wisconsin might be misinterpreted to mean that the Dairy State is something less than up to date.

Most of the filming will be done in the town of Mellen, Wis. (pop. 11,900) representing Hemingway's home town of Oak Park, Ill., circa 1915.

Again, Ritt is skating on thin ice. Wait until Oak Park's chamber of commerce hears about this!

"Mellen was perfect for us," he said. "We've found old wooden and brick houses of the right period. If it weren't for television antennas, street lights and paved roads you could turn the clock back 50 years without much trouble.

"The city fathers have agreed to let us cover the streets with dirt and remove some of the street lights and antennas."

Ritt and his crew, including actors Richard Beymer, Paul Newman, Arthur Kennedy, Dan Dailey and Diane Baker, will make their headquarters in Ironwood, Mich.—probably to soothe injured feelings.

But just when Ritt seems to be getting ahead of the game he loses his sense of diplomacy.

"The scenery in both states is just about the same," he said. "Lots of trees and lakes.

"We're going to use the local people whenever possible for bit parts and backgrounds. And I can't see that it makes much difference if it's in Wisconsin or Michigan. The people don't look any different."

Mason Warns Against Left Wing Trends

Warning that liberals and socialists are trying to bury the American principle of free enterprise, William B. Shepherd of the Arkansas Power and Light Co. called for an all - out drive to halt socialism in the United States.

U. S. Congressman Otto E. Passman, Ouachita Area Scottish Rite Association president, arranged for Shepherd's appearance.

Someone has to work to provide everything that is given away by the government, the speaker pointed out.

Loss of freedom will result from complete government authority over all areas, he indicated:

"A man in jail has complete social security. But he also experiences a complete loss of freedom."

Here are the major points of Shepherd's address:

Liberalism, moral weakness, welfare and social security programs are eating away at the foundation of this nation.

Liberals and socialists are trying to replace individual initiative and free enterprise with idealistic theories that won't work.

Ministers, teachers, journalists, labor leaders, professional people, even businessmen — the traditional backbone of American concepts — are behind the socialistic trend.

"These people receive great respect and are listened to with trust." They think they have arrived at a "cure - all" for everything wrong, but don't make provision for practical facts.

Despite present great prosperity, the size of welfare rolls and "something for nothing" programs as staggering.

MAY HURT AT POLLS

Adenauer Makes Error On Crisis

BERLIN (UPI)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer guessed wrong on the Berlin crisis and the mistake may hurt him badly in Sunday's polling, his friends say.

For the first time, voters seem aware that the chancellor is 85 years old.

Adenauer's Christian Democrats say the main issue is whether they can hold their absolute majority in the federal parliament, and the chances of doing that are growing thinner with each day of the Berlin crisis.

The Christian Democrats believe they still will be the largest party in parliament, as they have been since 1949. But they may have less than the majority necessary to form a government on their own. This was also the case in 1949 and 1953.

Adenauer's supporters blame this situation primarily on what they feel was the chancellor's faulty reaction to the Communist sealing of the East-West Berlin border the morning of Aug. 13, and his bitter personal attacks on West Berlin Lord Mayor Willy Brandt since then.

Since the mid-1930's at least, when the Nazis banned him from public office and he had to haggle with Berlin buyers of the paintings he sold to support his family, Adenauer has disliked this city.

Adenauer stubbornly refused to come to Berlin to reassure the population after the border clampdown. Only on Aug. 15 did he call a cabinet meeting to discuss the Berlin situation. He preached calmness, saying there was no reason for panic.

Above all, he let Brandt — his Socialsit opponent in the federal elections—become the hero of the hour by writing President Kennedy to suggest the immediate dispatch of additional American troops to West Berlin, an action ordered a few hours later.

When Adenauer finally came to Berlin, it was two days after American Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. Even then, the chancellor remained for eight hours only.

Adenauer's friends say the chancellor's reaction to the Berlin crisis has convinced many voters he is too old to cope efficiently with the great problems of the day.

Carla Messy Compared To Audrey In '57

HOLLY BEACH, La. (AP) — Residents of Holly Beach were mopping up Friday with the almost unanimous opinion that Audrey was at least a neat and tidy hurricane.

In 1957, Hurricane Audrey made a clean sweep of this resort community 30 miles north of Lake Charles. Nothing was left—not a cabin, no road. There was only part of a gasoline pump sticking starkly in the sand to show where Holly Beach had been.

Hurricane Carla left an unsightly mess. Cabins were smashed, strewn by tornadic winds against each other. One cabin was left standing but with another cabin beneath. One cabin was found smashed but another alongside was untouched. An estimated 80 per cent of the 620 cabins were demolished or damaged.

The owners, who came from center, southern, and southwestern Louisiana to inspect the damage, decided that the destruction came from tornadoes spawned in the outer fringe of the storm, and was not caused by the hurricane itself.

Holly Beach has a permanent population of about 500, increasing during the summer to about 2,500.

The loss included a 1,000-foot fishing pier. A three-year-old blacktop road disappeared, leaving only sand and no hint there had ever been a road.

BOLIVIA ORDERS PROTEST

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Bolivia has ordered a protest to Argentina about the charges of cocaine-smuggling that led to the resignation Thursday of Vice Prseident Juan Lechin, the Foreign Office announced Friday.

The announcement said Bolivia's ambassador to Buenos Aires has been instructed to present a formal protest against the charges leveled at Lechin by Lt. Gov. Luis Guzman of Argentina's Salta Province.

OAS Probers Fly To Interior Of Dominican

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, D.R. (UPI)—A committee of the Organization of American States flew into the interior Friday to find out to what extent the Dominican peoples are throwing off the bonds of 32 years of dictatorship.

The OAS group led by deLesseps Morrison of the United States made the inspection trip in a U.S. Air Force DC3 sent here for its use from Ramey Air Force Base in Puerto Rico. The day's tour included Santiago, Moca, La Vega and Puerto Plata. Interviews were scheduled with government representatives and members of the opposition as well as some Roman Catholic church officials.

The acting OAS committee chairman, Eduardo Zuleta Angel of Colombia, remained here with Guillermo Escudero of Ecuador to continue the group's probe locally into what progress democracy has made in the Dominican Republic since the May assassination of the late strong man, Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo. The committee chairman, Augusto Arango of Panama returned to Washington Thursday for a few days.

Investigators Study Deaths Of 3 Infants

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Investigators Friday studied the deaths of three infants who were cared for by a 23-year-old baby sitter and said the case would be presented to a grand jury Tuesday.

They also checked into a report that another child left in the woman's care became seriously ill but recovered from what the sitter reported was an apparent gas leak.

Prosecutor Phillip L. Bayt and Dr. Dennis Nicholas, Marion County coroner, said the baby sitter told them she put her hand over the mouth of one 3-month-old infant "to keep it from crying" but denied that she was responsible for its death or that of the two other babies.

"The deaths of three babies in her care is getting a little too coincidental," Nicholas said.

The coroner pointed out, however, that the sitter's act of putting her hand over the baby's mouth was "not necessarily a malicious act — she may only have wanted not to awaken the parents."

Authorities did not reveal the identity of the baby sitter. They said, however, that she is white and lives with her mother and father.

One of the three dead Indianapolis children was Patrick Vincent, 3-month-old son of a policeman and his wife. The baby was found dead in his crib Monday and the father, Walter Vincent, called the coroner after questioning the sitter at length.

Coroner's investigator Leighton George said the child probably died of suffocation. A study of the baby's body, George said, showed fluid in the lungs which could have been caused by either pneumonia or suffocation.

Investigation disclosed that two other babies left in the woman's care died under similar circumstances, with pneumonia the apparent cause of death.

They were John Arthur Lowe Jr., 3-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lowe, and David Terhune, 9 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Terhune.

Robert Michael Kelly, 11-month-old son of Joseph E. Kelly, a former high school football coach, became ill several months ago while in the woman's care. Authorities said the baby sitter reported a gas leak but utility company workers found no leak when they checked the home.

First Lawsuits Of Term Filed In Court Here

A 21-year-old Caldwell parish man is suing the Illinois Central Railroad for $349,672, and the parents of a 13-year-old boy who was fatally electrocuted in West Monroe last spring are suing Louisiana Power and Light Co. for $100,360.

In the first lawsuit, filed with the Ouachita Court Clerk Friday, James Andrew Strange, 21, of Caldwell Parish says he was permanently and totally disabled and disfigured when a car in which he was riding was hit by an IC train on January 21.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Whitlock of West Monroe ask $100,360 from Louisiana Power and Light, for the death of their son, Billy, 13, on April 18.

In a related suit also filed Friday Norman Myers is suing Louisiana Power and Light for $226 for himself and $12,500 for his son, Donald, 16, who was burned at the time Billy Whitlock was electrocuted.

Two States Up In Arms Over Movie

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—If there's another Civil War in this country it will be fought up around the Great Lakes.

Thanks to Hollywood the states involved in all probability will be Wisconsin and Michigan, normally peaceful neighbors who are up in arms over a new movie.

Like the man who fired the first shot at Ft. Sumter, director Martin Ritt touched off the fireworks by selecting location sites for Ernest Hemingway's "Young Man" in Wisconsin, when Hemingway definitely was writing about Michigan.

Michiganders, especially those in the vicinity of Hortons Bay, were outraged by Ritt's judgment and wrote him unhappy letters.

"What could I do?" the harried director asked. "We were looking for a town and area that could pass for the 1915 era. We couldn't find any in Michigan, so we had to settle for Wisconsin."

If you ask me, Ritt is asking for a blast from Wisconsinites, too.

His selection of Wisconsin might be misinterpreted to mean that the Dairy State is something less than up to date.

Most of the filming will be done in the town of Mellen, Wis. (pop. 11,900) representing Hemingway's home town of Oak Park, Ill., circa 1915.

New Pipeline Work Planned By United Gas

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Gas Pipe Line Co., Shreveport, La., filed four applications Friday with the power commission for authority to construct natural gas facilities to cost about $6,593,850.

The largest project would involve about 40 miles of pipeline loop on the existing united line between Mobile, Ala., and Pensacola, Fla., at a cost of about $3,871,432.

United also proposes building about 10.2 miles of pipeline loop in Terrebonne and Assumption parishes in Louisiana and construction of a number of minor routine facilities.

COURT DOOMS 135 TURKS

Menderes Given Death Sentence

YASSIADA, Turkey (AP) — A revolutionary court Friday sentenced Adnan Menderes, Celal Bayar and 133 other former officials to die for violating Turkey's constitution in 10 years of dictatorial rule.

The sentences are under review by the 23-man military junta which has ruled this country since Menderes was overthrown as premier 16 months ago. If they approve, the defendants are expected to be hanged within 24 hours.

Reports spread that the members were divided, with younger majors and colonels favoring execution. Older members headed by the chief of state, Gen. Cemal Gursel, reportedly wanted at least some of the death sentences commuted to life imprisonment.

The junta announced it would not be influenced "by any quarter whatsoever, keeping in mind always the great interest of the nation."

It was meeting at Ankara, the capital.

The tribunal of six civilians and three military judges hardly paused as death sentences were read out in the climax of the 10-month mass trial of former Democratic party supporters.

The court handed out 31 life sentences and 418 prison terms of 2-15 years. Charges against five defendants were dropped and 123 others were acquitted.

Former President Bayar, 77, thrust his chin forward as his doom was pronounced. Otherwise he showed no sign of emotion.

Menderes, 62, collapsed from an unexplained cause shortly before the verdicts were read and did not appear in court. He lay on a hospital bed barely conscious.

Doctors pumped out his stomach but would not say if he had swallowed poison in an attempt at suicide. His condition later was reported improved.

Sentenced to die with Bayar and Menderes were the former foreign minister, Fatin Rustu Zorlu; Rustu Erdelhun, former chief of the general staff; Hasan Polatkan, former finance minister; Refik Koraltan, former speaker of the National Assembly; Ibrahim Kirazoglu and Agah Erozan, former National Assembly officers; and seven former Assembly deputies.

Four, among the defendants sentenced to prison, fainted at the announcements and were removed by guards.

At no time did the court spell out the legal reasoning for its decisions. All 592 defendants were charged with varying degrees with violating the constitution. The court only listed sections of the Turkish penal code under which the defendants were sentenced. A full judgment will be issued later.

Menderes, a staunch anti-Communist who led Turkey into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and was one of the organizers of the original Baghdad Pact, rose to power fighting against government restrictions on the Turkish press and people.

His own rule became harsher through the years and he imposed such curbs himself. He was overthrown in May 1960, after a series of student demonstrations for more political freedom. That gained support from the military.

British Say U.S. Nuclear Testing Fully Justified

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. nuclear test explosion announced by President Kennedy was "fully justified," a Foreign Office spokesman said Friday night.

The spokesman said the British government considered Soviet refusal of a British-American offer to ban atmospheric tests as "a great disaster."

"The American decision to resume nuclear tests underground is fully justified. Unlike the Soviet tests, these underground explosions can have no harmful radiation effects," he said.

COURT DOOMS 135 TURKS

Menderes Given Death Sentence

YASSIADA, Turkey (AP) — A revolutionary court Friday sentenced Adnan Menderes, Celal Bayar and 133 other former officials to die for violating Turkey's constitution in 10 years of dictatorial rule.

The sentences are under review by the 22-man military junta which has ruled this country since Menderes was overthrown as premier 16 months ago. If they approve, the defendants are expected to be hanged within 24 hours.

Reports spread that the members were divided, with younger majors and colonels favoring execution. Older members headed by the chief of state, Gen. Cemal Gursel, reportedly wanted at least some of the death sentences commuted to life imprisonment.

The junta announced it would not be influenced "by any quarter whatsoever, keeping in mind always the great interest of the nation."

It was meeting at Ankara, the capital.

The tribunal of six civilians and three military judges hardly paused as death sentences were read out in the climax of the 10-month mass trial of former Democratic party supporters.

The court handed out 31 life sentences and 418 prison terms of 2-15 years. Charges against five defendants were dropped and 123 others were acquitted.

Former President Bayar, 77, thrust his chin forward as his doom was pronounced. Otherwise he showed no sign of emotion.

Menderes, 62, collapsed from an unexplained cause shortly before the verdicts were read and did not appear in court. He lay on a hospital bed barely conscious.

Doctors pumped out his stomach but would not say if he had swallowed poison in an attempt at suicide. His condition later was reported improved.

Sentenced to die with Bayar and Menderes were the former foreign minister, Fatin Rustu Zorlu; Rustu Erdelhun, former chief of the general staff; Hasan Polatkan, former finance minister; Refik Koraltan, former speaker of the National Assembly; Ibrahim Kirazoglu and Agah Erozan, former National Assembly officers; and seven former Assembly deputies.

Four, among the defendants sentenced to prison, fainted at the announcements and were removed by guards.

At no time did the court spell out the legal reasoning for its decisions. All 592 defendants were charged with varying degrees with violating the constitution. The court only listed sections of the Turkish penal code under which the defendants were sentenced. A full judgment will be issued later.

Menderes, a staunch anti-Communist who led Turkey into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and was one of the organizers of the original Baghdad Pact, rose to power fighting against government restrictions on the Turkish press and people.

His own rule became harsher through the years and he imposed such curbs himself. He was overthrown in May 1960, after a series of student demonstrations for more political freedom. That gained support from the military.

British Say U.S. Nuclear Testing Fully Justified

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. nuclear test explosion announced by President Kennedy was "fully justified," a Foreign Office spokesman said Friday night.

The spokesman said the British government considered Soviet refusal of a British-American offer to ban atmospheric tests as "a great disaster."

"The American decision to resume nuclear tests underground is fully justified. Unlike the Soviet tests, these underground explosions can have no harmful radiation effects," he said.

How To Keep Well

WASTE DISPOSAL

The digestive tract has been compared with a modern factory. It is completely automated and the owner's job consists of ordering bulk supplies and disposing of the output. Each department works by itself and the business is trouble free so long as everything works in harmony and the tubes, ducts, and corridors remain open.

A smart boss will use common sense when it comes to disposing of the output, including waste products. The situation is ideal when the waste is eliminated daily but business is not always this good. Furthermore, the accumulation may gather for a few days because the collectors are slow or on strike. When this occurs, management does not upset the entire production line just to get rid of waste. There is no harm in allowing it to accumulate so long as space is available and the main business of the plant continues.

Our grandparents thought that health depended upon a good cleaning out periodically. The ridiculous ideas they had about how dirty or toxic the intestinal contents were simply made millionaires out of manufacturers of laxatives and created a bad habit.

Constipation should not be encouraged but it never has killed anyone. It may lead to gas and abdominal distress and some people claim it produces headache. But these persons tend to be nervous and high-strung and become constipated for the same reasons they develop headaches. Tension, an inadequate food intake, too little rest, and no exercise are among the causes of both disorders.

A suppository or a small enema duplicates nature by emptying the rectum. This is better than taking a strong laxative or purge that removes the contents of the entire colon.

The alternative is to increase the bulk of the residual waste. This is done by eating more fruit, vegetables, and cereals and drinking up to eight glasses of fluid daily. Medicines containing chemicals that swell by absorbing liquids in the intestines also add bulk.

NECK EXERCISES

R. J. D. writes: I am a student and the long hours of study have made my neck muscles soft. How can I develop these muscles?

REPLY

TYPES OF ANEMIA

J. B. writes: Why do some anemias respond only to iron tablets; others to liver extract?

REPLY

Because some anemias are due to lack or iron (hemoglobin) whereas others stem from failure of the body to manufacture red cells that are able to become mature. It is the latter that liver extract or vitamin B12 corrects. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on anemia.

PIGMENTED HIVES

G. S. writes: What is urticaria pigmentosa?

REPLY

In this rare condition, small pigmented tumors develop on the skin. They swell and itch like hives (urticaria) whenever rubbed or irritated. The disorder usually develops in the first year of life although late forms in adults have been reported in the medical literature.

LIVER AND KIDNEYS

E. R. S. writes: Is it all right for a person with a bad kidney to eat liver?

REPLY

Yes, provided he has the green light from his physician. He knows whether the kidneys are alliminating all the waste by-products from the proteins eaten.

How To Keep Well

WASTE DISPOSAL

The digestive tract has been compared with a modern factory. It is completely automated and the owner's job consists of ordering bulk supplies and disposing of the output. Each department works by itself and the business is trouble free so long as everything works in harmony and the tubes, ducts, and corridors remain open.

A smart boss will use common sense when it comes to disposing of the output, including waste products. The situation is ideal when the waste is eliminated daily but business is not always this good. Furthermore, the accumulation may gather for a few days because the collectors are slow or on strike. When this occurs, management does not upset the entire production line just to get rid of waste. There is no harm in allowing it to accumulate so long as space is available and the main business of the plant continues.

Our grandparents thought that health depended upon a good cleaning out periodically. The ridiculous ideas they had about how dirty or toxic the intestinal contents were simply made millionaires out of manufacturers of laxatives and created a bad habit.

Constipation should not be encouraged but it never has killed anyone. It may lead to gas and abdominal distress and some people claim it produces headache. But these persons tend to be nervous and high-strung and become constipated for the same reasons they develop headaches. Tension, an inadequate food intake, too little rest, and no exercise are among the causes of both disorders.

A suppository or a small enema duplicates nature by emptying the rectum. This is better than taking a strong laxative or purge that removes the contents of the entire colon.

The alternative is to increase the bulk of the residual waste. This is done by eating more fruit, vegetables, and cereals and drinking up to eight glasses of fluid daily. Medicines containing chemicals that swell by absorbing liquids in the intestines also add bulk.

NECK EXERCISES

R. J. D. writes: I am a student and the long hours of study have made my neck muscles soft. How can I develop these muscles?

REPLY

TYPES OF ANEMIA

J. B. writes: Why do some anemias respond only to iron tablets; others to liver extract?

REPLY

Because some anemias are due to lack or iron (hemoglobin) whereas others stem from failure of the body to manufacture red cells that are able to become mature. It is the latter that liver extract or vitamin B12 corrects. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on anemia.

PIGMENTED HIVES

G. S. writes: What is urticaria pigmentosa?

REPLY

In this rare condition, small pigmented tumors develop on the skin. They swell and itch like hives (urticaria) whenever rubbed or irritated. The disorder usually develops in the first year of life although late forms in adults have been reported in the medical literature.

LIVER AND KIDNEYS

E. R. S. writes: Is it all right for a person with a bad kidney to eat liver?

REPLY

Yes, provided he has the green light from his physician. He knows whether the kidneys are aliminating all the waste by-products from the proteins eaten.

Koufax Whips Braves And Spahn, 11-2

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sandy Koufax set another strikeout record tonight as the Los Angeles Dodgers exploited their old home park whammy over Warren Sphn and defeated the Milwaukee Braves, 11-2.

Koufax, picking up his 16th victory against 11 losses, fanned 10 and ran his season strikeout total to 243—the most ever achieved by a lefthander in National League history. He broke a 50-year-old record set by Rube Marquard, who fanned 237 for the New York Giants in 1911.

Spahn, who hasn't beaten the Dodgers in their home park since 1948, went to work tonight with a string of 10 complete game victories.

He set the Dodgers down in order in the first inning but Frank Howard led off the Dodger second with a line drive homer over the left field screen. Then the 40-year-old southpaw's control vanished.

Ryan turned in runs of nine and 35 yards for the tallies. He added all extra points in the contest.

John Smith broke over center on a quarterback sneak in the fourth period and went 43 yards for the final touchdown.

Minden moved as far as the Byrd 5, but never closer. Byrd held Minden to 81 yards on the ground.

Lafayette, 39-0

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—Halfback Toby Warren led a triple-A Lafayette scoring spree with three touchdowns on short plunges Friday night as Cathedral toppled 39-0.

Halfbacks Warren Landry and Brown Cobb added tallie on runs of 15 and 5 yards while Al Hebert passed 15 yards to Russel Caffery for the final marker.

Yankees Set A New Homer Mark Of 222

DETROIT (AP) — Roger Maris, frustrated without a home run for seven games in his pursuit of Babe Ruth's record, managed only a single in nine at bats Friday night as the New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers divided a doubleheader.

The Yankees cut their magic number to four for their 11th pennant in 13 seasons and set a major league record for team homers in one season in winning the opener 11-1 as Whitey Ford recorded his 24th victory.

The second place Tigers came back in the nightcap with homer strength of their own for a 4-2 victory.

By The Associated Press

PLAYER	Homer Number	Games Played	Date Hit
Maris	56	149	Sept. 9
xMantle	53	149	Sept. 10
Ruth	56	149	Sept. 22

x Seven games behind Ruth's pace

Mickey Mantle also was held without a home run in nine at bats—six official trips and three walks—and fell further behind Ruth's pace when he hit his record 60 homers in 1927. Mantle has 53 home runs.

Maris, without a homer since he hit No. 56 last Saturday, has played 150 games. Ruth also had 56 after 150 games, but waited until game No. 152 for his 57th homer in 1927.

Maris has five games in which to get four home runs and match Ruth's record. Mantle needs seven in five games, a nearly impossible feat.

Commissioner Ford Frick has ruled the M-M boys must hit 60 or more homers in 154 decisions —the Yankees have played one tie game which would count in and record-setting—to qualify for the mark. League expansion resulted in 162 games this year.

Maris waited until his last at bat before coming through with a hit. It was a line single to right. In his eight other trips, he struck out twice, flied out three times, grounded out twice and reached base on an error.

Bill Skowron and Yogi Berra hit home runs in helping Ford to his first-game victory. That gave the Yankees 222 home runs for the season, breaking the record of 221 set by the 1947 New York Giants tied in 1956 by the Cincinnati Reds.

Home runs by Norm Cash and Steve Boros paced the Tigers to their triumph in the second game as Ron Kline went all the way. Cletus Boyer hit the Yankees' 223rd homer of the season off Kline.

Mantle had just two hits for the night, a double and a single.

Overshadowed by the home run derby was Ford's excellent pitching performance. He allowed the Tigers eight hits, only one in the last three innings. Ford beat Don Mossi, who gave up Berra's two-run homer in the fourth and Skowron's three-run clout in the seventh.

Kline gained his seventh triumph in turning back the Yankees and Bud Daley in the nightcap.

The Tigers took a 4-0 lead off Daley in three innings. They scored once when Daley forced home a run by hitting Kline with a pitch when the bases were loaded in the second.

AAA INTERSECTIONAL

Rebels Edge Bolton 27-19 In High Scoring Slugfest

ALEXANDRIA (Special)—West Monroe outlasted Bolton High in a wild and wooly AAA intersectional game here last night, 27-19.

But the Bears raced back, got a score, gave up a safety, then connected shortly after the half to close the gap to 15-12.

The Confererates scored again, but Bolton came right back again, on the passing of quarterback Darrel Williams and they trailed only 21-19 going into the fourth quarter.

Total Yardage
Fumbles	0	1

Punts	4-41	2-40
Penalties	7-45	3-35

Halbacks Charlie Van Zile and Woody Woodcock turned in good performances for West Monroe and fullback J. U. Liner was there when the going was rough.

In the line guard Jewel McBroom, center Butch LaBrano and tackle Cline Averett were outstanding.

Averett particularly, was tops all night. He got the Rebel safety, blocking a Bolton punt which rolled out of the Bear end zone. And he repeatedly spilled Bolton passers for big losses.

West Monroe fullback J. U. Liner scored the first TD on a two-yard plunge that capped a drive starting on the Rebel 31.

The march took 13 plays, all on the ground except for one 13-yard pass from quarterback Fred Newton to end Reggie Pleasant. It was Newton's lone completion of the night.

A 44-yard run by halfback Danny Warrington highlighted a Bolton drive that went to the West Monroe 44, following the Rebs first score.

Later in the same period, Van Zile punted from his own 15 to the 50 where Warrington returned the ball all the way for what was apparently a Bolton TD.

But the referees said he stepped out of bounds on the Reb 12.

On the next play Willimson passed to left end Johnny Knox for 12-yards and the marker. The PAT was no good.

Averett then smashed into the Bear's punt attempt at their eight and West Monroe led 15-6 at the half.

Bolton returned the third quarter kickoff to their 34 and went all the way in nine plays.

Two passes covered 54 yards, with the second getting the tally.

The first was a 29-yard aerial from Williamson to end Don Patty.

Williamson then tossed to Patty for 24 and the TD.

The extra point try failed.

West Monroe brought the kick back to the 36 and Liner went 39 yards on the first play. Woodcock and Van Zile took over then and punched the ball down to the one where Woodcock carried over.

This try after point went astray too and West Monroe led 21-12.

Bolton started their next drive on their 27. On second down Williamson tossed to halfback Bill Haynes for 47 yards.

Two plays later he tossed 13 to Patty for the score.

The play was called back on a holding penalty and Williamson then connected with Knox from the 28 for the score.

Williamson also kicked the extra point and it was 21-19.

In the last quarter with 4:47 left Bolton was knocking at the Reb 31.

With fourth down and [illegible] to go Williamson went back to pass, but Averett threw him for a 12 yard loss.

On the second try halfback Robert Dowdy broke loose on the longest run of the night, a 57 yard scamper for the final score.

Dowdy took a pitchout from Newton and set sail. He dodged past about six Bear tacklers and lost his shoe in the process, but in the end he was still on his feet and West Monroe had won 27-19.

Arcadia Wins, 7-6

ARCADIA (Special) — Arcadia right end Ronny Powell blocked a Junction City punt at the five yard line and recovered the ball in the end zone in the third quarter to give the Hornets a 7-6 win in a rugged defensive battle here last night.

Junction City's Dragons got their only score in the fourth quarter when fullback Bob McKinnon intercepted a pass and ran it back 53 - yards.

The Dragons tried to run the PAT but the try failed.

Both teams were able to manage only three first downs.

Cats 9, Tide 0

WINNSBORO, La. (Special) — The Winnsboro Wildcats were masters of the game all the way, but it took a couple of Columbia fumbles to give the Cats assists in halting the Crimson Tide, 9-0, here last night.

Wildcat end Dubba Shaw pounced on a fumble at the Tide 24 in the second quarter. Halfback Bruce Cobb picked up one yard and then quarterback Bobby Boyett, on a keeper, went the remaining 23 yards around right end for the game's only touchdown. Boyett also kicked the point.

In the fourth quarter fullback Larry Curry fumbled in the Columbia endzone. He recovered under a smear of Columbia tacklers for a safety, adding two points to the Winnsboro total.

Winnsboro rolled up 12 first downs on 165 yards rushing and 20 in completing two of 12 passes. Columbia, held to four firsts, rushed for 38 yards, had one of four passes intercepted, and got yardage help when the Cats were penalized 25.

Columbia was never an offensive threat although Curry's offensive displays were best for his team. The Winnsboro linemen never let the Tide backs get up much steam.

Donnie Emfinger, a pre - season injury casualty, returned to the Cats for brief service last night.

LaSalle Victorious

JENA (Special) — LaSalle rolled over the Jena Giants last night, 20-7.

Halfback Johnny Higgans opened the scoring for LaSalle in the second quarter when he ran over from the five yard line to cap a 58 yard drive. The point after touchdown failed leaving the score 6-0.

In the third quarter a Giant kick rolled dead on LaSalle's one yard line and LaSalle promptly marched 99 yards for another TD with Halfback Jimmy Moody carrying over from the 17 yard line. Moody kicked the extra point to make the score 13-0.

Moody picked off a Jena pass in the fourth quarter and ran it back 62 yards for LaSalle's final tally. He again kicked the point after.

Jena scored on a 58 yard drive later in the final period with an all-sophomore backfield.

Halfback Tony Tarpley ran the last 18 yards for the score. Quarterback Gerald Ganey ran the point after to make the final score 20-7.

Vidalia Tags Davidson

VIDALIA, La. (Special) — The Vidalia Vikings won their second straight football game of the season and their first in district 3-B by dropping the Davidson Warriors of St. Joseph, 27-0, here last night.

Halfback George Franklin counted two Vidalia touchdowns, the opener on a five-yard smash over guard and the final when he made a spectacular catch of a pass from substitute quarterback Butch Williams in a play that covered 53 yards.

Bulldogs Win, 14-6

RAYVILLE (Special)—Fullback Ronald Jeter lead the Ferriday Bulldogs to a 14-6 victory over the Rayville Hornets Friday night.

Jetter scored 13 of the Bulldogs' 14 points.

His first touchdown came on a plunge from the one-foot line that capped a 70-yard drive. Jeter then ran the extra point to make the score 7-0.

A few minutes Jeter carried over from eight yards out, but this time Dennis Jones ran the point after to close Ferriday's scoring.

Quarterback Mark Brown moved the Hornets 60 yards on their next series with halfback Dewayne Copeland plunging over from the three yard line. Most of the yardage was picked up on fine passes from Brown.

Delhi 12, Oak Grove 0

OAK GROVE, La. (Special — The Delhi Bears unlimbered their guns early for two quick touchdowns, but the Oak Grove defenses condensed for three rugged quarters of scoreless ball in limiting the Richland Parish Bruins to a 12-0 district 2-A football victory here last night.

Bobby McKay, 160-pound Delhi halfback, set up both Delhi touchdowns with long first quarter runs and carried the ball over on both occasions, but missed his kicks for the points after.

Delhi led in first downs, 12-7, and gained 263 yards rushing against 175 for Oak Grove.

Oak Grove got in its licks in the first seven minutes of play, but Oak Grove braced itself to make a battle of it the rest of the way.

Ruston Stumbles

BOSSIER CITY, La. (Special)—Heavily favored Bossier City took a 31-6 measure of the Ruston Bearcats here last night with a pair of hotshot offensive stars, Roger Reinowski and Ray Shumake, grabbing yards in huge chunks.

Reinowski gained 100 yards in ten attempts and Shumake ran for 84 in six trips as they fired a Bossier attack that rolled up 16 first downs and 410 yards, 93 of them passing.

Ruston's own offense was caught short in the absence of the ill backfield star Melvin Ray Shows who was unable to play.

Reinowski went 57 yards for the opening touchdown, and Shumake scampered 42 for the next.

Dick Redding took a touchdown pass from Shumake that covered 41 yards, and line plays wrapped it up for Bossier with Charles Glover dashing over from the eight, and Neal Prather getting the final from four yards out. Shumake kicked Bossier's only point behind the first TD.

Lake Charles, 33-0

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Halfback Walt McCoy scored both touchdowns Friday night as Jesuit edged Terrebonne 14-6.

McCoy scored in the first half on a one-yard smash and added the clinching marker in the last minute of play on a 15-yard burst through center.

Eagles Win, 12-0

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) —Holly Ridge's big all-state fullback Claudie Patrick smashed into Lake Providence's end zone twice in the second half to give the Eagles a 12-0 District 2-B win here last night.

Both of Patrick's run were for six yards and both times the run for PAT failed.

Standouts for Lake Providence in their losing effort were Jimmie Gilsoil, Joe Collins and Phillip Stafford on defense and Mark, Harger, Billy Young and Chuck Markey offense.

Tallulah 19, Wisner 0

TALLULAH, La. (Special) — The Tallulah Trojans, defending Louisiana Class A champions, took the measure of the Class B Wisner Bulldogs, 19-0, last night with a touchdown in each of the last three periods.

Lee climaxed a 50 - yard drive of nine plays with a six - yard touchdown spurt in the second quarter; Neumann went over tackle for 15 and a TD to end a 65 - yard drive of 11 plays in the third period, and Watson got his on a six - yard pass from Trichel in the fourth.

A fourth down gamble by Wisner cost the Bulldogs the last Tallulah TD. Trying to run from their own 29 on fourth, the Bulldogs were smeared when Sonny Bondurant lost two and the Trojans took over on Wisner's 27.

First downs were 13 for Tallulah and five for Wisner. Tallulah rushed for 258 against 31 for Wisner. Tallulah completed one of six passes for eight yards and a touchdown; Wisner completed two of nine for 31 and had one intercepted.

Winnfield Rolls

WINNFIELD (Special) — Winnfield took a giant step in defense of its District 1-A crown here last night with a 20-13 win over Mansfield.

Coach Hoss Newman's Winnfield Tigers scored touchdowns in both the first two periods to take a 13-0 halftime edge.

Mansfield came back in the second half with a strong passing attack and scored twice.

The second Winnfield score came on a one-yard plunge by halfback James Lloyd Collins, after All-State guard Don Jones blocked a Mansfield punt at their 20. Tackle Rodney Leonard fell on the ball for Winnfield at the one and on the next play Collins scored. Long's extra - point try failed.

With 26 seconds left in the third quarter Mansfield quarterback Donald Beebe tossed a four-yard pass to left end Billy Lambright for the first Mansfield TD. Beebe also converted.

Quarterback Mike Tinnerello got Winnfield's last score in the fourth quarter when he broke loose on a 16-yard keeper play. Long kicked the extra point.

Mansfield scored again on another Beebe pass. This one went to halfback Decan Mitchell from two yards out. The PAT was no good.

Winnfield amassed 234 yards on the ground to 42 for Mansfield, but the visitors gained 126 through the air.

Hammond 26-0

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Double-A Hammond blanked Bogalusa 26-0 in a football game Friday night behind the pass receiving and interceptions of James Posey.

Posey caught a 32-yard aerial from Joe Berey for one touchdown, ran five yards for another and intercepted a Hammond pass and scampered 94 yards for a third.

Berey went over from the 1 for the fourth Hammond tally.

Block Triumphs

JONESVILLE, La. (Special) — Halfback Doyle Sikes got the Block Bears rolling with a pair of first half touchdowns and the host club toppled the invading Newellton Bears, 26 to 7, in a district 3-B conference game last night.

Sikes rammed center from the one for a first quarter touchdown that capped a 73 - yard drive. He scored again in the second period, going 25 yards over the left side of the line. The second quarter score, followed by Sikes' kick for the point, was set up when Block recovered a fumble on the Newellton 41.

After a scoreless third quarter, Block broke loose again when quarterback Jimmy Wayne Wiley intercepted a pass on the Newellton 20 and ran it back for the TD. Sikes followed with a conversion kick. On the following kickoff, Block recovered its own kick and hammered to the eleven from where halfback Arthur Ray King went over.

Sicily Island 34-0

He scored the first touchdown in the first quarter on a 25 -yard run. Albert Krause ran the PAT.

Hinton scored again in the second quarter, plunging three yards. Stubbs scored the PAT.

Hinton got his third tally of the night in the third quarter on a 70 - yard run. Stubbs got the extra point.

Stubbs got into the scoring act then, intercepting a pass and running it back for 60 - yards and the last touchdown.

Jesuit Wins, 14-6

NEW IBERIA, La. (AP)—Delman McNabb galloped 60 yards twice in the opening period to pace Lake Charles to a 33-0 victory over New Iberia in a triple-A football game Friday night.

In the final stanza McNabb threw a 15-yard touchdown pass to Tim Wintersbottom, who later scooted 30 yards for another tally.

Bernice Wins, 19-6

STRONG, ARK. (Special) —The Bernice Bears defeated Strong, Ark. last night by the score of 19-6.

Strong opened the scoring when Fullback Gerald Martin picked up a punt fumbled by the Bear safety and carried it 35 yards for the touchdown. The attempted pass for the point after failed.

Bernice bounced back when quarterback Ronnie Fitzgerald hit Johnny Buckley for a 35 yard TD pass. The point after failed leaving the score tied at 6-6.

In the fourth quarter Roger Reeves scored from three yards out and then ran the extra point.

Buckley scored again, this time on a one - yard plunge to make the final score 19-6.

Koufax Whips Braves And Spahn, 11-2

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sandy Koufax set another strikeout record tonight as the Los Angeles Dodgers exploited their old home park whammy over Warren Sphn and defeated the Milwaukee Braves, 11-2.

Koufax, picking up his 16th victory against 11 losses, fanned 10 and ran his season strikeout total to 243—the most ever achieved by a lefthander in National League history. He broke a 50-year-old record set by Rube Marquard, who fanned 237 for the New York Giants in 1911.

Spahn, who hasn't beaten the Dodgers in their home park since 1948, went to work tonight with a string of 10 complete game victories.

He set the Dodgers down in order in the first inning but Frank Howard led off the Dodger second with a line drive homer over the left field screen. Then the 40-year-old southpaw's control vanished.

Yankees Set A New Homer Mark Of 222

DETROIT (AP) — Roger Maris, frustrated without a home run for seven games in his pursuit of Babe Ruth's record, managed only a single in nine at bats Friday night as the New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers divided a doubleheader.

The Yankees cut their magic number to four for their 11th pennant in 13 seasons and set a major league record for team homers in one season in winning the opener 11-1 as Whitey Ford recorded his 24th victory.

The second place Tigers came back in the nightcap with homer strength of their own for a 4-2 victory.

By The Associated Press

PLAYER	Homer Number	Games Played	Date Hit
Maris	56	149	Sept. 9
xMantle	53	149	Sept. 10
Ruth	56	149	Sept. 22

x—Seven games behind Ruth's pace

Mickey Mantle also was held without a home run in nine at bats—six official trips and three walks—and fell further behind Ruth's pace when he hit his record 60 homers in 1927. Mantle has 53 home runs.

Maris, without a homer since he hit No. 56 last Saturday, has played 150 games. Ruth also had 56 after 150 games, but waited until game No. 152 for his 57th homer in 1927.

Maris has five games in which to get four home runs and match Ruth's record. Mantle needs seven in five games, a nearly impossible feat.

Commissioner Ford Frick has ruled the M-M boys must hit 60 or more homers in 154 decisions —the Yankees have played one tie game which would count in and record-setting—to qualify for the mark. League expansion resulted in 162 games this year.

Maris waited until his last at bat before coming through with a hit. It was a line single to right. In his eight other trips, he struck out twice, flied out three times, grounded out twice and reached base on an error.

Bill Skowron and Yogi Berra hit home runs in helping Ford to his first-game victory. That gave the Yankees 222 home runs for the season, breaking the record of 221 set by the 1947 New York Giants tied in 1956 by the Cincinnati Reds.

Home runs by Norm Cash and Steve Boros paced the Tigers to their triumph in the second game as Ron Kline went all the way. Cletus Boyer hit the Yankees' 223rd homer of the season off Kline.

Mantle had just two hits for the night, a double and a single.

Overshadowed by the home run derby was Ford's excellent pitching performance. He allowed the Tigers eight hits, only one in the last three innings. Ford beat Don Mossi, who gave up Berra's two-run homer in the fourth and Skowron's three-run clout in the seventh.

Kline gained his seventh triumph in turning back the Yankees and Bud Daley in the nightcap.

The Tigers took a 4-0 lead off Daley in three innings. They scored once when Daley forced home a run by hitting Kline with a pitch when the bases were loaded in the second.

AAA INTERSECTIONAL

Rebels Edge Bolton 27-19 In High Scoring Slugfest

ALEXANDRIA (Special)—West Monroe outlasted Bolton High in a wild and wooly AAA intersectional game here last night, 27-19.

But the Bears raced back, got a score, gave up a safety, then connected shortly after the half to close the gap to 15-12.

The Confererates scored again, but Bolton came right back again, on the passing of quarterback Darrel Williams and they trailed only 21-19 going into the fourth quarter.

Total Yardage
Fumbles	0	1

Punts	4-41	2-40
Penalties	7-45	3-35

Halbacks Charlie Van Zile and Woody Woodcock turned in good performances for West Monroe and fullback J. U. Liner was there when the going was rough.

In the line guard Jewel McBroom, center Butch LaBrano and tackle Cline Averett were outstanding.

Averett particularly, was tops all night. He got the Rebel safety, blocking a Bolton punt which rolled out of the Bear end zone. And he repeatedly spilled Bolton passers for big losses.

West Monroe fullback J. U. Liner scored the first TD on a two-yard plunge that capped a drive starting on the Rebel 31.

The march took 13 plays, all on the ground except for one 13-yard pass from quarterback Fred Newton to end Reggie Pleasant. It was Newton's lone completion of the night.

A 44-yard run by halfback Danny Warrington highlighted a Bolton drive that went to the West Monroe 44, following the Rebs first score.

Later in the same period, Van Zile punted from his own 15 to the 50 where Warrington returned the ball all the way for what was apparently a Bolton TD.

But the referees said he stepped out of bounds on the Reb 12.

On the next play Willimson passed to left end Johnny Knox for 12-yards and the marker. The PAT was no good.

Averett then smashed into the Bear's punt attempt at their eight and West Monroe led 15-6 at the half.

Bolton returned the third quarter kickoff to their 34 and went all the way in nine plays.

Two passes covered 54 yards, with the second getting the tally.

The first was a 29-yard aerial from Williamson to end Don Patty.

Williamson then tossed to Patty for 24 and the TD.

The extra point try failed.

West Monroe brought the kick back to the 36 and Liner went 39 yards on the first play. Woodcock and Van Zile took over then and punched the ball down to the one where Woodcock carried over.

This try after point went astray too and West Monroe led 21-12.

Bolton started their next drive on their 27. On second down Williamson tossed to halfback Bill Haynes for 47 yards.

Two plays later he tossed 13 to Patty for the score.

The play was called back on a holding penalty and Williamson then connected with Knox from the 28 for the score.

Williamson also kicked the extra point and it was 21-19.

In the last quarter with 4:47 left Bolton was knocking at the Reb. 31.

With fourth down and 15 to go Williamson went back to pass, but Averett threw him for a 12-yard loss.

On the second try halfback Robert Dowdy broke loose on the longest run of the night, a 57-yard scamper for the final score.

Dowdy took a pitchout from Newton and set sail. He dodged past about six Bear tacklers and lost his shoe in the process, but in the end he was still on his feet and West Monroe had won 27-19.

Indians Open Season Tonight

Play Mexico Poly In Home Fracas

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

Kickoff time is 8 o'clock.

It will be a big test for the Indians of Jack Rowan. Ahead lies the roughest schedule in the history of the school. If the Tribe cannot do well against the feather - light Mexico squad then the fall may well be long and lean.

The White Burros of Mexico Poly average 173 pounds per man. Up front the average is 175. In the backfield it is 168.

TRIBE HEAVIER

Big problem for the Indians last year and in their practice scrimmages this year has been moving the ball on the ground.

Smith at 180 is the lightest lineman.

Tatum figured in the swap-ups. He was a tackle last year and as late as last week was playing guard.

Foster, who broke his nose in practice this week, was moved back to guard from center. He underwent surgery Friday, but is expected to play.

BACKFIELD FIGHT

Position battling in the backfield is going up to the last minute. Ronnie Myrick, an All-State freshman quarterback from Oak Grove moved up to the number two spot last week and may be picked ahead of veteran Don Wattigny by game time.

Two Indians not expected to see action because of injuries are end Gene Harbert and fullback Roy Goodwin.

Goodwin is suffering from a back injury, but is expected back in a week or two, while Harbert has a charley horse that has not responded to treatment.

Halfback Gordon Salsman has been designated to do Northeast's punting, while Ragan will kick extra points and field goals and either Ragan or guard Terry Brunet will kick off.

The Indians, with only five seniors and four juniors, are looking for their second opening night victory in a row. The Tribe topped Arkansas State 13-6 in their first game last year.

BURROS FAST

Mexico Poly has a fast, wide-open offense. They rolled up 239 points last year in winning five of seven contests.

Two of the wins were over the Houston Frosh (30-24) and the Miami Frosh (30-27), while the losses were to Lamar Tech 42-6 and Pensacola Navy 34-30.

This should indicate, if last year's scores mean anything at all, that they can roll up the points, but are weak defensively.

Speed merchants Emeterio Dominquez and Antonio Trapero, both 165-pounders, are the halfbacks and 187 pound Guillermo Areizaga is the fullback.

TIGERS 12, RAMS 7

Jones, Howard TD Runs Take Neville Past Bastrop

BASTROP, La. (Special) — The Neville High School Tigers of Monroe, a favorite in the state double-A football race, dined on triple-A servings for the second straight week in defeating the Bastrop Rams, 12 to 7, in a renewal of their long grid rivalry here last night.

Last week Neville had to make a last-ditch hurdle to pass West Monroe, 12-6, while Bastrop was having a field day at the expense of Jonesboro - Hodge, but last night it was different for the Rams as they toppled in defeat, but Neville found it no easy matter.

Neville got in a quick shot early in the game when quarterback Jerry Jones climaxed a steady drive with a plunge from one yard out, and it looked like Neville might be on the way to a rout.

But Coach Gene Derveloy's Rams made it an even game from that point on and it was "anybody's game" until the finish.

Halfback Jimmy Howard, son of the Monroe mayor, delivered the Bengals' victory clincher in the fourth quarter, also on a plunge through the middle from one yard out.

Bastrop got in its lone touchdown in the fourth quarter when James Chunn ripped over the left side from eight yards out. The touchdown was set up when the Rams recovered a Neville fumble deep in Tiger territory and hammered across. Ed Worley kicked the point for Bastrop.

Neville amassed 13 first downs against a fat 11 for Bastrop. The Tigers rushed for 176 yards to 103 for Bastrop. Neville completed one of two passes for seven yards — the other was intercepted, and Bastrop completed one of three for only four yards. Each team was penalized three times, Neville for 30 yards and Bastrop for 35. The game's only fumble was lost by Neville to set up the Bastrop score.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics dropped back into last place Friday night as the Washington Senators replaced them in ninth place in the American League with a 3-1 victory in the opener of a three-game "basement" series.

Bennie Daniels became the first Washington pitcher to win 10 games this season by going all the way on a five-hitter.

Norm Bass, who gave up five hits and two runs in the six innings he pitched, lost his 11th against eight victories.

Golf Course For Negroes To Open By Early Spring

Northeast Louisiana's first golf course for Negroes is being built by the City of Monroe at Selman Field.

Located in the southeast corner of Selman Field, the course will cover about 100 acres.

Finance Commissioner H. W. McSherry, in City Hall yesterday, said the course should be open by "early spring."

Negro golfers will pay as they play, he explained, pointing out that a system of charging players will be worked out later.

"It won't cost much," McSherry said.

City crews using city equipment are doing the work. At present tees are being built, one green is being completed and grass will be planted.

"It'll take a little time to get grass to grow all over the course," McSherry said.

He added that the course will be of "great value" to Monroe and the surrounding area in view of the growing interest in golf.

Angels Take Chisox 9-5 In Comiskey

CHICAGO (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels won their first game of the season in Comiskey Park Friday night when they pounded five White Sox hurlers for 17 hits and a 9-5 victory.

Eli Grba and Tom Morgan held the White Sox to five hits. Grba, registering his 10th win to end a five-game losing streak here for the Angels, didn't permit his first hit until there were two out in the fifth.

The White Sox finally routed him with a four-run outburst in the eighth but by that time the Angels had a commanding lead off loser Joe Horlen and his successors.

All of the Los Angeles starters had a hand in the batfest with Grba also cutting in for a pair of doubles. The Angels tallied twice off Horlen in the first four innings, jolted Don Larsen for three in the fifth and then put the game away with a four-run surge that chased Russ Kemmerer in the eighth.

Nicklaus To Play Wysong In Finals

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Relentless Jack Nicklaus and smooth-swinging Dudley Wysong, both young and determined, play Saturday for the Amateur Golf Championship of the United States.

Nicklaus, only 21 although he won this same title two years ago, routed Marion (Sonny) Methvin of Springdale, Ark., in Friday's 36-hole semifinals with an almost savage display of power, 9 and 8.

Wysong, a 22-year-old advertising man from McKinney, Tex., eliminated Joe Carr of Dublin, the strongest British threat for the American title since 1936, 2-up.

Carr, 5 down at the lunchtime intermission, staged an uprising on the second round that brought him to the final hole one down. But he sent his third shot onto a hard ledge and lost his chance. The final holes of the exciting duel were played in fog so thick that marshalls and golf officials were placed along the coast to point out errant shots.

The two youngsters will travel two rounds Saturday over the 6,747 fantastic yards of the Pebble Beach course, whose fairways are rounded by the high bluffs and sandy beaches of the Pacific coastline.

Nicklaus, who may become a father for the first time before Saturday's firing ends, engineered a 7-up margin over his jittery opponent in the morning round. Wysong, chain-smoking and grim, had the glib Carr, a member of the British Walker Cup team for a record eighth time, 5 down at lunch.

"I'm greedy. I want to win everything," said the 205-pound Nicklaus as he sent daring tee shots straight for the flag in the midst of the rout he was giving the 21-year-old Louisiana State University junior.

Methvin was so nervous at the start of the day's play he didn't hit a green in regulation figures until the 160-yard fifth. He won only one hole on each of the rounds.

Nicklaus' power was shown at the 497-yard second, where the Ohio Stater reached the green with a wood and a No. 2 iron. Methvin was short with two full woods.

The Ohio lasher went around in 71, one under par, in the morning and closed out the former Arkansas amateur champ with 2-under-par for 10 holes in the afternoon. Methvin had an 80 before lunch and was even for the second round. Nicklaus putted for birds on nine of the 10 holes after lunch.

When this was pointed out to Nicklaus, he replied only that "if you are good, you are putting for birds on 10 out of 10."

Cards Reorganize

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals reorganized their scouting and minor league operations Friday, setting up separate departments to handle procurement and development of players.

Walter Shannon, who had been farm director and chief scout, becomes director of player procurement while George Silvey, his No. 1 assistant in both categories, takes over player development.

7-6 VICTORY

Ouachita Eases By Tigers In Strong Defensive Tilt

JONESBORO (Special) — The Ouachita Parish High School Lions eased by the Jonesboro-Hodge Tigers last night in a strong defensive game by the score of 7-6.

It was a noutstanding defensive battle all the way with neither team being able to make much headway in the strong defensive wall of their opponent.

The Lions picked up 200 yards rushing and racked up 12 first downs while the Tigers picked up 120 yards and seven first downs.

Jonesboro jumped out into the lead in the first quarter when Quarterback Bennie Phillips passed to Halfback Marvin Cawett for six yards and a touchdown. The extra point attempt failed, and later proved to be the deciding factor.

After taking over on their own 28 yard line, the Lions ground out the yardage primarily on the ground. Bubba Via, the big fullback, capped the 72-yard drive by plunging over from the three yard line to tie the game at 6-6.

Quarterback Dennis Warner then kicked the all-important extra point that spelled victory for Coach Bob Ellen's Lions.

The clubs made a defensive duel of the entire second half with neither team being able to put together a threatening drive.

Tigers who turned in outstanding performances on defense include Robert Morris, J. W. Fain, Homer Austin, Laddel Farley and Johnny Shows.

Red Sox Edge Orioles, 3-2 In 10 Innings

BOSTON (AP) — Boston rookie Carl Yastrzemski's 10th inning home run beat Baltimore 3-2 Friday night and settled a sharp pitching battle in favor of Gene Conley.

Baltimore twice took leads on a solo homer by Jackie Brandt in the first inning and Brooks Robinson's triple in the fifth.

Sterlington To Play Bastrop B Team Tonight

STERLINGTON (Special)—The Sterlington Panthers will be going after their first victory of the '61 football season as they encounter the Bastrop "B" Team tonight.

Kickoff time is slated for 8:00 p.m. at Sterlington High School Stadium.

Then on Monday night the same Ouachita team edged the Bastrop "B" Team, 7-6 in a game played in rain and mud.

Bastrop has a much heavier team than Sterlington, especially in the line. Because of their lightness, the Panthers will probably have to rely primarily on their passing attack.

The White Sox finally routed him with a four-run outburst in the eighth but by that time the Angels had a commanding lead off loser Joe Horlen and his successors.

All of the Los Angeles starters had a hand in the batfest with Grba also cutting in for a pair of doubles. The Angels tallied twice off Horlen in the first four innings, jolted Don Larsen for three in the fifth and then put the game away with a four-run surge that chased Russ Kemmerer in the eighth.

Nicklaus To Play Wysong In Finals

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Relentless Jack Nicklaus and smooth-swinging Dudley Wysong, both young and determined, play Saturday for the Amateur Golf Championship of the United States.

Nicklaus, only 21 although he won this same title two years ago, routed Marion (Sonny) Methvin of Springdale, Ark., in Friday's 36-hole semifinals with an almost savage display of power, 9 and 8.

Wysong, a 22-year-old advertising man from McKinney, Tex., eliminated Joe Carr of Dublin, the strongest British threat for the American title since 1936, 2-up.

Carr, 5 down at the lunchtime intermission, staged an uprising on the second round that brought him to the final hole one down. But he sent his third shot onto a hard ledge and lost his chance. The final holes of the exciting duel were played in fog so thick that marshalls and golf officials were placed along the coast to point out errant shots.

The two youngsters will travel two rounds Saturday over the 6,747 fantastic yards of the Pebble Beach course, whose fairways are rounded by the high bluffs and sandy beaches of the Pacific coastline.

Nicklaus, who may become a father for the first time before Saturday's firing ends, engineered a 7-up margin over his jittery opponent in the morning round. Wysong, chain-smoking and grim, had the glib Carr, a member of the British Walker Cup team for a record eighth time, 5 down at lunch.

"I'm greedy. I want to win everything," said the 205-pound Nicklaus as he sent daring tee shots straight for the flag in the midst of the rout he was giving the 21-year-old Louisiana State University junior.

Methvin was so nervous at the start of the day's play he didn't hit a green in regulation figures until the 160-yard fifth. He won only one hole on each of the rounds.

Nicklaus' power was shown at the 497-yard second, where the Ohio Stater reached the green with a wood and a No. 2 iron. Methvin was short with two full woods.

The Ohio lasher went around in 71, one under par, in the morning and closed out the former Arkansas amateur champ with 2-under-par for 10 holes in the afternoon. Methvin had an 80 before lunch and was even for the second round. Nicklaus putted for birds on nine of the 10 holes after lunch.

When this was pointed out to Nicklaus, he replied only that "if you are good, you are putting for birds on 10 out of 10."

Play Mexico Poly In Home Fracas

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

Kickoff time is 8 o'clock.

It will be a big test for the Indians of Jack Rowan. Ahead lies the roughest schedule in the history of the school. If the Tribe cannot do well against the feather - light Mexico squad then the fall may well be long and lean.

The White Burros of Mexico Poly average 173 pounds per man. Up front the average is 175. In the backfield it is 168.

TRIBE HEAVIER

Big problem for the Indians last year and in their practice scrimmages this year has been moving the ball on the ground.

Smith at 180 is the lightest lineman.

Tatum figured in the swap-ups. He was a tackle last year and as late as last week was playing guard.

Foster, who broke his nose in practice this week, was moved back to guard from center. He underwent surgery Friday, but is expected to play.

BACKFIELD FIGHT

Position battling in the backfield is going up to the last minute. Ronnie Myrick, an All-State freshman quarterback from Oak Grove moved up to the number two spot last week and may be picked ahead of veteran Don Wattigny by game time.

Two Indians not expected to see action because of injuries are end Gene Harbert and fullback Roy Goodwin.

Goodwin is suffering from a back injury, but is expected back in a week or two, while Harbert has a charley horse that has not responded to treatment.

Halfback Gordon Salsman has been designated to do Northeast's punting, while Ragan will kick extra points and field goals and either Ragan or guard Terry Brunet will kick off.

The Indians , with only five seniors and four juniors, are looking for their second opening night victory in a row. The Tribe topped Arkansas State 13-6 in their first game last year.

BURROS FAST

Mexico Poly has a fast, wide-open offense. They rolled up 239 points last year in winning five of seven contests.

Two of the wins were over the Houston Frosh (30-24) and the Miami Frosh (30-27), while the losses were to Lamar Tech 42-6 and Pensacola Navy 34-30.

This should indicate, if last year's scores mean anything at all, that they can roll up the points, but are weak defensively.

Speed merchants Emeterio Dominquez and Antonio Trapero, both 165-pounders, are the halfbacks and 187 pound Guillermo Areizaga is the fullback.

Ouachita Eases By Tigers In Strong Defensive Tilt

JONESBORO (Special) — The Ouachita Parish High School Lions eased by the Jonesboro-Hodge Tigers last night in a strong defensive game by the score of 7-6.

It was a noutstanding defensive battle all the way with neither team being able to make much headway in the strong defensive wall of their opponent.

The Lions picked up 200 yards rushing and racked up 12 first downs while the Tigers picked up 120 yards and seven first downs.

Jonesboro jumped out into the lead in the first quarter when Quarterback Bennie Phillips passed to Halfback Marvin Cavett for six yards and a touchdown. The extra point attempt failed, and later proved to be the deciding factor.

After taking over on their own 28 yard line, the Lions ground out the yardage primarily on the ground. Bubba Via, the big fullback, capped the 72-yard drive by plunging over from the three yard line to tie the game at 6-6.

Quarterback Dennis Warner then kicked the all-important extra point that spelled victory for Coach Bob Ellen's Lions.

The clubs made a defensive duel of the entire second half with neither team being able to put together a threatening drive.

Tigers who turned in outstanding performances on defense include Robert Morris, J. W. Fain, Homer Austin, Laddel Farley and Johnny Shows.

Red Sox Edge Orioles, 3-2 In 10 Innings

BOSTON (AP) — Boston rookie Carl Yastrzemski's 10th inning home run beat Baltimore 3-2 Friday night and settled a sharp pitching battle in favor of Gene Conley.

Baltimore twice took leads on a solo homer by Jackie Brandt in the first inning and Brooks Robinson's triple in the fifth.

Gridder Hurt

Crowville won the game 7-6. Schooler, running from the left halfback post, made the touchdown for Winnsboro.

Sterlington To Play Bastrop B Team Tonight

STERLINGTON (Special)—The Sterlington Panthers will be going after their first victory of the '61 football season as they encounter the Bastrop "B" Team tonight.

Kickoff time is slated for 8:00 p.m. at Sterlington High School Stadium.

Then on Monday night the same Ouachita team edged the Bastrop "B" Team, 7-6 in a game played in rain and mud.

Bastrop has a much heavier team than Sterlington, especially in the line. Because of their lightness, the Panthers will probably have to rely primarily on their passing attack.

After viewing the display of gfits, guests were served punch from a table covered by an imported ecru linen cloth, hand appliqued in pink, blue and yellow. The table was centered with a brass epergne holding a pyramid design of Charlotte Armstrong roses and barberry foliage. Pink tapers in silver candelabra completed the central appointment. Mrs. Pearl Loftin, Mrs. Dan Columbus and Mrs. Donald Ballard alternated serving at a crystal punch bowl placed at the end of the table.

Those assisting as tea girls were Misses Judy Lebengood and Cheryl Ballard. Others extending courtesies were Mrs. Mabel Spencer and Mrs. Richard Watkins.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: May a new American ask a question? Why do married couples here pretend that they are faithful to one another when the truth is that they are having love affairs left and right?

In Europe there is no such fakery. Please understand that I am not criticizing what Americans "do". I criticize only the dishonesty. In Europe we are more mature. We put all our cards on the tablecloth.

By nature male animals are polygamists. Why should there be so much guilt about a normal biological drive? How much healthier to show an honest face to the world. No wonder the psychiatrists here are so busy. People are sick from pretending.

I have a beautiful wife and four lovely children. I've had several harmless little affairs d'amour and hope to have more. It is against all laws of nature for a man to be true to one woman so I do not attempt the impossible. Just sign me—ANONYMOUS

Dear Anonymous: No name? Not even an initial? How much healthier if "you" would show your honest face to the world—and put all your cards on the tablecloth.

The polygamist argument has been dragged around until it's pretty tired. Man is supposed to be different from the alley cat because God has given him the power to reason and the ability to control his biological urges.

Fidelity is one of the major supports of the family in our culture. We know not everyone achieves it, but it's an absurdity to say that marital fidelity is impossible to attain.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a career woman who will be marrying for the first time in October. The man is perfectly grand—an advertising executive who lost his wife five years ago.

The problem is this: I will be moving into his home which is beautiful. But it is furnished in his first wife's taste—which is very different from mine. She went in for ornate furniture, representational art and brocaded draperies. I'm afraid I'll feel overpowered in such surroundings.

Should I suggest redecorating and refurnishing "before" we marry? I've been careful not to criticize his home so of course he doesn't know how I feel. A close friend tells me if I don't speak up now I may be stuck with the old decor forever. —UNSURE

Dear Unsure: Live in the house for a few months then run a few ideas up the flagpole and see if he salutes.

Dear Ann Landers: A woman I will call Brenda was married to my brother. They had a few separations but were never actually divorced. My brother passed away three months ago. The day after the funeral she went down and changed her name back to Miss . . .

Last week we were at a party together and when I introduced Brenda as my sister-in-law she took me aside and said, "I am no longer your sister-in-law so please don't introduce me that way."

I say once people are related they are related forever. I will continue to introduce her as my sister-in-law until you say I'm wrong. —STELLA

Dear Stella: Well, you're wrong, so you can stop now. Blood relatives are related forever, but when relatives are acquired through marriage the status is altered when the bond is broken.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you read "Ann Landers' " booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Lunch Box Tricks Help Slim Fatty

NEW YORK — Lunch at school needn't be a time of torture for weight-watching adolescents.

It can and should be a fun meal that nourishes as well as slims.

From a firm making low calorie salad dressings come these suggestions for de-calorizing and glamorizing the school lunch box:

—Make each lunch box menu a full meal of several courses. A varied menu seems lavish and the appetite easily is fooled by the appearance of things. In addition to a sandwich, include such extras as hot soup — boullion or tomato, a crisp salad of raw carrots, celery, radishes, green pepper strips and cherry tomatoes, fresh fruit or even some low calorie sweets for dessert.

—Use different types of bread to keep the sandwiches interesting. Thin slices, of course. Remove the crusts. Plump crisp rolls are dieters' aids. Scoop out the doughy centers and use the shells for sandwiches.

—Make the filling bulky. Lettuce, tomato or cucumber slices, watercress, chicory, or pickle strips plump up a sliced meat, poultry or egg sandwich.

—A bit of licorice, a couple of gumdrops or some hard candies can substitute for the butter creams, fudges or caramel desserts which would wreck the caloric budget.

Bride-Elect, Miss Painick Honoree At Tea Shower

The Reception Room of the First National Bank in West Monroe was the setting for a miscellaneous tea shower on Sunday, September 10, honoring Miss Kathryn Jean Painich, bride-elect of Royce Dwain Johnson. Parents of the engaged couple are Mrs. Hazel Bailey and Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Johnson, of West Monroe, and the wedding is to be an event of September 23 at the home of the bride's mother.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Lillian Ballard, Mrs. Dan Columbus, Mrs. Margaret Ross, Mrs. Havis McKaskle and Mrs. Pearl Loftin.

A massive arrangement of fall flowers flanked on either side by tall diffenbachia plants formed the setting for the receiving line composed of Mrs. Ballard, Miss Painich, the honoree, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Bailey. Each wore a corsage to compliment their dress.

After viewing the display of gfits, guests were served punch from a table covered by an imported ecru linen cloth, hand appliqued in pink, blue and yellow. The table was centered with a brass epergne holding a pyramid design of Charlotte Armstrong roses and barberry foliage. Pink tapers in silver candelabra completed the central appointment. Mrs. Pearl Loftin, Mrs. Dan Columbus and Mrs. Donald Ballard alternated serving at a crystal punch bowl placed at the end of the table.

Those assisting as tea girls were Misses Judy Lebengood and Cheryl Ballard. Others extending courtesies were Mrs. Mabel Spencer and Mrs. Richard Watkins.

Guests called between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

YOUR PROBLEMS
By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: May a new American ask a question? Why do married couples here pretend that they are faithful to one another when the truth is that they are having love affairs left and right?

In Europe there is no such fakery. Please understand that I am not criticizing what Americans "do". I criticize only the dishonesty. In Europe we are more mature. We put all our cards on the tablecloth.

By nature male animals are polygamists. Why should there be so much guilt about a normal biological drive? How much healthier to show an honest face to the world. No wonder the psychiatrists here are so busy. People are sick from pretending.

I have a beautiful wife and four lovely children. I've had several harmless little affairs d'amour and hope to have more. It is against all laws of nature for a man to be true to one woman so I do not attempt the impossible. Just sign me—ANONYMOUS

Dear Anonymous: No name? Not even an initial? How much healthier if "you" would show your honest face to the world—and put all your cards on the tablecloth.

The polygamist argument has been dragged around until it's pretty tired. Man is supposed to be different from the alley cat because God has given him the power to reason and the ability to control his biological urges.

Fidelity is one of the major supports of the family in our culture. We know not everyone achieves it, but it's an absurdity to say that marital fidelity is impossible to attain.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a career woman who will be marrying for the first time in October. The man is perfectly grand—an advertising executive who lost his wife five years ago.

The problem is this: I will be moving into his home which is beautiful. But it is furnished in his first wife's taste—which is very different from mine. She went in for ornate furniture, representational art and brocaded draperies. I'm afraid I'll feel overpowered in such surroundings.

Should I suggest redecorating and refurnishing "before" we marry? I've been careful not to criticize his home so of course he doesn't know how I feel. A close friend tells me if I don't speak up now I may be stuck with the old decor forever. —UNSURE

Dear Unsure: Live in the house for a few months then run a few ideas up the flagpole and see if he salutes.

Dear Ann Landers: A woman I will call Brenda was married to my brother. They had a few separations but were never actually divorced. My brother passed away three months ago. The day after the funeral she went down and changed her name back to Miss . . .

Last week we were at a party together and when I introduced Brenda as my sister-in-law she took me aside and said, "I am no longer your sister-in-law so please don't introduce me that way."

I say once people are related they are related forever. I will continue to introduce her as my sister-in-law until you say I'm wrong. —STELLA

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

The parent who slaps her child to punish her can expect the child to slap back. Children cannot know that one kind of behavior is allowed to the parent, but not to them.

Mrs. V.M. writes,

"Dear Mrs. Eldred

"I am grateful for your column which has helped me many times. I would like to have your help. My 14-month-old daughter has me stumped.

"A few months ago she would listen to everything I said. If I said 'no-no' or 'don't touch,' she would listen. However, for the past months she has rebelled against me. She pays no attention whatever when I try to discipline her. If I spank her, she pulls a temper tantrum or hits back at me. She completely ignores anything said by me or anyone else.

"Can you please help me to break her of this? Thank you."

ANSWER

Fourteen months is young for this independent, negativistic behavior. Her behavior is more typical of the 2-year-old. It is possible [illegible] without being aware of it, you are thwarting her at every [illegible].

She should be allowed to move about freely, but safely, so she may investigate her surroundings without endangering herself or the objects in your home. By moving precious things out of reach you avoid the necessity for so much slapping and spanking, which she is too young to understand. Children learn by imitation and if you slap her she slaps back. (One reason I am so opposed to this sort of discipline.)

INDICATE FRUSTRATION

Temper tantrums are attention-getters. They also indicate the child's frustration because she is being told 'no - no' and 'don't touch', too often. The more things she can handle, examine, mouth and learn about, the happier she will be. Keep this discipline at a minimum, and make it of the type which doesn't foster imitation.

Put her in a playpen, or a bed in her room when you cannot be near her, and keep her out of mischief. Remove her from the place in which she is misbehaving. Take away the objects you prefer she should not handle. Substitute the ones she can have.

It is better to distract her attention than to punish her. Isolation in her room works well when she gets out of hand or throws a temper tantrum.

When she is allowed more freedom and punished less, she will lose her antagonistic attitude toward your authority. And remember, she is growing and learning more each day.

In her new booklet, Mrs. Eldred discusses that period when the child says no continually. The booklet is informative, too, on other phases and bad habits the child falls into. To obtain it, send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for "Undesirable Habit Patterns." Address Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

SEEN AT THE ENTRANCE to their new home on Oak Drive are Mrs. E. L. Holloway and son, Scott, who with Mr. Holloway have recently moved to Monroe.

Family Happy With Life In Haunted House

RUISLIP, England (UPI) — Mrs. Lily Clements said Friday she feels right at home in the "haunted house" formerly occupied by two Americans who spied for Russia.

"We often hear a knock at our front door. But when we open it there is no one there," Mrs. Clements said. "We like that very much, for we are spiritualists."

The house she and her husband and two daughters moved into recently had been the home of two New Yorkers, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cohen (alias Peter and Helen Kroger) who were imprisoned for 20 years earlier this year for stealing British naval secrets for the Soviet Union. The house was dubbed the "House of Secrets" because of its secret hiding places used by the spy ring.

"The knocks started soon after we moved in. But we don't think they are secret agents with messages. They are just the spirits that moved with us when we left our old apartment," Mrs. Clements said. "It's a real honey."

Although the neighbors call it the "House of Secrets," the Clements renamed the house "Peace Haven." "It's wonderful," Mrs. Clements said of all the hiding spots.

Disneyland Act Thrills All Onlookers

By RICK DU BROW

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — At the age of 70, when most little old ladies are adjusting to the pace of their declining years, Mrs. Tiny Kline holds forth nightly at Disneyland in one of the most spectacular aerial acts in the world.

To the awed visitors who watch her make a 740-foot descent by cable pulley from a height of 146 feet, the white-haired veteran is "Tinker Bell," the Peter Pan character.

Hungarian-born, standing 4 foot 9 and weighing all of 98 pounds, she made some brief news in June when her pulley stuck and she dangled for nearly half an hour above a Disneyland crowd — held from falling only by a harness.

"But, my goodness, they should have seen my act when I hung by my teeth," she said.

Thousands of persons saw that act from 1916 on. She specialized in a daring slide from the top of a tent to the ground. Once, in Toronto, Can., she came down so fast that the men who were supposed to catch her muffed their task, and she slammed into a [illegible] breaking three ribs.

Another time she had to give up her pet ambition — to slide down a rope hanging from the top of the Empire State Building in New York — when several of her teeth were knocked out. Still another time she dangled from a blimp 1,500 feet above the ocean at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City, N.J.

"Once," she said, "they wanted me to slide down a cable across Times Square. It was 1932. The cops wouldn't let me. So I took a room at the Hotel Edison and fixed up a pulley during the night. The next day I slid on my cable across to the Palace Theater. The poor police — they couldn't catch me. They would have had to shoot me down."

They arrested her for endangering spectators, but couldn't hold her — and the picture of her aerial journey was front-page news all around the world.

The beautiful aerialist was on the front pages in 1915, too, when her husband of only five weeks — Otto Kline, the champion trick horseback rider — was killed in Madison Square Garden in the wild west show to which they both belonged.

"He was swinging from side to side on his horse," she said, "and suddenly he slipped and fell, and the horse crushed his skull. A monument was built to him, and Buffalo Bill and Will Rogers contributed.

"Until Otto died, I was just a dancer—a real hootchy-kootchy, with class — and the other dances too. But when he died I decided to be a champion, like he was. I took up Roman-style (chariot-like) riding on horseback first. Then one thing led to another, and I wound up with my act: aerialism."

Tiny, who came to America with a Hungarian circus troupe at the age of 14 because "mama thought I could marry one of the many millionaires that were supposed to be here," was in virtual retirement when Walt Disney saw her perform at Hollywood Bowl and signed her.

"I was asked by somebody here, 'In case anything happens to you, can we have a substitute?' " she said.

"I told them, 'If you had a substitute, you wouldn't need me. I'm the one and only. I know that's braggadocio — but it's a fact.

"I like it better here than the circus because there's no class distinction. In the circus, the bareback riders and the aerialists are the elite.

"Below them are the acrobats. And the clowns are on bottom. It's very class-conscious. And in my days, no marriages were allowed — or romances. I once had to get out of a circus by staging a mock marriage.

Bureau Assails Freeman's Corn Surplus Plan

CHICAGO (UPI)—The board of directors of the American Farm Bureau Federation Friday criticized Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman's corn surplus program.

The organization said the program would "dump government-held surplus corn on the market at a time when farmers are harvesting and selling a near-record crop."

The board said heavy government sales from surplus stocks already have hurt corn prices. A step-up in government sales now when corn is ready to be harvested will disrupt seriously and demoralize the whole feed grain market, the board said.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Six years ago I lost my head over a married man. I was married, too. It is all over now, but at that time we thought we were "in love," and it was quite serious. My husband didn't know about it at the time, and neither did the other man's wife.

My husband recently found out about this dead affair, and has threatened to call up the man's wife and tell her. The man is happily married and has a family. I am scared to death. Would you advise me to call the man and warn him so he won't be thunderstruck if my husband calls his wife? I hate to see his marriage ruined. —PAST DUG UP

DEAR PAST: Try hard to get your husband to realize the contemptible injustice of punishing an innocent wife and family. If you think your husband actually intends to call the wife, call the man and tip him off.

DEAR ABBY: Every time my boy friend and I are together he acts like his head is on a swivel. It's bad enough that he has to look at every pretty girl he sees, but he even makes remarks to me about them. He will say, "Oh, boy, how would you like to be stacked like that girl?" I try to be a good sport, but this hurts me very much because I care a lot for this boy. I am 18 and he is 19 and he tells me he loves me, but when he acts like this, I wonder. What do you think? —BARBS

DEAR BARBS: I think you can do better. You don't want to listen to that kind of talk the rest of your life, do you?

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are having a squabble over how long a woman can carry a baby. I say a woman can carry a baby six to eight weeks past due. My husband says that nine months is the limit and, if a baby is carried over nine months, there must be something wrong with the lady's figuring. —DON'T KNOW

DEAR DON'T: According to medical authorities, women have been known to carry babies ten months (and even longer) from the time of conception to birth.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Marie": Don't waste any more time on him. Tell him, "No shoes, no rice — no dice."

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

The parent who slaps her child to punish her, can expect the child to slap back. Children cannot know that one kind of behavior is allowed to the parent, but not to them.

Mrs. V.M. writes,

"Dear Mrs. Eldred:

"I am grateful for your column which has helped me many times. I would like to have your help. My 14-month-old daughter has me stumped.

"A few months ago she would listen to everything I said. If I said 'no-no' or 'don't touch,' she would listen. However, for the past months she has rebelled against me. She pays no attention whatever when I try to discipline her. If I spank her, she pulls a temper tantrum or hits back at me. She completely ignores anything said by me or anyone else.

"Can you please help me to break her of this? Thank you."

ANSWER

Fourteen months is young for this independent, negativistic behavior. Her behavior is more typical of the 2-year-old. It is possible that without being aware of it, you are thwarting her at every turn.

She should be allowed to move about freely, but safely, so she may investigate her surroundings without endangering herself or the objects in your home. By moving precious things out of reach you avoid the necessity for so much slapping and spanking, which she is too young to understand. Children learn by imitation and if you slap her she slaps back. (One reason I am so opposed to this sort of discipline.)

INDICATE FRUSTRATION

Temper tantrums are attention-getters. They also indicate the child's frustration because she is being told 'no - no' and 'don't touch', too often. The more things she can handle, examine, mouth and learn about, the happier she will be. Keep this discipline at a minimum, and make it of the type which doesn't foster imitation.

Put her in a playpen, or a bed in her room when you cannot be near her, and keep her out of mischief. Remove her from the place in which she is misbehaving. Take away the objects you prefer she should not handle. Substitute the ones she can have.

It is better to distract her attention than to punish her. Isolation in her room works well when she gets out of hand or throws a temper tantrum.

When she is allowed more freedom and punished less, she will lose her antagonistic attitude toward your authority. And remember—she is growing and learning more each day.

In her new booklet, Mrs. Eldred discusses that period when the child says no continually. The booklet is informative, too, on other phases and bad habits the child falls into. To obtain it, send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelop with your request for, "Undesirable Habit Patterns." Address Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Family Happy With Life In Haunted House

RUISLIP, England (UPI)—Mrs. Lily Clements said Friday she feels right at home in the "haunted house" formerly occupied by two Americans who spied for Russia.

"We often hear a knock at our front door. But when we open it there is no one there," Mrs. Clements said. "We like that very much, for we are spiritualists."

The house she and her husband and two daughters moved into recently had been the home of two New Yorkers, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cohen (alis Peter and Helen Kroger) who were imprisoned for 20 years earlier this year for stealing British naval secrets for the Soviet Union. The house was dubbed the "House of Secrets" because of its secret hiding places used by the spy ring.

"The knocks started soon after we moved in. But we don't think they are secret agents with messages. They are just the spirits that moved with us when we left our old apartment," Mrs. Clements said. "It's real homey."

Although the neighbors call it the "House of Secrets," the Clements renamed the house "Peacehaven". "It's wonderful," Mrs. Clements said of all the hiding spots.

Disneyland Act Thrills All Onlookers

By RICK DU BROW

To the awed visitors who watch her make a 740-foot descent by cable pulley from a height of 146 feet, the white - haired veteran is "Tinker Bell," the Peter Pan character.

Hungarian - born, standing 4-foot-9 and weighing all of 98 pounds, she made some brief news in June when her pulley stuck and she dangled for nearly half an hour above a Disneyland crowd — held from falling only by a harness.

"But, my goodness, they should have seen my act when I hung by my teeth," she said.

Thousands of persons saw that act from 1916 on. She specialized in a daring slide from the top of a tent to the ground. Once, in Toronto, Can., she came down so fast that the men who were supposed to catch her muffed their task, and she slammed into a post, breaking three ribs.

Another time, she had to give up her pet ambition — to slide down a rope hanging from the top of the Empire State Building in New York — when several of her teeth were knocked out. Still another time, she dangled from a blimp 1,500 feet above the ocean at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City, N. J.

"Once," she said, "they wanted me to slide down a cable across Times Square. It was 1932. The cops wouldn't le me. So I took a room at the Hotel Edison and fixed up a pulley during the night. The next day I slid on my cable across to the Palace Theater. The poor police — they couldn't catch me. They would have had to shoot me down."

The beautiful aerialist was on the front pages in 1915, too, when her husband of only five weeks —Otto Kline, the champion trick horseback rider — was killed in Madison Square Garden in the wild west show to which they both belonged.

"He was swinging from side to side on his horse," she said, "and suddenly he slipped and fell, and the horse crushed his skull. A monument was built to him, and Buffalo Bill and Will Rogers contributed.

"Until Otto died, I was just a dancer—a real hootchy-kootchy, with class — and the other dances too. But when he died I decided to be a champion, like he was. I took up Roman - style (chariot-like) riding on horseback first. Then one thing led to another, and I wound up with my act: aerialism."

Tiny, who came to America with a Hungarian circus troupe at the age of 14 because "mama thought I could marry one of the many millionaires that were supposed to be here," was in virtual retirement when Walt Disney saw her perform at Hollywood Bowl and signed her.

"I was asked by somebody here, 'In case anything happens to you, can we have a substitute?' " she said.

"I told them, 'If you had a substitute, you wouldn't need me. I'm the one and only. I know that's braggadocio — but it's a fact.

"I like it better here than the circus because there's no class distinction. In the circus, the bareback riders and the aerialists are the elite.

"Below them are the acrobats. And the clowns are on bottom. It's very class - conscious. And in my days, no marriages were allowed —or romances. I once had to get out of a circus by staging a mock marriage.

HOLDS 130 CAPTIVES

Tshombe Threatens To Slay Prisoners

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—President Moise Tshombe's Radio Free Katanga, in a broadcast amid battles raging for the third straight day, announced Friday that 10 U.N. prisoners would be executed for every Katangan killed.

With about 130 Irish U.N. troops reported as prisoners, Tshombe's forces have the means of carrying out the threat.

The announcement followed one from U.N. spokesman Michel Tombelain on Radio Katanga, operated by the Congo central government, saying Brig. S. K. Raja of India, U.N. military commander in Katanga, had ordered summary execution of any Katangans found with weapons.

The United Nations Friday night decreed a state of emergency and a curfew providing anybody found in the streets after 8 p.m. will be shot.

After the capture of these men Radio Free Katanga moved in and transmitted Tshombe's threat of 10 lives for one.

U.N. reinforcements were sent to the radio studio but were ambushed by Katanga gendarmerie, who put out of action two U.N. armored cars, one bus and one truck containing arms and ammunition.

Service Journal Says 125,000 May Go Abroad

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A military service journal speculated Friday that the United States may send 125,000 or more troops to Europe before the end of the year.

The troops would include two National Guard divisions, the Army-Navy-Air Force Journal said.

Because movement of the troops would tax port facilities, the journal said, "the Army probably will send about 5,600 port specialists to Europe next month or in early November."

Last weekend's Pentagon order to move 40,000 more troops to Europe was described as the first phase of a "massive buildup" which could involve six combat divisions unless the Berlin crisis subsides.

The journal said it is believed that the 2nd Infantry Division of Ft. Benning, Ga., and the 2nd Armored at Ft. Hood, Tex., would be first to go. They would be followed by the 1st Infantry at Ft. Riley, Kan., and the 4th Infantry at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

The National Guard divisions will be picked from four which were alerted Sept. 5 for possible services. The alerted divisions were those of Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Texas.

Kennedy Makes Cape Cod Hop

The presidential Air Force jet landed at Otis Air Force Base at 6:45 p.m.

A storm, with wind reaching hurricane force of 75 miles an hour in some places, had lashed southeastern New England during the day but it had sped into Canada by the time Kennedy arrived.

U.N. Action In Katanga Shocks Many

LONDON (UPI)—The French Foreign Office said Friday Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold may have violated the United Nations Charter by ordering the military occupation of the breakaway province of Katanga in the Congo.

In Dublin, an Irish lawmaker demanded the recall of Ireland's Dr. Conor Cruise O'Brien, chief U.N. representative in Katanga. There were indications that the fighting would spark another major battle in the General Assembly over the Congo this fall.

African nationalist leaders also lauded the operation. Nyasaland nationalist Dr. Hastings Banda said the action was "long overdue." Similar sentiments were expressed by Kenya nationalist leader Tom Mboya.

Congolese Information Minister Joseph Ileo, replying to the criticisms at a news conference in Leopoldville, said the Central government had requested the action. He said the United Nations moved at "our request and are within their rights according to the Security Council resolutions."

But in Paris, a spokesman for the French Foreign Office said Hammarskjold may have "exceeded his mandate" by ordering the large-scale military operations. He said the French government is "distrubed by the serious consequences which these events might have on the internal situation of this part of the Congo."

Irish newspapers gave banner lines to the fighting in Katanga and reports that 5 Irish soldiers had been killed and 20 taken prisoner. The dispatches caused concern and angry reaction throughout the republic.

Sen. Patrick Quinland of Cork sent a telegram to Premier Sean Lemass demanding the immediate recall of O'Brien, a member of the Irish diplomatic service on loan to the United Nations.

DIRECT DIALING

Passman Speaks In Demonstration

Highlighting the coming Sunday to the Twin Cities and the area of Direct Distance Dialing telephone service, West Monroe Mayor J. Allan Norris last night phoned Louisiana Congressman Otto E. Passman in his Washington, D.C., office.

He made the call from the Paragon Supper Club where a special demonstration was set up by Southern Bell District Manager W. E. Whetstone. Attending were company, city and parish officials and representatives of the news media.

In a free - ranging policy address centering on aid overseas, the Fifth Congressional District legislator called the greatest single threat to the government of this country a "growing disrespect for the Constitution."

"The Constitution," said Passman, "is the only basis for governmental action. All else is usurpation."

The demonstration emphasized the fact that direct distance dialing will come to the Twin Cities and the area starting Sunday. Through the system, according to Whetstone, virtually all conversation with an operator is eliminated.

"Dial '1'," he commented, "then the area code, and finally the calling number in the city called."

In approximately a 20-minute address, Passman scored the Kennedy administration as having "accelerating the trend toward higher federal expenditures.

"You can't keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn—the same with a government as with an individual."

He launched a vigorous attack on the foreign aid posture of the nation and as an adjunct cited the diminishing position of the American dollar on world markets.

Passman intimated that the stability of the currency was now being questioned by the very countries that have received the give-away aid which reduced its value.

"The federal government gets two-thirds of every tax dollar at this time," said Louisiana's long-time (15 years) solon, "and 97 of the 110 nations in the world receive some form of aid."

"And (because of this)," he went on, "our (budgetary) deficits now total more than the combined deficit of every other nation in the world."

Passman was instrumental in a cut in excess of $600 millions on President Kennedy's foreign aid request to the Congress, much of which recently was restored by the Senate. He predicted success in defending the cuts in a coming Senate-House conference committee which will arrive at a final figure.

Hebert Says All Lose In Nuclear War

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., said Friday both Russia and the United States would lose in a nuclear war.

Hebert, the luncheon speaker at the 39th annual convention of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, said should the Russians drop a nuclear bomb on the United States, there would be similar retaliation on Russia and both would lose.

"It has always been the policy of the department of conservation, through its commissioner," Gill said, "to establish allowables in the state of Louisiana so as to produce an amount of oil commensurate with reasonable market demand."

Most accusations against the state's production approached, he said, are irresponsible and based on misinformation and misunderstanding.

"Periodically, the commissioner requires all crude oil purchasers in the state to submit an up-to-date and realistic nomination of their Louisiana crude oil requirements," Gill added.

"These amounts have been considered in determining the proper allowables for the ensuing month or months," Gill continued. "In addition to these nominations we use other means of determining Louisiana's proper share of the national market demand."

Typhoon Takes Toll In Japan

At least three persons had been killed, 10 were missing and 37 had been injured even before the full force of the typhoon's 140-mile-an-hour winds had hit the southernmost island of Kyushu.

Commercial air service was stopped and railroads canceled trains or routed them hopefully around washed-out sections of track. Wind, rain and floods washed out highways in 90 places, destroyed 20 bridges and triggered 59 landslides.

Drunken Driving Charges Filed

Harold L. Whitlock, 21, of 302 Wheelis St. in West Monroe, was in Monroe city jail last night after being booked by Monroe police late Friday on charges of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving.

Monroe Negro, Jamie Pearson, 46, of 602 Adam St. was being held under $500 bond, charged with simple assault, disturbing the peace, being drunk and disorderly and having caused damage to property.

Driver Missing After Wreck; Police Searching

State Police Friday night were looking for the driver of a 1961 compact automobile which crashed out of control shortly before 11 p.m. on the New Natchitoches Road near West Monroe.

The driver apparently missed a curve about .3 of a mile west of the road's intersection with Jewel Street, jumped an adjoining ditch and plowed approximately 200 feet through an open field before coming to rest on its left side. It smashed through a three - strand wire fence edging the field.

Investigating officers said the automobile was registered to Doyle G. Foy, whose address was listed as South 10th Street in Monroe. The driver was not to be found, however, and it could not be established immediately if Foy had been at the wheel.

The car appeared to have been traveling east on the New Natchitoches Road when it spun out of control. The wreckage was discovered by agents of the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department, who notified State Police and remained at the scene.

A resident in nearby Riser's subdivision reportedly told officers he had seen a figure walking away from the car, across the field and away from the road, soon after the crash. He couldn't speculate as to whether the party was injured.

No one else was believed to have been in the car.

Monroe Court Action Light

Monroe city court activity was light Friday. Judge W. M. Harper fined one person $115 and costs for reckless driving and three others $25 and costs on the same charge. Sixteen drew fines or forfeited bonds on lesser traffic violations.

Three others were fined $50 and costs on counts of public drunkenness. One case of vagrancy was nolle prossed while a second brought a 60 day compulsory jail sentence.

Berlin Raising Relief Funds For Louisiana

BATON ROUGE (AP) Gov. Jimmie H. Davis said Friday a Berlin newspaper is raising hurricane relief funds for Louisiana.

He made public a telegram from the Berliner Morgenpost, saying the people of Berlin "want to help, as best we humanly can."

Davis said, "words are inadequate to express the gratitude of the people of Louisiana for your most generous action in offering assistance."

Hurricane Carla howled inland through Texas during the weekend, with accompanying tornadoes in Louisiana bringing death and destruction in two areas.

"Soon we will be sending the contribution," the Berlin newspaper said in a telegram to Davis, "as practical as we know to help in the present emergency.

"We want to show that Berlin does not forget the people, your countrymen in Louisiana and elsewhere, who have never forgotten us, and stand with us in our common cause in fraternal sympathy."

Senate Passes Elections Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Friday passed by voice vote a bill to require fuller disclosure of the financing of federal election campaigns. It also would raise spending ceilings.

The measure is a less sweeping version of a bill passed by the Senate last January and shelved by the House.

Efforts to write in controversial provisions to make the measure apply to primary elections and to state and local political committees handling $2,500 a year or more were rejected. This was a reversal of the stand the Senate took last year.

HOLDS 130 CAPTIVES

Tshombe Threatens To Slay Prisoners

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—President Moise Tshombe's Radio Free Katanga, in a broadcast amid battles raging for the third straight day, announced Friday that 10 U.N. prisoners would be executed for every Katangan killed.

With about 130 Irish U.N. troops reported as prisoners, Tshombe's forces have the means of carrying out the threat.

The announcement followed one from U.N. spokesman Michel Tombelain on Radio Katanga, operated by the Congocentral government, saying Brig. S. K. Raja of India, U.N. military commander in Katanga, had ordered summary execution of any Katangans found with weapons.

The United Nations Friday night decreed a state of emergency and a curfew providing anybody found in the streets after 8 p.m. will be shot.

Eleven Irishmen who had occupied a radio station surrendered Thursday afternoon to the Katangan gendarmerie and put themselves under the protection of a German TV man, Hans Germani, and white Catholic priests.

The Irish declared that they had been without food supplies, ammunition and orders for the previous two days.

After the capture of these men Radio Free Katanga moved in and transmitted Tshombe's threat of 10 lives for one.

U.N. reinforcements were sent to the radio studio but were ambushed by Katanga gendarmerie, who put out of action two U.N. armored cars, one bus and one truck containing arms and ammunition.

Service Journal Says 125,000 May Go Abroad

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A military service journal speculated Friday that the United States may send 125,000 or more troops to Europe before the end of the year.

The troops would include two National Guard divisions, the Army-Navy-Air Force Journal said.

Because movement of the troops would tax port facilities, the journal said, "the Army probably will send about 5,600 port specialists to Europe next month or in early November."

Last weekend's Pentagon order to move 40,000 more troops to Europe was described as the first phase of a "massive buildup" which could involve six combat divisions unless the Berlin crisis subsides.

The journal said it is believed that the 2nd Infantry Divison of Ft. Benning, Ga., and the 2nd Armored at Ft. Hood, Tex., would be first to go. They would be followed by the 1st Infantry at Ft. Riley, Kan., and the 4th Infantry at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

The National Guard divisions will be picked from four which were alerted Sept. 5 for possible services. The alerted divisions were those of Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Texas.

Kennedy Makes Cape Cod Hop

The presidential Air Force jet landed at Otis Air Force Base at 6:45 p.m.

A storm, with wind reaching hurricane force of 75 miles an hour in some places, had lashed southeastern New England during the day but it had sped into Canada by the time Kennedy arrived.

This change in conditions allowed him to take his customary helicopter trip from the air base to his summer home.

The presidential helicopter hop was made after an Army helicopter flew to Hyannis Port to check on weather conditions.

U.N. Action In Katanga Shocks Many

LONDON (UPI)—The French Foreign Office said Friday Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold may have violated the United Nations Charter by ordering the military occupation of the breakway province of Katanga in the Congo.

In Dublin, an Irish lawmaker demanded the recall of Ireland's Dr. Conor Cruise O'Brien, chief U.N. representative in Katanga. There were indications that the fighting would spark another major battle in the General Assembly over the Congo this fall.

The press in Europe generally expressed shock, dismay and anger over the United Nations attempt to seize control of Katanga by force. Only Italian left-wing and Communist newspapers voiced approval.

African nationalist leaders also lauded the operation. Nyasaland nationalist Dr. Hastings Banda said the action was "long overdue." Similar sentiments were expressed by Kenya nationalist leader Tom Mboya.

Congolese Information Minister Joseph Ileo, replying to the criticisms at a news conference in Leopoldville, said the Central government had requested the action. He said the United Nations moved at "our request and are within their rights according to the Security Council resolutions."

But in Paris, a spokesman for the French Foreign Office said Hammarskjold may have "exceeded his mandate" by ordering the large-scale military operations. He said the French government is "distrubed by the serious consequences which these events might have on the internal situation of this part of the Congo."

Irish newspapers gave banner lines to the fighting in Katanga and reports that 5 Irish soldiers had been killed and 20 taken prisoner. The dispatches caused concern and angry reaction throughout the republic.

Sen. Patrick Quinland of Cork sent a telegram to Premier Sean Lemass demanding the immediate recall of O'Brien, a member of the Irish diplomatic service on loan to the United Nations.

Hebert Says All Lose In Nuclear War

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., said Friday both Russia and the United States would lose in a nuclear war.

Hebert, the luncheon speaker at the 39th annual convention of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, said should the Russians drop a nuclear bomb on the United States, there would be similar retaliation on Russia and both would lose.

Hebert also touched on domestic and foreign policy before the delegates.

Louisiana Conservation Commissioner James H. Gill said the state is getting less than its share of the domestic petroleum market.

"It has always been the policy of the department of conservation, through its commissioner," Gill said, "to establish allowables in the state of Louisiana so as to produce an amount of oil commensurate with reasonable market demand."

Most accusations against the state's production approached, he said, are irresponsible and based on misinformation and misunderstanding.

"Periodically, the commissioner requires all crude oil purchasers in the state to submit an up-to-date and realistic nomination of their Louisiana crude oil requirements," Gill added.

"These amounts have been considered in determining the proper allowables for the ensuing month or months," Gill continued. "In addition to these nominations we use other means of determining Louisiana's proper share of the national market demand."

DIRECT DIALING

Passman Speaks In Demonstration

Highlighting the coming Sunday to the Twin Cities and the area of Direct Distance Dialing telephone service, West Monroe Mayor J. Allan Norris last night phoned Louisiana Congressman Otto E. Passman in his Washington, D.C., office.

He made the call from the Paragon Supper Club where a special demonstration was set up by Southern Bell District Manager W. E. Whetstone. Attending were company, city and parish officials and representatives of the news media.

Passman took advantage of the opportunity to tag the United States "the drunken sailor of world economics."

In a free - ranging policy address centering on aid overseas, the Fifth Congressional District legislator called the greatest single threat to the government of this country a "growing disrespect for the Constitution."

"The Constitution," said Passman, "is the only basis for governmental action. All else is usurpation."

The demonstration emphasized the fact that direct distance dialing will come to the Twin Cities and the area starting Sunday. Through the system, according to Whetstone, virtually all conversation with an operator is eliminated.

"Dial '1'," he commented, "then the area code, and finally the calling number in the city called."

In approximately a 20-minute address, Passman scored the Kennedy administration as having "accelerating the trend toward higher federal expenditures.

"You can't keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn—the same with a government as with an individual."

He launched a vigorous attack on the foreign aid posture of the nation and as an adjunct cited the diminishing position of the American dollar on world markets.

Passman intimated that the stability of the currency was now being questioned by the very countries that have received the give-away aid which reduced its value.

"The federal government gets two-thirds of every tax dollar at this time," said Louisiana's longtime (15 years) solon, "and 97 of the 110 nations in the world receive some form of aid."

"And (because of this)," he went on, "our (budgetary) deficits now total more than the combined deficit of every other nation in the world."

Passman was instrumental in a cut in excess of $600 millions on President Kennedy's foreign aid request to the Congress, much of which recently was restored by the Senate. He predicted success in defending the cuts in a coming Senate-House conference committee which will arrive at a final figure.

The Census Bureau reported August domestic cotton consumption totaled 690,188 running bales which was a little better than trade expectations of [illegible]

Newburgh Softens Stand On Welfare

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The city of Newburgh has scrapped its controversial "get tough" welfare program, the state said Friday after examining a legal document the city filed in its purported battle against relief chiselers.

The document appeared to bear out the state contention, but the Newburgh city manager, Joseph Mitchell, said the document merely spelled out the city's original intentions and "this is not a compromise."

Mitchell, in Newburgh, said the number of individuals receiving welfare payments in the Hudson Valley city of 31,000 had dropped from 1,382 in February to 865 in August. The state says relief rolls always decline in the summer.

"We are continuing with measures to further reduce the rolls," Mitchell told a reporter, adding that the state social welfare commissioner should "stick around and watch us."

Nonetheless, a softening in the city's 13-point program seemed evident in the interpretation of the points as contained in papers the city filed in answer to a temporary injunction whereby a State Supreme Court justice enjoined the city last month from carrying out its much-debated plan. Further court action is pending, but everything looks legal, now.

For instance, under the newly devised interpretation, relief may be denied to a man who refuses a job if he is physically fit for the job, the job is not hazardous and "the salary adequate and reasonable in view of all the facts and circumstances."

Likewise, a mother who continues to have illegitimate children are to be advised that should they have any more children out of wedlock, they shall be denied relief."

Said Commissioner Raymond W. Houston of the State Social Welfare Department: "I am happy to learn that, according to Newburgh's answer, it has substantially abandoned its widely publicized 13 points and promises to carry out the state and federal laws on public welfare."

One of the most widely publicized — and Misunderstood — points was that, "All able-bodied adult males on relief of any kind who are capable of working are to be assigned to the chief of building maintenance for work assignment on a 40-hour week."

Work relief programs of that sort are legal in New York State, but federal law generally does not permit use of federal funds in such programs. The state said the Newburgh wording would allow the city to assign work to persons receiving old age assistance, aid to the blind and the like.

Mitchell told a reporter the work-relief program was "of no real consequence now," since the number of recipients had declined.

In the city's court answer, the reference to the work relief program was merely that the rule "has been and is interpreted in practice in a manner to conform with state and federal law."

Castro Regime Asks Death For Hijack Leaders

MIAMI (UPI) — The Fidel Castro regime asked the death penalty Friday for two of 36 persons being tried at Cabana fortress for shooting and killing the pilot and guard of a Cubana Airlines plane they unsuccessfully tried to hijack last Aug. 9, Havana radio reported.

Some 102 so-called counter revolutionaries have been executed in Cuba since Jan. 1. An estimated 934 persons have been executed in Cuba since Castro seized power in January, 1959.

Havana radio said the prosecution was demanding the firing squad for two alleged leaders of the hijack plot identified only as Rafael Eria Bravo and Roberto Fernandez Toledo.

It also said that trial had started in Santiago of a group of 80 "counter - revolutionaries" alleged to have been operating in Oriente Province armed with guns supplied by the U.S. Naval Base in Guantanamo.

In Havana, meanwhile, the Interior Ministry clarified Thursday's new travel ban by saying that Cubans who have already picked up tickets to leave the country may retain them until they get their new police exit permits. The original order cancelled all such reservations and ordered airlines and steamship companies to return monies paid for fares.

Trial Opens For Riders In Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—The chaplain of Yale University and 10 others went on trial Friday as "freedom riders" and the first witness testified their arrest averted a riot.

"In my opinion, if an arrest hadn't been made, we would have had a serious riot at or near the bus station," Montgomery County Sheriff Mac Sim Butler told Common Pleas Judge Alex Marks.

Yale University Chaplain Rev. William Coffin and 10 of his companions were arrested last May 25 when they sought service at a segregated lunch counter in a Montgomery bus terminal. All were charged with breach of the peace.

Sheriff Butler, testifying for the prosecution, pointed out the city was under limited martial law at the time. He said he stepped in and took the group into custody only after receiving a prearranged signal from the state adjutant general's legal advisor, Col. Ralph Porch.

"When circumstances got to a certain point," Butler said, "Col. Porch gave me a nod and I touched each one on the shoulder and told them they were under arrest for breach of the peace."

Immediately after the trial began defense attorney moved that the charges be dropped, but the motion was denied by Judge Marks.

Gray argued allegations in the warrant issued for the arrest of the "riders" tended to elaborate on one offender rather than the group and charged the terminology was too vague. He said the warrant failed to list the names of the defendants as well as the persons whose peace was disturbed.

In addition to Rev. Coffin, those on trial at Montgomery are assistant professor of Yale Divinity School, the Rev. Gaylord Noyce, 34; John Maguire and David Smith, religion professors at Wesleyan College; George Smith, New Haven, Conn.; Bernard Lee and the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, Montgomery; Joseph Charles Jones and Clyde Carter, Charlotte, N. C.; the Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker of Atlanta and the Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth of Birmingham.

Scientists Hope To Seed Esther

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane Esther, roughly the same size as destructive hurricane Carla, churned steadily Friday toward the mainland and a rendezvous with an experiment that could shape weather history.

Scientists hope to sap Esther of its 130-mile-an-hour winds by "seeding" the big storm with ice-producing chemicals. By killing off the heat in the disturbance, the storm's prime cource of energy would be eliminated.

Three planes of the National Hurricane Research Project took off from Miami Friday and will wait at San Juan, P.R., until Esther's center moves a little closer. Researchers planned to loose a silver iodide smoke barrage inside the hurricane's most turbulent wind if the storm moves to within 500 miles of Puerto Rico.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 25 cents to $1.20 a bale lower Friday. Trading was moderately active, with prices giving ground on increased hedge selling. There was also some commission house liquidation which was credited partly to sentiment that the hurricane damage to the cotton crop will probably prove to be not as large as anticipated.

The Census Bureau reported August domestic cotton consumption totaled 690,188 running bales which was a little better than trade expectations of 660,000 bales.

Auto Shares Spark Stock Market Rally

Although the advance was selective, in that losers held a small edge over gainers for the market as a whole, popular averages were unanimous in declaring it a higher market. The list of the 15 most active stocks also indicated an advance with 10 issues up, 2 down and 3 unchanged.

The Dow Jones average closed at 16.30, up 1.30.

Steels, rails, some chemicals, drugs, most metals and a few electronics also ended higher. Aircrafts and tobaccos were lower and other groups mixed.

Volume was boosted to 3.13 million shares compared with 2.92 million Thursday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 0.20 to 254.60 with industrials up 0.20, rails up 0.20 and utilities up 0.10 to a new 1961 high. Standard & Poor's comprehensive 500-stock average was up 0.12 at 67.65.

Of 1,247 issues traded, 491 were up and 501 down with 23 new highs on the year and 33 at new lows.

Gains were held to fractions for the most part.

American Stock Exchange prices were mostly higher on volume of 1.32 million shares compared with 1.49 million Thursday.

DOCUMENT INDICATES

Newburgh Softens Stand On Welfare

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The city of Newburgh has scrapped its controversial "get tough" welfare program, the state said Friday after examining a legal document the city filed in its purported battle against relief chiselers.

The document appeared to bear out the state contention, but the Newburgh city manager, Joseph Mitchell, said the document merely spelled out the city's original intentions and "this is not a compromise."

Mitchell, in Newburgh, said the number of individuals receiving welfare payments in the Hudson Valley city of 31,000 had dropped from 1,382 in February to 865 in August. The state says relief rolls always decline in the summer.

"We are continuing with measures to further reduce the rolls," Mitchell told a reporter, adding that the state social welfare commissioner should "stick around and watch us."

Nonetheless, a softening in the city's 13-point program seemed evident in the interpretation of the points as contained in papers the city filed in answer to a temporary injunction whereby a State Supreme Court justice enjoined the city last month from carrying out its much-debated plan. Further court action is pending, but everything looks legal, now.

For instance, under the newly devised interpretation, relief may be denied to a man who refuses a job if he is physically fit for the job, the job is not hazardous and "the salary adequate and reasonable in view of all the facts and circumstances."

Likewise, a mother who continues to have illegitimate children are to be advised that, should they have any more children out of wedlock, they shall be denied relief."

The state's view of Newburgh's present attitude came to light Friday when a reporter sought comment on the city's legal document.

Said Commissioner Raymond W. Houston of the State Social Welfare Department: "I am happy to learn that, according to Newburgh's answer, it has substantially abandoned its widely publicized 13 points and promises to carry out the state and federal laws on public welfare."

One of the most widely publicized — and Misunderstood—points was that, "All able-bodied adult males on relief of any kind who are capable of working are to be assigned to the chief of building maintenance for work assignment on a 40-hour week."

Work relief programs of that sort are legal in New York State, but federal law generally does not permit use of federal funds in such programs. The state said the Newburgh wording would allow the city to assign work to persons receiving old age assistance, aid to the blind and the like.

Actually, Newburgh has had only one man on work-relief recently, and he subsequently became ill.

Mitchell told a reporter the work-relief program was "of no real consequence now," since the number of recipients had declined.

In the city's court answer, the reference to the work relief program was merely that the rule "has been and is interpreted in practice in a manner to conform with state and federal law."

Trial Opens For Riders In Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—The chaplain of Yale University and 10 others went on trial Friday as "freedom riders" and the first witness testified their arrest averted a riot.

"In my opinion, if an arrest hadn't been made, we would have had a serious riot at or near the bus station," Montgomery County Sheriff Mac Sim Butler told Common Pleas Judge Alex Marks.

Yale University Chaplain Rev. William Coffin and 10 of his companions were arrested last May 25 when they sought service at a segregated lunch counter in a Montgomery bus terminal. All were charged with breach of the peace.

Sheriff Butler, testifying for the prosecution, pointed out the city was under limited martial law at the time. He said he stepped in and took the group into custody only after receiving a prearranged signal from the state adjutant general's legal advisor, Col. Ralph Porch.

"When circumstances got to a certain point," Butler said, "Col. Porch gave me a nod and I touched each one on the shoulder and told them they were under arrest for breach of the peace."

Immediately after the trial began defense attorney moved that the charges be dropped, but the motion was denied by Judge Marks.

Gray argued allegations in the warrant issued for the arrest of the "riders" tended to elaborate on one offender rather than the group and charged the terminology was too vague. He said the warrant failed to list the names of the defendants as well as the persons whose peace was disturbed.

In addition to Rev. Coffin, those on trial at Montgomery are assistant professor of Yale Divinity School, the Rev. Gaylord Noyce, 34; John Maguire and David Smith, religion professors at Wesleyan College; George Smith, New Haven, Conn.; Bernard Lee and the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, Montgomery; Joseph Charles Jones and Clyde Carter, Charlotte, N. C.; the Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker of Atlanta and the Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth of Birmingham.

Scientists Hope To Seed Esther

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane Esther, roughly the same size as destructive hurricane Carla, churned steadily Friday toward the mainland and a rendezvous with an experiment that could shape weather history.

Scientists hope to sap Esther of its 130-mile-an-hour winds by "seeding" the big storm with ice-producing chemicals. By killing off the heat in the disturbance, the storm's prime cource of energy would be eliminated.

Three planes of the National Hurricane Research Project took off from Miami Friday and will wait at San Juan, P.R., until Esther's center moves a little closer. Researchers planned to loose a silver iodide smoke barrage inside the hurricane's most turbulent wind if the storm moves to within 500 miles of Puerto Rico.

At midday, the storm was less

Castro Regime Asks Death For Hijack Leaders

MIAMI (UPI) — The Fidel Castro regime asked the death penalty Friday for two of 36 persons being tried at Cabana fortress for shooting and killing the pilot and guard of a Cubana Airlines plane they unsuccessfully tried to hijack last Aug. 9, Havana radio reported.

Some 102 so-called counter revolutionaries have been executed in Cuba since Jan. 1. An estimated 934 persons have been executed in Cuba since Castro seized power in January, 1959.

Havana radio said the prosecution was demanding the firing squad for two alleged leaders of the hijack plot identified only as Rafael Eria Bravo and Roberto Fernandez Toledo.

It also said that trial had started in Santiago of a group of 80 "counter - revolutionaries" alleged to have been operating in Oriente Province armed with guns supplied by the U.S. Naval Base in Guantanamo.

In Havana, meanwhile, the Interior Ministry clarified Thursday's new travel ban by saying that Cubans who have already picked up tickets to leave the country may retain them until they get their new police exit permits. The original order cancelled all such reservations and ordered airlines and steamship companies to return monies paid for fares.

Damage Charges Filed Against Monroe Negro

A 37 - year - old Monroe Negro, Ernest Mann, of 3623 Curry St., was being held Friday by the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department on charges of criminal damage to property.

The apprehension was made yesterday, according to deputies, as a result of an investigation into the slashing of three automobile tires, reported by Mary Bell Holston, Negro, of 3625 Johnson St. The tires belonged to a friend of the Holston woman, Vertis Pierce, who was visiting her at the time.

The woman reportedly told deputies to look for Mann soon after the incident occurred at about 9 a.m. Thursday.

No bond had been set last night.

Damage Charges Filed Against Monroe Negro

A 37 - year - old Monroe Negro, Ernest Mann, of 3623 Curry St., was being held Friday by the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department on charges of criminal damage to property.

The apprehension was made yesterday, according to deputies, as a result of an investigation into the slashing of three automobile tires, reported by Mary Bell Holston, Negro, of 3625 Johnson St. The tires belonged to a friend of the Holston woman, Vertis Pierce, who was visiting her at the time.

The woman reportedly told deputies to look for Mann soon after the incident occurred at about 9 a.m. Thursday.

No bond had been set last night.

The parishes are Calcasieu, Cameron and Vermilion.

In announcing eligibility of farmers in these areas for emergency loans, the department said additional parishes may be designated after surveys of damage are completed.

DEPENDS ON SOVIETS

Clay Says War May Be Avoided

NEW YORK (AP)—"I think," said one of the few Americans who ever forced the Russians to pull back from the edge of crisis, "that we are embarked on a policy in Berlin that will avoid war unless the Soviets have deliberately made up their minds they want war."

"And that would be hard to believe," added Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who leaves Saturday to become President Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin.

"The Soviets must realize the devastation that would result. They have made great improvements in their standard of living. It is hard to believe they would risk that progress against a country which is not being aggressive in trying to break up already established Communist nations."

The general conferred half an hour Friday morning in Washington with President Kennedy and, emerging, told White House newsmen he thought the Berlin crisis could be solved without war and without losing the city's freedom.

His mission now is to appraise the Berlin situation and make diplomatic and military recommendations to the President.

In an extended interview with The Associated Press before his White House conference, the general said he felt that people often make two basic mistakes in judging the Soviet position and the moves of the Communist bloc. The first mistake, he said, is to overestimate Soviet strength.

"I think Russia is strong; stronger, of course, than it has ever been in comparison to other countries," he said. "But I suspect the strength of its satellite nations is questionable.

"I suspect if we analyze Russia's real strength as compared to that of the Western world we'd find the West is fully competent to take care of itself. Because of its achievements in missiles and space, the world at large has attributed to Russia an over-all strength beyond its real strength."

He thinks, too, that the West must understand that while all Communist countries may have the common goal of world revolution they pursue it with different nationalistic aims.

"We must recognize the differences between them and try to do something about it," he said. "We must try to distinguish between different kinds of action which require different kinds of reaction from us."

Was he hopeful as he prepared to fly to Berlin?

"It looks pretty grim on the basis of my casual two-day visit (last month with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson). But then I've seen it look pretty grim before. But I go with no fixed opinions. With all due respect to the intelligence agencies, you've got to live with a situation a few weeks before you can make an intelligent appraisal."

Had he been running the show in Berlin last month, he knows what he would have done when the East Germans built their wall. But he cannot say what he would have done because of the delicacy of his present mission. However, people who know Clay are convinced he would have reacted immediately by ordering tanks forward to flatten the wall.

Clay, the great-great nephew of Henry Clay, the Great Compromiser, became known as the "Great Uncompromiser." His first reaction to the Soviet blockade was a plan to ram an armored column through to the city, a plan rejected by higher authority. The airlift was his second choice. It eventually persuaded the Soviets to lift their blockade.

Nuclear Blast Like Earthquake On Seismograph

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The underground atomic explosion in Nevada was recorded on the University of California seismograph Friday just like a moderate earthquake.

Seimologist Robert Hamilton said it was recorded at 10:01 a.m. and centered 100 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

Dr. Frank Press, director of the Caltech seismology laboratory, declined to disclose the magnitude of the disturbance. The magnitude scale is a means of measuring the power of quakes and other phenomena that produce shock waves.

Dr. Press has been a leader in the field of detecting underground nuclear blasts by means of seismographs, but he declined to discuss his work on grounds of security.

INDIA TO BUILD DAM

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India will build a power dam across Jaldhaka River to supply electricity to Bhutan. In exchange, that remote Himalayan kingdom has agreed to abide by New Delhi's advice in foreign affairs.

East German Chief Hurls New Threats

BERLIN (AP)—The East German Communist boss, Walter Ulbricht, threatened Friday to treat as aggression any attempt by the Western Allies to use land and air lanes into West Berlin after he has signed a peace treaty with the Soviet Union.

He hinted he would grant the Western powers certain transit rights across East Germany if they recognize his regime and agree to deal with it directly.

Ulbricht asserted in a 1½-hour TV address that after the treaty is signed, his government will exercise full authority over the land and air corridors between West Germany and West Berlin, 110 miles inside Communist territory.

"To be frank, I am convinced there will not be a war, because no one would be so insane as to wage war against a peace treaty," Ulbricht said.

"But the Western powers must realize that, after the treaty is signed, they would commit an aggression against the German Democratic Republic (East Germany) and violate the peace treaty if they penetrate our territory without our agreement, either by land or by air."

Ulbricht said the Soviet Union would give its full support to the East German regime, and warned that it would be an illusion to imagine that a "small war" in Europe would leave the United States unaffected.

NUCLEAR WAR FALLOUT

Officials Yawn At Shelter Idea

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is spurring Americans on to build home fallout shelters to cut the nation's losses in case of nuclear war—but to his official family the idea seems to be a yawn.

Of 14 high officials who sit with Kennedy on the National Security Council or in the Cabinet, not one has yet built a home shelter.

Postmaster General J. Edward Day, however, has picked out what looks like a pretty safe corner in his basement and is stocking it with canned goods and other survival items.

A few others are arranging for shelters, or thinking about it, but in most cases the reaction appears to be: "Who, me?"

The high officials who are minus shelters aren't explaining, for the most part, but among the lower echelons an air of jaunty fatalism is widespread.

One subordinate official said: "If the big bang begins, Washington will be a prime target. I live in Georgetown, close to the center of things. I'd be vaporized, shelter or no shelter, so why bother?"

This attitude isn't universal in the capital by any means, and quite a few shelters have been built, though not by the real bigwigs.

Here's a rundown:

President Kennedy—He's well-fixed. The White House has an elaborate bomb shelter built during the Truman administration. Kennedy has several secret shelters to go to within a two-hour auto drive or 20-minute helicopter trip from Washington.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson—He recently bought a French chateau in the Spring Valley section of Washington from Perle Mesta, wealthy party giver. He's living in a hotel while the house is revamped and redecorated. The revamping does not include a fallout shelter, aides said.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk—He and Mrs. Rusk have been talking over the shelter idea but are, undecided yet.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara—He's arranging to have a shelter installed in the big house he rents on Kalorama Circle. He really has to have a shelter to set an example, if for no other reason. Kennedy recently gave him command of the nationwide shelter program.

Frank B. Ellis, Civil Defense director—He rents a house, and is trying to get a shelter designed that can be readily moved if the next tenant doesn't want it. He's also planning to install a shelter at his New Orleans home, but was dissatisfied with the first cost estimates. Now he's trying to choose between a basement shelter and one outdoors.

McGeorge Bundy, presidential assistant for national security affairs—No shelter, aides said.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy—With his wife and seven children, he lives in a rambling old house in McLean, Va., that is reported to have been temporary headquarters of Civil War Gen. George B. McClellan. Kennedy's assistants said it has no shelter.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman—His department passes out tips on foods to put in shelters, but his assistants say he has no shelter.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg—Has two homes, in Washington and Chicago. Doesn't contemplate a shelter.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff—He rents in Georgetown and feels he cannot do anything about a shelter.

The parishes are Calcasieu, Cameron and Vermilion.

In announcing eligibility of farmers in these areas for emergency loans, the department said additional parishes may be designated after surveys of damage are completed.

DEPENDS ON SOVIETS

Clay Says War May Be Avoided

NEW YORK (AP)—"I think," said one of the few Americans who ever forced the Russians to pull back from the edge of crisis, "that we are embarked on a policy in Berlin that will avoid war unless the Soviets have deliberately made up their minds they want war."

"And that would be hard to believe," added Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who leaves Saturday to become President Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin.

"The Soviets must realize the devastation that would result. They have made great improvements in their standard of living. It is hard to believe they would risk that progress against a country which is not being aggressive in trying to break up already established Communist nations."

The general conferred half an hour Friday morning in Washington with President Kennedy and, emerging, told White House newsmen he thought the Berlin crisis could be solved without war and without losing the city's freedom.

Clay, one of the earliest advocates of direct, stern response to Soviet aggression, broke the back of the Soviet blockade with the Allied airlift in 1948-49. An aquiline-nosed man of the old Southern school of courtesy, his manner seems to suggest a rare combination—the considered tact of a diplomat and the aggressiveness of a George Patton.

His mission now is to appraise the Berlin situation and make diplomatic and military recommendations to the President.

In an extended interview with The Associated Press before his White House conference, the general said he felt that people often make two basic mistakes in judging the Soviet position and the moves of the Communist bloc. The first mistake, he said, is to overestimate Soviet strength.

"I think Russia is strong; stronger, of course, than it has ever been in comparison to other countries," he said. "But I suspect the strength of its satellite nations is questionable.

"I suspect if we analyze Russia's real strength as compared to that of the Western world we'd find the West is fully competent to take care of itself. Because of its achievements in missiles and space, the world at large has attributed to Russia an over-all strength beyond its real strength."

He thinks, too, that the West must understand that while all Communist countries may have the common goal of world revolution they pursue it with different nationalistic aims.

"We must recognize the differences between them and try to do something about it," he said. "We must try to distinguish between different kinds of action which require different kinds of reaction from us."

Was he hopeful as he prepared to fly to Berlin?

"It looks pretty grim on the basis of my casual two-day visit (last month with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson). But then I've seen it look pretty grim before. But I go with no fixed opinions. With all due respect to the intelligence agencies, you've got to live with a situation a few weeks before you can make an intelligent appraisal."

Had he been running the show in Berlin last month, he knows what he would have done when the East Germans built their wall. But he cannot say what he would have done because of the delicacy of his present mission. However, people who know Clay are convinced he would have reacted immediately by ordering tanks forward to flatten the wall.

Clay, the great-great nephew of Henry Clay, the Great Compromiser, became known as the "Great Uncompromiser." His first reaction to the Soviet blockade was a plan to ram an armored column through to the city, a plan rejected by higher authority. The airlift was his second choice. It eventually persuaded the Soviets to lift their blockade.

Nuclear Blast Like Earthquake On Seismograph

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The underground atomic explosion in Nevada was recorded on the University of California seismograph Friday just like a moderate earthquake.

Seimologist Robert Hamilton said it was recorded at 10:01 a.m. and centered 100 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

California Institute of Technology seismographs at Pasadena also recorded the blast.

Shock waves reached Pasadena, approximately 225 miles from the test site, just one minute after the 10 a.m. detonation.

Dr. Frank Press, director of the Caltech seismology laboratory, declined to disclose the magnitude of the disturbance. The magnitude scale is a means of measuring the power of quakes and other phenomena that produce shock waves.

Dr. Press has been a leader in the field of detecting underground nuclear blasts by means of seismographs, but he declined to discuss his work on grounds of security.

INDIA TO BUILD DAM

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India will build a power dam across Jaldhaka River to supply electricity to Bhutan. In exchange, that remote Himalayan kingdom has agreed to abide by New Delhi's advice in foreign affairs.

East German Chief Hurls New Threats

BERLIN (AP)—The East German Communist boss, Walter Ulbricht, threatened Friday to treat as aggression any attempt by the Western Allies to use land and air lanes into West Berlin after he has signed a peace treaty with the Soviet Union.

He hinted he would grant the Western powers certain transit rights across East Germany if they recognize his regime and agree to deal with it directly.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has warned he intends to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany before the end of the year.

Ulbricht asserted in a 1½-hour TV address that after the treaty is signed, his government will exercise full authority over the land and air corridors between West Germany and West Berlin, 110 miles inside Communist territory.

"To be frank, I am convinced there will not be a war, because no one would be so insane as to wage war against a peace treaty," Ulbricht said.

"But the Western powers must realize that, after the treaty is signed, they would commit an aggression against the German Democratic Republic (East Germany) and violate the peace treaty if they penetrate our territory without our agreement, either by land or by air."

Ulbricht said the Soviet Union would give its full support to the East German regime, and warned that it would be an illusion to imagine that a "small war" in Europe would leave the United States unaffected.

NUCLEAR WAR FALLOUT

Officials Yawn At Shelter Idea

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is spurring Americans on to build home fallout shelters to cut the nation's losses in case of nuclear war—but to his official family the idea seems to be a yawn.

Of 14 high officials who sit with Kennedy on the National Security Council or in the Cabinet, not one has yet built a home shelter.

Postmaster General J. Edward Day, however, has picked out what looks like a pretty safe corner in his basement and is stocking it with canned goods and other survival items.

A few others are arranging for shelters, or thinking about it, but in most cases the reaction appears to be: "Who, me?"

The high officials who are minus shelters aren't explaining, for the most part, but among the lower echelons an air of jaunty fatalism is widespread.

One subordinate official said: "If the big bang begins, Washington will be a prime target. I live in Georgetown, close to the center of things. I'd be vaporized, shelter or no shelter, so why bother?"

This attitude isn't universal in the capital by any means, and quite a few shelters have been built, though not by the real bigwigs.

Here's a rundown:

President Kennedy—He's well-fixed. The White House has an elaborate bomb shelter built during the Truman administration. Kennedy has several secret shelters to go to within a two-hour auto drive or 20-minute helicopter trip from Washington.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson—He recently bought a French chateau in the Spring Valley section of Washington from Perle Mesta, wealthy party giver. He's living in a hotel while the house is revamped and redecorated. The revamping does not include a fallout shelter, aides said.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk—He and Mrs. Rusk have been talking over the shelter idea but are undecided yet.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara—He's arranging to have a shelter installed in the big house he rents on Kalorama Circle. He really has to have a shelter to set an example, if for no other reason. Kennedy recently gave him command of the nationwide shelter program.

Frank B. Ellis, Civil Defense director—He rents a house, and is trying to get a shelter designed that can be readily moved if the next tenant doesn't want it. He's also planning to install a shelter at his New Orleans home, but was dissatisfied with the first cost estimates. Now he's trying to choose between a basement shelter and one outdoors.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy—With his wife and seven children, he lives in a rambling old house in McLean, Va., that is reported to have been temporary headquarters of Civil War Gen. George B. McClellan. Kennedy's assistants said it has no shelter.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman—His department passes out tips on foods to put in shelters, but his assistants say he has no shelter.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg—Has two homes, in Washington and Chicago. Doesn't contemplate a shelter.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff—He rents in Georgetown and feels he cannot do anything about a shelter.
